I had been parking in front of my neighbors house but now that she has passed away her son is parking there, so if it did come open I wouldn't feel comfortable parking there anymore. A lot of people on this street already have residential parking → passes so there is not very many options. I don't get off work until midnight, so most of the parking is taken. By the time I get home. I was hoping to get a spot close to my place. I have bad knees and need knee replacement surgery. It would be nice to just come home from work and worry if I have a place to park.

Thank you
