Road to STN Nationals!

Help me give my students the opportunity to participate in their first ever national competition in Washington DC. We need new equipment so we can show the nation what we are capable of!

My Students

My students are some of the most creative people that I've ever had the pleasure of working with. Everyday they surprise me with new ideas and things that they want to learn about. They are very hard working students and dedicated to their work.

My school services an underprivileged community in Central Florida.

Several of our families are living in temporary housing and we have a 67% transient rate. Many of our students are new to the country and are English language learners. Some of our young students have to work to help support their families at home.

Despite these challenges, my students continue strive for academic success. My goal as their teacher is to provide more opportunities for students to explore college and career choices while getting the hands on experience with technology and the arts.

My goal is to continuously produce students who can create quality, compelling videos. They should all understand the art and craft that is film and television production so they can better understand their world and the impact that they can have.

My Project

Our students are looking to take our Television Production Program to the next level and become a competitive program. Our students have big plans to compete on a local, regional, and national level. We have begun to produce multi-language news programming and we want to do more. This equipment will help bring our productions to the community and showcase the great work that we do in our classroom and in the school.

The STN convention has workshops and competitions for high schools around the country every year. The convention requires that we bring our own equipment and we want to have materials that are mobile and efficient. With the right equipment, we can produce high quality videos safely and efficiently.
