#	PLEASE COMMENT ON YOUR ANSWER ABOVE. IF YOU RESPONDED, YES, THEN LET US KNOW WHY AND HOW MUCH DO YOU THINK IT SHOULD BE INCREASED. IF YOU ANSWERED, NO, EXPLAIN WHY YOU FEEL THAT WAY.	DATE
1	The buyers of homes in a certain area bought with the expectation that they were single family or U+1. I think it would be unfair to change the standard. More adults means more cars and we are almost overwhelmed with cars now.	3/8/2021 10:10 PM
2	There are many reasons. Parking. Home value. Already not enforced. As a property manager and real estate agent, it can cause multiple problems with our line of work.	3/7/2021 2:21 PM
3	If the house has a basement and its safe why not rent in Colorado is getting off the expensive and now in days you need 30 jobs to be able to afford a dam 2 bedroom place maybe if rent wasn't to expensive or so many back from checks or credit scores we wouldn't have this problem	3/7/2021 10:51 AM
4	I believe if they raise the standard it would be more enforceable and I think that parking should also be a consideration and fines should be commensurate with any violations. I think if you make a reasonable standard you have a reasonable expectation of citizens following that and if they don't then they can suffer the consequences ...it's more enforceable	3/7/2021 10:23 AM
5	Household occupancy is a difficult issue. I live near the UNC campus. There are many homes near me that have many people living in them, ignoring the current regulation. Based on the work vehicles, some who work for the oilfield industry, some not. The homes near me that have many unrelated people living in them have trash, multiple vehicles, and people coming and going. It has a negative effect on my neighborhood and others. I am empathetic to the plight of individuals who don't have the money to live here. Perhaps the new lower income housing will help alleviate the issue? I am not a NIMBY person, but I have seen first hand the negative impacts on a neighborhood of multiple unrelated people living in a house.	3/7/2021 8:55 AM
6	The rising costs of housing has been putting so many on the streets, which in my opinion ultimately leads to an increase in crime, and also puts a lot of pressure on the social services available to people in trouble. That makes getting help harder and take longer. The amount of people sleeping in tents during these cold winter months is an embarrassment to the city and county. This measure is a great first step to helping all these people get back on their feet with some dignity.	3/6/2021 10:06 PM
7	I live next door to a family that disregards this rule. They have 9 vehicles parked in front of their house, across the street, and in front of mine and the neighbor on the other side of the street's homes. You shouldn't be worried whether or not you can park in front of the house you own. We live in single family households along 16th st. Not only do these unrelated adults bring their spouses but now there are SEVERAL children screaming and running through all adjacent yards. There is no room for courtesy because there is no room for the people themselves.	3/6/2021 7:17 PM
8	People can not always afford housing without roommates	3/5/2021 6:26 PM
9	Limit the number of people based on fire safety regulations, on number of bedrooms or square footage, not on whether or not they're 'related'.	3/5/2021 4:12 PM
10	I have had a rental house across from my house that has had up to 27 people living in it. I have sent pictures and complaints to Code enforcement for 2 years and nothing has ever been done. When you have that many people that live in one house, where are they suppose to park their cars, on their lawn, in front of my house, block drive ways and park 2 cars deep along the side walk into the road. Talked to the owner of the house and she stated that she gets to charge per person so she did not care how many people lived there. If the City has a code that they do not enforce why even have any code.	3/5/2021 2:46 PM
11	Increased people and traffic to the houses around me. Puts my children at greater risk and makes it harder for families to find and obtain affordable housing. That changes the city dynamic from family friendly to landlord friendly.	3/5/2021 1:15 PM
12	Adds to parking congestion and crime because it becomes very difficult to be able to identify neighbors and who belongs in the neighborhood	3/5/2021 10:50 AM
13	To many people abusing it now. One house by ours has 5 different cars parked around the block.	3/5/2021 10:48 AM
14	But only if there's enough parking available to not cause stress on the neighborhood.	3/5/2021 9:04 AM

15	Because this disrupts community and the ability to decrease/ share increasing living cost while wages don't keep up.	3/5/2021 7:22 AM
16	It increases crime and parking issues.	3/4/2021 10:27 PM
17	U+1 is discrimination and creates an antiquated picture of what a family is or should be based on blood. It's ridiculous that any city should govern who gets to live together based on DNA. Housing crisis aside, I am an individual who seeks out living situations with others to enrich my life, deepen my connection to community, and share life's responsibilities. I know that U+1 is a relic of a pretty nationally accepted standard set of zoning codes from (I believe) post WWI - the world is not the same as it was when we developed those codes. Zoning around number of people based on bedrooms for health and fire safety is more than enough to ensure housing is not dangerously overpopulated. There's no reason to bring blood into the picture.	3/4/2021 9:41 PM
18	2 unrelated adults per house seems strict. There are two units in my house, and upstairs and a downstairs. I'm 52 - I rent one. A guy who is perhaps 68 or 70 rents the other. I think we are ok people. We don't park a bunch of cars around or party a lot.	3/4/2021 7:36 PM
19	This seems unreasonable and burdensome, especially considering the wide variety of incomes and housing preferences among our community.	3/4/2021 6:18 PM
20	People are already overcrowding their houses even with that restriction and listening the current restriction would invite more overcrowded homes (too many cars parked at a single residence, noise complaints etc)	3/4/2021 6:16 PM
21	In a two bedroom 3 adults max should reside in the house. Common sense	3/4/2021 5:35 PM
22	It will bring trouble to neighbor hoods	3/4/2021 5:32 PM
23	More adults means more cars, more trash accumulation, more opportunities for neighbor issues. My son lives in Tempe, AZ where they allow one adult for every room. There is a fraternity house in the cul da sac of a lovely middle class neighborhood. The house is a little further from campus and thus a little less expensive, but still a nice neighborhood. There are tons of cars every weekend and activity at all hours. You think it makes sense until the frat house happens next door. I have rental properties and I could probably make more money renting by the room. Nicer neighborhoods a little ways from campus. Kids are used to paying $500 to $600 each to live. Instead of renting for $2000, my 5 bedroom house would bring in $3000, Great for me, but what about the neighbors. NOT a good idea to change the U+1 standard.	3/4/2021 5:11 PM
24	The current law has helped keep our neighborhoods clean, safe and peaceful. Renting out rooms to multiple people as is starting to take place encourages housing instability, legal issues and transient behavior.	3/4/2021 4:57 PM
25	If unrelated adult has their own bedroom, there shouldn't be a restriction. Rental housing is extremely expensive here and most working class need a roommate to get by.	3/4/2021 4:53 PM
26	You plus 3	3/4/2021 4:21 PM
27	A group of unrelated Men moved into a single house in my last Greeley neighborhood and between their unkempt, construction waste filled yard and their trucks and cars literally lining the street it ruined the neighborhood and we moved just to get away from it. I now live in a neighborhood where the houses are quite large and many of the homes have workshop/barns, the perfect scenario for, yet again, a group of unrelated people to join together and purchase a house or rent out rooms once purchased, a recipe for disaster if you pass this new ruling. Please don't change it.	3/4/2021 1:48 PM
28	increase in residents in one home also increases parking issues. More people, more cars in neighborhoods that do not allow for all the additional parking.	3/4/2021 10:32 AM
29	any	3/4/2021 9:45 AM
30	I think it should be increased by whatever amount is necessary for people to survive/thrive. I feel this way because I feel like this issue isn't the business of the city.	3/4/2021 9:25 AM
31	Maybe base occupancy limits on square footage and water/sewer limitations.	3/4/2021 6:30 AM
32	Housing in Colorado is unbearable for single individual. Even newly married couple struggle to afford a home for themselves with out help from roommates. I think 2 people per bedroom in	3/3/2021 10:26 PM

the home is an appropriate number for any household.

