I know we rate everything five stars, but this place earned it! Walking distance to downtown, great breakfast included, and super easy check in/out, this should be your first choice for Deadwood!

The 1899 inn was everything advertised. it was quite and cute and just close enough to historic downtown you and enjoy it but far enough to not be disrupted by the riff raff. The cottage was clean and cute and the provided breakfasts were delicious.

Neighborhood highlights

Deadwood's Presidential District got its name because the streets in the neighborhood are named for every American president from Washington to Lincoln (with two exceptions - if you're traveling with a history buff, challenge them to figure out who they are). It was Deadwood's trendiest neighborhood from the 1890s through the 1920s, and most of the homes here dat...
