WASHINGTON — Convenience stores accounted for about 3% of violent crimes overall in 2020, and gas stations accounted for about 2%, according to new statistics released by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). Out of a total of 675,715 violent crimes represented by National Incident-Based Reporting System (NIBRS) data, 20,108 incidents occurred at c-stores in 2020, and 11,795 occurred at gas station, the data shows.

These statistics make c-stores and gas stations the fourth and seventh most common locations for violent crime, respectively. Restaurants are the eight most common locations.

The agency breaks down the statistics by reported instances of homicide, rape, robbery, aggravated assault and property crime, which includes arson, burglary, larceny-theft and motor vehicle theft at a variety of locations. It also provides data on age, gender, race, ethnicity, type of weapon used and other demographics.

Of the violent crimes that the FBI covers in the report, 157 or 2% of the 10,440 total crimes at convenience stores were homicides; 119 or 1% of the total crimes at gas stations were homicides.

The FBI reported 137,556 total robberies, 13,721 or 10% were at c-stores, while 7,006 or 5% were at gas stations.
