Department Highlights:

- During the month of January, the Edgewood Police Department participated in the State of Florida’s Move over Month. During the month we promoted the importance of either slowing down or using the opposite lane of Law Enforcement during an encounter.
- This month, the Edgewood Police Department focused efforts on recruiting and interviewing possible police officers for the department.
- On January 9th the Edgewood Police Department celebrated Law Enforcement Appreciation Day with a donation of Lunch from a local business.
- On January 14th Officer Amy Schlopy and Sergeant Tim Cardinal made first contact with individuals who moved into the City of Edgewood under false pretenses. The individuals were found to be convicted felons with suspended drivers licenses who did not have permission from the homeowner to be in residence they were occupying. During the multiple encounters, the individuals were not only arrested for their warrants and suspensions, but also for possession of a weapon by a convicted felon.
- On January 17th Detective Nicolle Crock and Analyst Stacey Salemi attended the TSA and Central Florida Intelligence Exchange training to learn about Current and Emerging Threats to Transportation and Power Supplies in the United States.
- The last week of January, Officer Alex Kane received his certification as a Child Passenger Safety Technician.
