Flat Wall Calculations (Partially Deteriorated Condition): For calculating SprayWall thickness.

Deflection-based criteria for two-way slab design method:

 $t = 1.84 L \{ [h_W (0.109) N] / E_L \}^{(1/3)}$

t = design thickness of applied resin material (mils)

L = groove spacing on centerline; horizontal and vertical (in)

N = Factor of Safety (always 2)

E<sub>L</sub> = long term modulus of elasticity; short-term reduced to allow for long term effects (psi)

 $h_w$  = height of water table above the invert (ft)

Input Parameters

L 24 in
h <sub>w</sub> 15 ft

Other values associated with calculations.

Ν

EL

Determined by the predetermined factor of results from creep testing (983 DMA). For SprayWall, it was determined to be 72% of the short term flexural modulus. This was all determined by an independent, certified, third party testing laboratory.
