

We heard you!

Parents of children 6-10 yrs old report struggles:

"Making too much money to afford childcare/health assistance but still struggling financially."

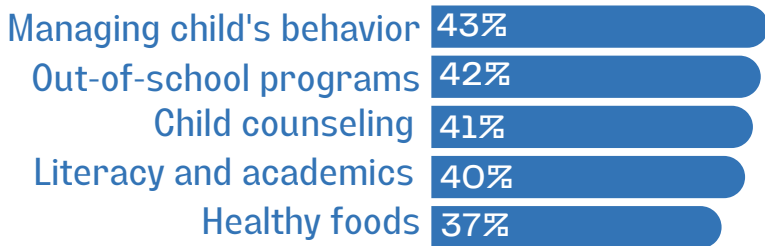

24% do not know where to get academic tutoring if their child needs it.

32% have to leave their children without supervision after school at least some of the time.

31% have children who do not participate in some kind of social group, such as community sports.

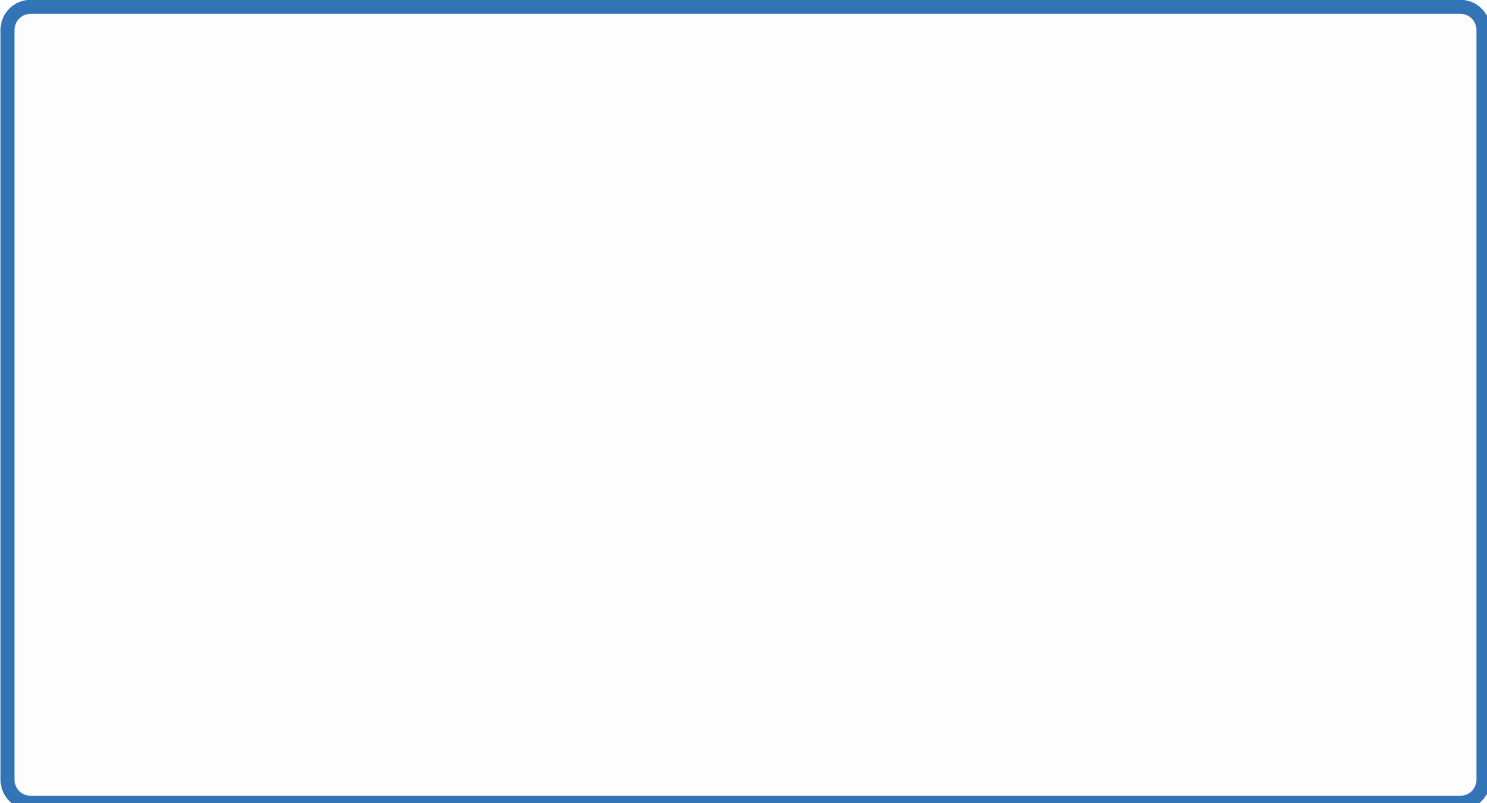

"Children living in poverty don't have much access to certain opportunities..."

They could use the most help with:

"Special needs families are struggling a lot in this city. Accessibility to tutoring and child care is almost nonexistent. Medical bills and travel bills are high and these items are not taken into consideration for us."

What the Children's Trust plans to do:

The Children's Trust of Alachua County and Prismatic Services would like to offer a sincere thanks to the community for their time and contributions to this project.
