SUMMARY:  At last month's meeting, an issue was highlighted where city-owned property (street) was not properly abandoned, and it resulted in a negative impact for landowners looking to utilize said land (e.g., asking to consider the not properly abandoned property as yard depth).  I'd like to discuss some solutions we can put in place proactively to address these select issues. For example, maybe we waive a portion of permitting fees to property owners that purchase the abandoned property to offset some of the costs of purchasing the abandoned property.  Please note – the solution would ONLY apply to streets where the City did not properly abandon the street.