33	It is becoming harder and harder for families to find a starter home to buy, or even to rent. If an investor buys up housing, then these families will move to the back of the line since having the number of unrelated adults will increase the amount of money to be charged in rent. We live in a mixed neighborhood close to UNC. I have found that the rentals that do the best are occupied by families who seem to appreciate having the space for their children and make the best neighbors. The ones who will benefit the most are the owners who will be able to charge more with more unrelated adults and there will be less attention to upkeep.	3/3/2021 9:39 PM
34	I think at least as many bedrooms plus one additional person. So if there are 3 bedrooms you may have 4 people. If there are 4 bedrooms then 5 people etc. It is so hard to afford rent with only one additional person. The cost of living is too high.	3/3/2021 9:21 PM
35	I think 3 should be the limit.	3/3/2021 9:15 PM
36	My concern is with the amount of vehicles that would be in driveways/ streets with more adults living in a single family home.	3/3/2021 8:58 PM
37	The cost of housing has increased and demographics are changing. I do not see any reason why two couples, or a couple and a roommate, cannot share a 2+ bedroom home. Additionally, fewer couples/unions are choosing not to become legally married and the U+1 stands in the way of those individuals getting a roommate to help with expenses.	3/3/2021 8:38 PM
38	Too much government restrictions on private property.	3/3/2021 8:20 PM
39	The communities are not built to allow multiple parties in one home. There is not enough parking on the streets or neighborhoods. In our community out west our neighbors have mom and dad, adult daughter with adult boyfriend and adult son living in one house. They have 8 vehicles amongst the 4 of them. Always parked on both sides of my driveway. I have called and nothing can be done. It is so aggravating already that just increasing the adults could make this problem and many others in similar situations worse.	3/3/2021 7:18 PM
40	Safety issues concerning unrestricted occupancy. Overloading of utilities, water usage, electrical overloads, trash, upkeep parking and so many other unsafe reasons. Keep it as is.	3/3/2021 7:11 PM
41	It should be dependent on the available space and individual circumstances. I am a 73 year old widow with a 4 bedroom home. It would make sense for me for safety and economics to be able to share my home with one or more individuals. (Remember the Golden Girls?)	3/3/2021 6:53 PM
42	The pandemic has left a lot of people without homes - we need to be able to help our friends and community if the need for shelter arises. The cost of homes has also increased due to demand which has damaged the ability for the working class to afford homes. Restrictions like residency limits are an unnecessary obstacle in the way of people working to get back on their feet as it blocks them from getting help.	3/3/2021 6:50 PM
43	Should be up to the home owner how many people they want to live with them	3/3/2021 9:23 AM
44	R1 is the zoning for the area that a person has purchased their home. If you change it your expectations will change and you are forcing migration from the neighborhood.	3/2/2021 11:16 AM
45	Older neighborhoods are not always protected by covenants or homeowner associations from too many people living in a single family home and the stress on the neighborhoods from too many cars associated with these additional occupants.	3/1/2021 5:42 PM
46	Parking and increased traffic are my main concerns. Additionally, the opportunity for crime would increase.	3/1/2021 4:14 PM
47	I put both, because there can be some areas where renting/owning with more than 1 unrelated would be understandable, other areas, need to remain.	3/1/2021 3:35 PM
48	Things are fine the way they are. Houses should not be apartment buildings.	3/1/2021 3:18 PM
49	DEFINITELY NO. WE NEED TO PROTECT OUR NEIGHBORHOODS. FOR 2 YEARS HAD WITH A NEIGHBOR TRYING TO HOUSE MULTIPLE PEOPLE. A DISASTER. NOISE. TRAFFIC INCREASES. NO. NO. NO.	3/1/2021 7:57 AM
50	Increasing housing costs. Many people cohabitate long term without being related. 2 unrelated adults per bedroom, max 4 adults per bathroom.	2/28/2021 4:51 PM

Household Occupancy Standards - Survey #1

51	It needs to be increased for housing equality. Discriminating based on familial relationships and incomes is not acceptable, especially when it impacts long term outcomes such as health and education for children. We can be creative and find solutions that work for everyone, not just those with wealth and privilege.	2/26/2021 12:47 PM
52	Allowance for at least one adult per bedroom, expanded by at least one additional adult for each additional bedroom, up to a limit of five adults in four bedroom home.	2/25/2021 4:00 PM
