Yes, I'd like to comment on your verbiage in your ordinance for your art, and I have this piece of art that I've been putting out for a while, and I was hoping you'd duplicate it when you cut down the trees to police station, which is the carbonated giant phallic symbol, which is a very popular art form all over the world for many thousands of years, probably the most popular. So I have the opinion that we need more of those around town, maybe one on every street corner, because art is what we need to focus on when there's piles of dry green waste all over town, and we're probably going to burn to the ground. But by putting some agenda into the art of it, fire is art too, right, like up at Burning Man? Oh, and on that topic, the fire is out on the Bennett Street Camp. Maybe we could list those six arson fires by the employee of MEC to an art installation and not arson. It's a big difference. We could just retitle things, call everything art, and all be safe. I'm on to it. Thank you.

Transcript:
