Re: Trolley Barn Proxy Keypad System

The City of Deadwood trolley barn has an older keypad system that makes facility access control difficult. The drivers utilize one code that must be changed every time there is a change in staffing. The new proxy keypad would allow us to issue cards to each employee and change individual access when there are changes in employment status. This system is the same as is used at other City facilities and can be controlled from City Hall.

Thank you for your consideration regarding this matter.
