Our continued inability to accept the present is already here, and that these long failed patches on bad budgeting are no longer easily solved by mortgaging the future bc it's already been mortgaged is a sadness.

The solution is addressing the budget problems. Not begging for more money from locals in a way that essentially harasses the poor. Again Alex, is it really worth aligning with such people for an ED position?

Did repeatedly promise you you'd get one if you won. We live in a simple place.
