About Grand Rapids

Grand Rapids is a unique blend of small town hospitality and character with big City conveniences and opportunities. Grand Rapids offers an excellent quality of life to residents of the region with outstanding educational opportunities, excellent medical care, exceptional cultural, natural, and recreational amenities, and an unequaled sense of community spirit. Grand Rapids provides residents safe, friendly, affordable housing and inclusive neighborhoods that retain and enhance nature in the City. Residents and visitors can move around the City with equal ease by car, bicycle, or walking. Grand Rapids welcomes and supports a diverse mix of thriving businesses and industries that provide quality jobs, promising careers, and economic vitality. Grand Rapids is a welcoming gateway to Minnesota's Northwoods tourism.

Grand Rapids, MN, population 10,869 (U.S. Census Bureau 2010), is located in Northeastern Minnesota on the banks of the Mississippi River and is the Itasca County seat. It's situated in the midst of numerous lakes and forests. A small City known for, logging, regional services, the arts, and its Native American and settler cultures — Grand Rapids is a place of many narratives. Grand Rapids is predominately white (96.5%), with Native American (3.1%), Latino (1.2%), Black (1.1%), and Asian (.9%) racial and ethnic minorities (U.S. Census Bureau 2010). Fifteen miles west of Grand Rapids lies the eastern edge of the Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe Reservation; Native Americans are the largest racial/ethnic minority in Itasca County (4.9%).

The City's name hails from its 3.5-mile stretch of rapids now hidden by a reservoir created by a hydroelectric dam. The hydropower generated by the rapids attracted UPM Blandin's predecessor in 1902. The Mississippi also provided an optimal means of shipping logs to southern population centers. Whereas much of the northeastern Minnesota's "Iron Range" region historically focused on mining, Grand Rapids emerged as a logging town.

Grand Rapids Arts and Culture Commission

The City Council established the Arts and Culture Commission in 2013. It currently functions as a volunteer commission, reporting to the City Council, with nine members and a City staff liaison. Commissioners are selected by the Council and serve a three-year term. The Grand Rapids Arts and Culture Commission envisions a community inspired by the power of its abundant arts and culture. They believe:

- the arts pave the way to a welcoming environment for all regardless of age, race, ethnic origin, gender or sexual orientation
- arts and culture combined with recreational opportunities define Grand Rapids as a regional creative destination for relocation, shopping, tourism and entertainment
- the arts contribute to health and well-being by creating aesthetically pleasing places to walk, bicycle, hike and play
- engagement in the arts helps vulnerable populations build confidence, cope with stress and aid with healing
- carefully planned and artistic street design contributes to a vibrant downtown and accommodates all modes of transportation, helping to make movement accessible to all
- the beauty of the natural environment of the Mississippi River, lakes and forests is a defining and valued characteristic of our community
- accessible, quality arts educational opportunities, cradle through career and on through retirement, are essential to the development of a creative community
- communities with robust arts and culture are more prosperous and attract large and small businesses, reward entrepreneurship, and provide meaningful careers to residents

The Sculpture Project

The Arts and Culture Commission project will consist of one sculpture located at Legion Park at the SW corner of the intersection of Hwy 38 and Legion Lane/14th Street NW. [see following pages for location maps]. The Grand Rapids Arts and Culture Commission is looking for artwork that expresses the history, culture, and/or unique attributes of the Northwest neighborhood in Grand Rapids, Minnesota. Artists are encouraged to consider the Legion Park site as well as the larger context of the Northwest neighborhood when developing proposals. A wide range of media will be considered as long as the final artwork is safe and durable.

While it is not required that the artwork be collaborative in any way, the committee will give more weight to applicants that include an element of community involvement in their proposal. This could include school outreach, neighborhood participation, or other local engagement in one or more phases of the project. Applicants are encouraged to consider opportunities for collaboration in the idea/design phase, the fabrication/assembly phase, and the installation phase.

The goal is to give people living in the northwest neighborhood a sense of ownership of the completed artwork by providing opportunities to participate in its creation. The Arts and Culture Commission is looking for proposals that bring people together around public art. Specifically public art that represents the northwest neighborhood and provides a landmark to connect people living there.

Request for Qualifications (RFQ)

Artists are hereby invited to submit qualifications to be considered to participate in the design phase for the public art opportunities described below.

