Please see below email from August regarding item 8A. I made bets with most of the advocates in our county that certain councillors would show their inconsistent political calculation over personal ethics truth within weeks of the election and this project would be my proof.

And here we are.

Alex will still want traffic calming with tweaks

Joe will still want traffic calming with tweaks

Margaux will do what Y2K tell her to
(Has M ever not voted with Y2K in all 4 years?)

Kristen will no longer want traffic calming but will frame her opposition vaguely and to her credit showing a grasp of policy (D3 calls)

Yvette will aggressively not want traffic calming while stating she wants traffic calming just not this traffic calming because of the kids (it won't make sense I am describing it correctly)

Joe is the only one I'm not 100% on. The bet was entirely related to Y2K.

I feel this is rushed. The study was supposed to last 15 months and we should wait until January and let the new council decide as our local voters have made clear they prefer Kristen and Margaux not sit on daises anymore.

Respect democracy and the voters always the side I fall on though. I am riddled with flaws but ethical and moral consistency is within my character.

Warmly JM

Reddit and the Democrats love the traffic calming at bay hill. Nextdoor and the MAGA folks hate it.

Which side of that divide y'all are we'll learn I imagine soon enough.
