Water Quality - Next Steps

Keep it simple, start with basics and don't need to re-invent the wheel.

1. Monitoring of water quality and invasives
2. Stewardship with lakeshore owners
3. Strengthen zoning on first order streams in upper watershed

Tom McCarthy suggested establish a clean water commission similar to what they have in Raymond, map certain areas that are more sensitive, require a level of review before permitting goes to Planning Board.

- Keep tree cover above 85% (75%?)
- Increased monitoring and testing for certain areas (first-order watersheds)
- Volunteer board, 5 members with 2 alternates
- Town commission vs non-profit? Thinks it needs to be municipal for enforcement over future development

Bob suggested that Resource Protection Zones need to be re-considered

Rae thinks that we need to propose the commission to the select board before drafting any zoning ordinances

Recommendation to board that commission should be formed - here are a few key things that they should start with

Pam takeaways:

- Don't need to re-invent the wheel, can copy ideas/structures from existing places
- Monitoring and documenting current conditions, especially waterbodies that don't have lake associations.
- Using a drone to take photos for monitoring, before/after photos for enforcement purposes
  - Can town buy a drone and let lake associations use it?
- Get code enforcement officer, town manager, on board with following and enforcing existing ordinances
- If first order streams are protected, doesn't have to be as high as 75% cover
- Support the existing associations with invasive species monitoring

Tiffany brought up current problems with RP zone, wondering if we can map the First Order streams

Rae Anne suggested a policy similar to Complete Streets Draft Policy

Sam Takeaways:

- #1 issue is monitoring, especially ones not currently being monitoring.
  - Coffee Pond
- Boat activity and boat inspections
- Education: education for young people
- Portland Water District relationship needs to be fostered. CEO Roundtable. $500 grants available for monitoring equipment on a first come first serve basis. Casco should apply for this every year.

- Should have another event in the springtime focused on education where we invite lake associations, etc.
- “Eternal Vigilance”

Tom will take a first pass at a draft at proposal, send to Sarah to post on Google Docs and share with the group

Land Use Priorities

Rob suggests meeting with the Planning Board for our next meeting, where are biggest challenges? Commercial Standards? Resource Protection?

There is a joint Planning Board/Select Board workshop next week. Pam, Rae, and Bob will be in attendance at the Select Board / Planning Board joint meeting.

Rae will talk to Ryan about getting on an upcoming planning board agenda so we can talk about priorities