53	It should be increased to 2 per room i have in my house	2/24/2021 9:41 PM
54	Due to the cost of living in Colorado and knowing that there is a short supply of homes, more and more people are needing to live together in order to afford living in Colorado.	2/24/2021 3:20 PM
55	To many adult people to one home no matter how many rooms,causes issues with the amount of vehicles,leading to issues with parking,noise and speaking from experience as I see it already the amount of trash in areas.	2/24/2021 1:38 PM
56	Single family homes are not meant for more than one family. It ruins neighborhoods.	2/24/2021 9:54 AM
57	By 1	2/24/2021 9:08 AM
58	I feel the single family zoning is a reason that people buy houses in those zoned areas. We have many high occupancy zones already and seem eager to redone property to accommodate the units needed. I own rental properties near the university and could no doubt turn these houses into "dorm" environments and increase my income at least 4 fold but do not believe the neighborhood is in tune to this type of occupancy. But maybe the most telling reason is the schools. District 6 is supported by property tax based on the number of houses not the number of people in them, so the increase in children using the school services is out of proportion to the tax base.	2/23/2021 7:00 PM
59	Factors-- bedrooms how many? Parking spaces?	2/23/2021 5:15 PM
60	this will allow multiple people to live in 1 house and clog up our streets. it is bad enough that some streets have multiple cars on a street in our neighborhood. This will just allow more people into a house and thus clog up more parking on the street if this is passed!	2/23/2021 2:47 PM
61	There is not enough parking in neighborhoods adding more adults brings more vehicles and then they have to park in other peoples yards and sometimes when you come home there's nowhere to park or they put cement in their yard making their yards look little me car lots	2/22/2021 8:41 PM
62	The only outcome of this change will be a decline in property values.	2/22/2021 7:16 PM
63	I think it should be up to homeowners and who they want living there with them or who they rent to. Multiple adults in homes are already happening and it can be a great financial benefit. I've spent close to a year self quarantined because of an immune disorder because our sheriff and government won't enforce state public health guidelines. You can't pick and choose where you will heavy hand government then turn a blind eye. Be conservative or be consistent.	2/22/2021 5:33 PM
64	You are opening up a problem for neighbors that the city will not have an answer for. This would benefit landlords with no consideration to the neighborhood. There would be no control over increased parking and no controll over back ground checks	2/21/2021 1:31 PM
65	You will just lower housing values and make residential areas into " apartment " living with the noise, increased traffic and crime problems	2/21/2021 7:31 AM
66	I think at least three unrelated parties should be able to live together. Housing is expensive. We have other laws in place to protect neighbors such as noise complaint, etc. if three working adults want to share a 3 bedroom house, I think they should be able to.	2/21/2021 12:46 AM
67	Who cares if they are related or not. You should be asking why that many people need to live in a house and how you can have affordable housing instead of wasting resources on this	2/20/2021 9:51 AM
68	An increased number of adults living in one residence will likely increase the burden of already limited parking as well as increase domestic disturbances particularly noise and dispute related incidents.	2/20/2021 9:17 AM
69	I am not in favor of turning homes into boarding houses. That is a multi-family zoning decision. But truly unrelated individuals, functioning as a "core" family should be allowed to exist without restriction. For example step children, ex-spouses, distant relatives should be allowed without restriction.	2/20/2021 8:30 AM

70	Time will tell how much it should be increased by looking at the cause and effect. Neighborhood covenants should have the final say in the end. A city wide proposal may not work, so a city wide proposal should be more liberal than neighborhood standards.	2/20/2021 7:49 AM
71	We should allow the same number as fort Collins.	2/20/2021 5:51 AM
72	Law isn't enforced to begin with. Typically see increase in congestion on the streets, lack of care for property	2/19/2021 8:08 PM
73	Because I should be allowed to help out friends affected by this pandemic and economic loss if I want to.	2/19/2021 7:26 PM
74	We don't need homes turning into frat houses. I fully understand the need for homes, but also (as someone who lives next door to a rental home) understand how utterly [REDACTED] it is when there are too many people in a home.	2/19/2021 7:13 PM
