Section I

Department Description

Community corrections services in Deschutes County are provided by the Parole and Probation division of the Deschutes County Department of Community Justice. The division supervises approximately 1,000 clients on probation or post-prison supervision.

The division's main office is in the city of Bend with satellite offices in the cities of Redmond and La Pine. Eighty percent of those supervised have felony offenses and 20% have misdemeanor offenses (including drug-related, domestic violence-related and sex offense-related misdemeanors). The division supervises clients on deferred prosecution for felony and Assault IV domestic violence offenses. The division also provides community service coordination and electronic monitoring services to the county and court for both pre-trial and division-supervised clients.

The division is currently focused on:

- Providing person-centered balanced supervision of medium- and high-risk individuals through use of core correctional practices, so that we protect public safety, teach and hold individuals accountable, and provide opportunity for long term behavior change;
- Adapting to and managing our population safely, in the context of reduced budget, criminal justice reform and prison reduction utilization efforts;
- Working differently with individuals scoring low on the PSC with prior offenses that present unique risk and impact to victims and community, due to reduced funding.
- In partnership with stakeholders and community, addressing disparity and equitably serving our full population. This includes being responsive to individual's self-identified race, ethnicity, and gender.
- In partnership with stakeholders and community, assist individuals on supervision with accessing stabilization services such as subsidized housing, or treatment cost subsidies from other systems and providers, given our own 75% reduction for these services due to reduced funding.

For FY 2025-2027 Deschutes County community corrections service plan is organized around 12 general program categories. The general program categories are:

- Administration
- Felony supervision
- Misdemeanor supervision
- Substance abuse treatment
- Sex offense treatment
- Domestic violence offense treatment
- Polygraphs
- Custodial and sanction beds
- Cognitive behavioral programs
- Community service program
- Electronic monitoring services
- Transitional housing services

Program Name:	Felony Supervision
Program Description:	The program provides assessment, supervision, and case management services for individuals sentenced on felony charges, designated drug-related, or funded domestic violence misdemeanors, including those under Interstate Compact. It covers domestic violence, street crimes, and sex offenses. Research-based assessments based on crime type and criminal history guide the development of client-specific case plans and supervision frameworks. Parole and Probation deliver treatment and resource referrals, urinalysis testing, rewards, and sanctions. Information is recorded in required systems by the Division, Deschutes County, and DOC. Parole and probation officers manage caseloads categorized by crime type and other factors, including mental health, multiple JRP (Justice Reinvestment Program), Gender Responsive, Spanish-speaking, domestic violence, and sex offense caseloads. Officers are trained in Carey Guides/BITS, motivational interviewing, and core correctional practices, applying these skills during client interactions. Low-risk clients are assigned to a case bank or a Low Field caseload to ensure compliance, while those with restitution issues are placed in the restitution caseload. For felony sex offenses, officers use DOC-approved risk tools to set notification and supervision levels.
Program Category:	Supervision

Program Name:	Misdemeanor Supervision
Program Description:	The misdemeanor supervision program primarily includes clients with misdemeanor sex offenses or domestic violence offenses and those in the Domestic Violence Deferred Sentencing (DVDS) program. Occasionally, it may include clients with street crimes or person-to-person offenses, depending on specific crime details and court orders. All clients undergo an assessment based on the crime type and criminal history to evaluate risk, needs, and responsivity, excluding those in the division case bank misdemeanor caseload. Supervision is tailored to the client's risk level, with meetings scheduled according to department contact standards. Parole and Probation combine internal resources with those from treatment providers, victim advocates, and polygraphers. This program excludes any misdemeanors funded by the Department of Corrections (DOC).

Program Name:	Cognitive Behavioral Programs
Program Description:	Cognitive Behavioral Programs work to change behavior by identifying and changing the thought processes behind those behaviors. Moral Reconciliation Therapy (MRT) is a cognitive-behavioral treatment program that utilizes a workbook approach along with a 12-16 step curriculum that focuses on behavioral change and growth. MRT takes the form of group and individual counseling using structured group exercises and prescribed homework assignments. MRT is a facilitator led curriculum that meets weekly where the client is required to meet all the requirements before moving on to the next step of the program. MRT is an evidenced-based program. Research shows that MRT helps reduce recidivism rates on average by 16%. Research also shows that MRT programs produce an average return on investment of nine dollars for every dollar spent on MRT services. This past biennium we restarted Moving On which is a gender specific CBT program. The Moving On program is a gender-responsive intervention that uses cognitive-behavioral therapy (CBT), relational theory, and motivational interviewing to help women and girls in the justice system improve communication, build healthy relationships, manage emotions, and develop personal strengths to reduce criminal behavior. Delivered in structured sessions, it focuses on increasing motivation, building personal and social resources, and providing alternatives to criminal activity, ultimately aiming to improve the health and well-being of participants and their communities.
Program Category:	Behavioral Health Tx Services - CBT
Program Objectives:	To prevent criminal behavior and reduce recidivism by assisting clients to identify risky thoughts, feelings and actions, and replace them with prosocial thoughts, feelings and actions.

Program Name:	Electronic Monitoring
Program Description:	The electronic monitoring program is one of the many intermediate sanctioning options available for all clients on parole and probation. We utilize electronic monitoring as an accountability mechanism. This program is used to provide surveillance/ intensive supervision for the department's high-risk clients. Electronic monitoring is also offered as an option in lieu of a local control sentence. The Courts make use of this program for pre-trial services, DUII offenses, and as an alternative to jail for those clients with medical issues. We contract out for all EM services for adult clients which includes our pre-trial program. We contract with Vigilnet and they do all the install, maintenance, and monitoring. Methods of referral are through the Courts, Local Supervisory Authority, and Parole and Probation Officers.
Program Category:	Community-Based Custodial Alternatives
Program Objectives:	To maximize use of non-custodial resources to hold clients accountable while still able to reside in the community as employees, parents and family members. This biennium the division seeks to continue to offer this alternative to incarceration as a sanction and in limited situations surveillance tool, however budget constraints require that we monitor use carefully.

Program Name:	Transitional Housing Program
Program Description:	The integration of clients into the community from a custody situation is enhanced when services are available to help them meet basic needs. Whenever possible, transitional services will be initiated prior to release from incarceration and will be available based on the client's risk and need. Some subsidy funds are available for those clients who are not appropriate for transitional housing and require hotel stays or other housing resources. This program also subsidizes a large population of AIP clients from DOC providing transitional housing to AIP participants with our community partners. Deschutes County Community Justice has contracted with the Bethlehem Inn to provide three transitional housing beds as well as case management services. We have also contracted with local treatment providers to reserve manager sober housing beds. This program also helps clients with housing at Oxford Houses and other transitional housing providers. Funding also supports clothing and other supplies that reduce barriers for clients.
