STAFF REPORT

Public Works Comments

At the City Council February 1, 2024 City Council workshop, staff led a workshop on the City's General Engineering Consultant's Intersection Analysis for Battle Intense and Keeneland Drive. A presentation of the Analysis is attached.

The analysis shows a four-way stop is not warranted based on observed left-turn conflicts, on observed pedestrian activity, on approach sight distances, on comparison of cross-street operating characteristics, and on alignment of cross streets. After the presentation, the City Council determined a four-way stop was not warranted and a stop bar be placed further out.

Vegetation trimming has been completed. The stop bar on Battle Intense is scheduled to be repainted further out into Keeneland Drive this spring. A radar feedback sign has been budgeted in this fiscal year and upon receipt, will be considered for this intersection.

Public Safety Comments

No concerns once the sight issue is resolved. There have been no reported collisions at this intersection because of limited sight or lack of a four-way stop.

Estimated Costs, including but not limited to, required studies / analysis