The Arts and Culture Commission will review eligible applications and select a group of up to three finalists/finalist teams to invite to Grand Rapids for an in-person interview. Each artist/team will receive a stipend of $750 to cover fees associated with design and travel to in-person interviews. Further information will be provided to the finalists.

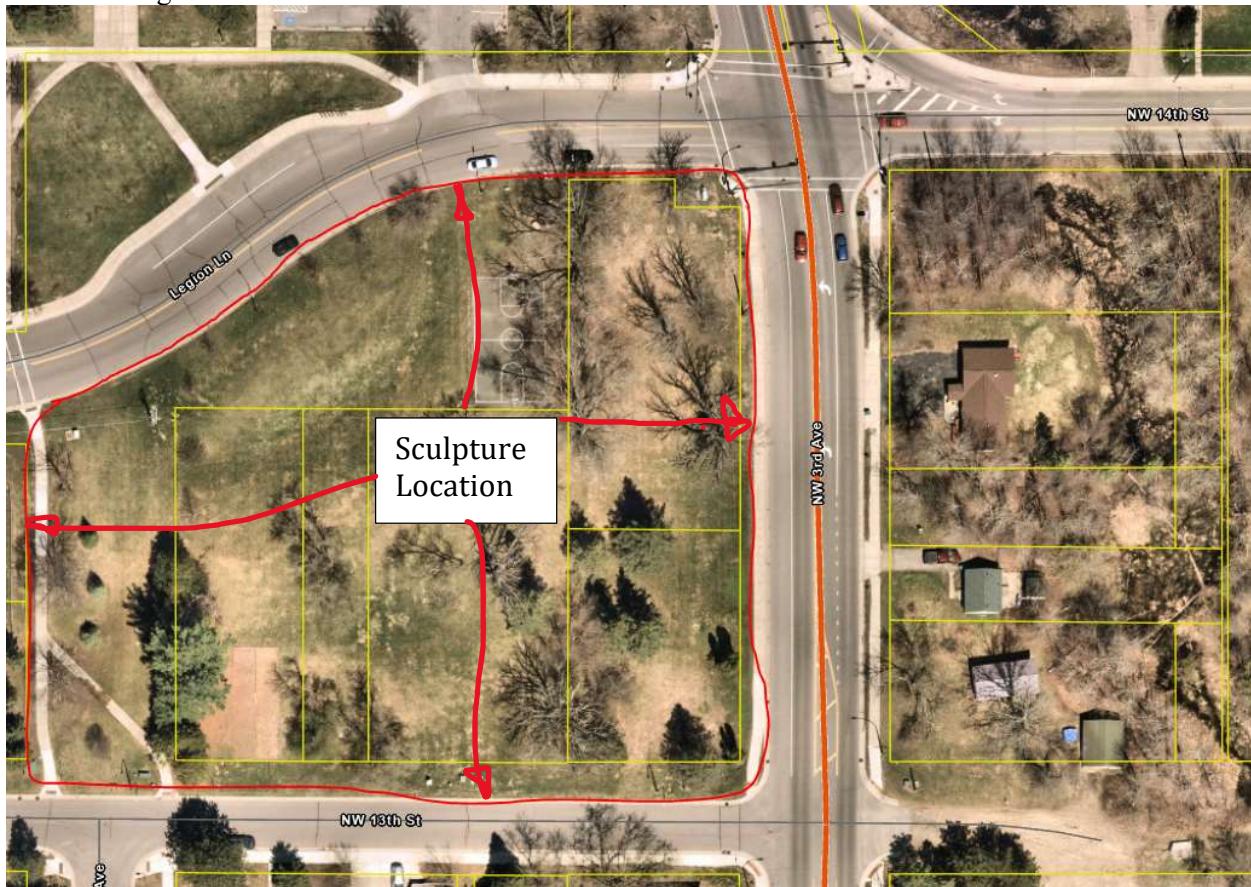

Upon completion of an in-person interview, one artist/artist team will be commissioned to develop, fabricate, and install the permanent artwork. The City will cover the expense of site/base preparation for the sculpture. Additional requirements will be outlined in instructions to finalists. Please see the following timeline for further details.

Budget: $50,000

The budget for the sculpture is $50,000. More information about the sites will be made available to the selected artist[s].
