

Anthony Industrial/Economic Development Board Utility Rebate Program

This program is available for new commercial and industrial businesses starting up within the City of Anthony electric service area. The following outlines how the program works and how the rebate is given.

Year 1: 30%, up to a maximum of $300 per month, whichever is less, reduced from the Electric Rate charge on the monthly utility statement.

Year 3: 10%, up to a maximum of $100 per month, whichever is less, reduced from the Electric Rate charge on the monthly utility statement.

Example: In Year 1, the incentive will be applied to the Electric Rate charge on the monthly statement created after approval of incentive by the City Commission. A new business with an Electric Rate charge of $250 would have a 30% ($75) incentive reduction applied; while an Electric Rate charge of $1150 would receive the maximum $300.

The incentive is applied only to the Electric Rate charge on the monthly statement, not the entire statement balance, and not to any other utility charge. The electric meter(s) for the business must have the service account under the name of the business.

Example: Plain Jane's Grains must have a utility account under that business name, not under Jane Doe, even though she is the owner. Bills that are in the name of the building owner in the case of a rent/lease will not qualify for the rebate. Home Occupation Businesses are ineligible for the incentive.

The recommendation from the Industrial/Economic Board will be submitted to the City Commission for review and approval. If approved by the City of Anthony Commission, the rebate for the eligible business will start with the first billing cycle and remain in effect for a period of 3 years (36 months). If the business ceases operation within the 36th month period, the rebate will end with the next immediate bill. There is no option for transfer or renewal of this rebate.

Approved on the 17th day of July, 2026, by the Anthony Industrial/Economic Development Board.
