BACKGROUND OF ITEM:

The Planning and Zoning Board, commonly referred to as P&Z, was established by the Cooper City Commission on July 22, 1986, via Ordinance No. 86-7-6, to help guide the City's long-term development and land use planning. The board is responsible for reviewing proposals and providing recommendations on comprehensive planning, zoning, and community development matters that shape the future growth of Cooper City.

Serving as an advisory body, the board works to ensure that development aligns with the City's policies, community standards, and master planning goals. Through public hearings and careful review, the Planning and Zoning Board plays a critical role in balancing growth with the preservation of Cooper City's quality of life. James Goulet was originally appointed to serve on the board on December 10, 2024.
