

To Whom it May Concern,

I'm writing this letter on behalf of veterans who are unable to speak for themselves. There comes a time in all our lives that we need a helping hand. Although this time has arrived for our veterans, we can help them to let them know there are people in this beautiful land we live in who care for those who, at this point in their lives, have only a few doors that will open. In case no action is taken on this letter, remember there's always a time in life when an opportunity happens. When to one who had nothing, a place to hang your hat to sleep means everything. By opening this facility for a short stay until our veterans can get their bearings, it may mean the difference between life and death. So, at this time, I'm asking you to take this opportunity to help our veterans bring some comfort into their lives by making this facility available to them because certain circumstances made this goal unreachable on their own. There are people who stand for others so they know that they are not alone. Be that person! Please help our veterans who, in many instances, stood alone for us. When our country asked for help, they answered the call. Let's give them back some self-respect.

Thank you for your time and consideration in this matter.

Sincerely,
Debra Rene Phillips
