Subject: Change of Zoning Approval

Commissioners,

I can't believe this is on a special agenda when I went to city hall a couple of weeks ago, and the planning staff specifically told me that there were several issues and questions that needed to be addressed before any decisions were made regarding any change of zoning density. I was told by them that any decisions regarding change of zoning would not be taking place until early next year. Why the rush now?

I don't believe that you should be blanketly deciding to approve this item tonight and forwarding it to the city council, before studying the myriad issues this item has brought to the city's attention.

I would be there in person tonight, but we are out of town, (thinking that this issue was tabled for awhile), and unable to attend.

Respectfully, Terre Thomas