75	Absolutely not! Home owners buy and or have bought in specific neighborhoods because of this correct zoning and knowing that if followed their neighborhood would continue to look nice and not get cluttered with excessive vehicles and a lack of ownership pride.	2/19/2021 7:05 PM
76	Greeley is a college town and an oil town. Plus we have several hospitals. Many people stay in Greeley for part of the year or for different times throughout the year as a secondary residence. With the cost of living being so high many would be house poor without the ability to rent out extra rooms while they're away/that are unoccupied.	2/19/2021 6:20 PM
77	Possibly u+2 but no more in R L zoning. Will ultimately ruin neighborhoods. That's what higher density zoning is for	2/19/2021 6:20 PM
78	Parking, noise, possibly more guests for each unrelated person, unrelated people could be more prone to participating in illegal activities	2/19/2021 5:14 PM
79	Cost of living is high now. Just makes sense	2/19/2021 4:58 PM
80	We purchased a home in a single family subdivision. Property values will dip if this is rezoned. From what I'm hearing, Greeley does not enforce the zoning laws already on the books. People complain and no action is taken.	2/18/2021 8:26 AM
81	Yes, any number of unrelated people should be allowed to live together.	2/17/2021 6:29 PM
82	I think it can open up a number of issues e.g. fighting, over parking, overall look of the neighborhood, reduced property values. I have a question for you: Why do you want to change this? Hasn't the current zoning laws served well. Greeley has something to be proud of, with the cleanliness of the city, in most parts. Why would you change the rules for the homeowners that have invested in the lifestyle they were sold when they bought their home? This is a decision that should be at least voted on by election, not just a few representatives. I have my home and am happy here, should I move now so that an agenda can be satisfied by a chosen few. If you do pursue this it should be for new neighborhoods with the disclosure in the development and the current neighborhoods should be grandfathered in under current laws/rules.	2/17/2021 5:12 PM
83	Too crowded on the streets with cars. People are already breaking this law anyways and you can tell when you drive down residential avenues. Nowhere for guests to park anymore.	2/17/2021 10:44 AM
84	Most people who purchased single family homes did so to have that limitation to create a less dense neighborhood. This feels like a bait and switch. The investments are misleading. Property values will decline. I can't see the reasoning?	2/17/2021 10:42 AM
85	I live in a house that is in an area that is coded U+1. I appreciate the quiet an peacefulness. I'm afraid that increasing the number of unrelated adults would lead to more noise and a messier neighborhood.	2/17/2021 9:33 AM
86	Increasing occupancy standards from U+1 would result in more noise, rowdy parties, property damage, traffic, parked cars, litter, and other nuisance behavior. I know this because at one time, I lived near central Greeley and experienced neighborhoods with higher occupancy zoning. I endured all this behavior and was miserable. People move into R-1 areas with U+1 standards because they desire to live in neighborhoods that are quiet, peaceful, respectful, and well-maintained. The character of these neighborhoods meets the needs of families, children, and senior citizens. Increasing occupancy would ruin the nature of these neighborhoods.	2/17/2021 8:31 AM

87	I think it should be increased because there isn't enough affordable housing. Everywhere in the city should go to +2, and some areas to +3	2/16/2021 9:49 PM
88	I do not think single family home subdivisions should be turned into multifamily subdivisions. Potential noise,traffic, parking, congestion, etc problems.	2/16/2021 6:31 PM
89	I think it should be increased, but only marginally (U+2, similar to Fort Collins). As a resident of the Cranford neighborhood, any increase greater than this will adversely affect the neighborhoods (Farr, Cranford, Alles, Glenmere) closest to UNC's campus. Unless you can assure that other code violations (trash, noise, parking, derelict landscape) will be enforced (with some teeth), then I'm not supportive of a large occupancy increase. Part of the issue in the areas around UNC's campus are the already large number of derelict rentals with little landscape, excess trash, and questionably habitable spaces run by absent or uncaring landlords. Those things need to be addressed in addition to an increase. Additionally, I would like to see a more in-depth rental market analysis of where in the city individuals are paying more than 30% of their income (among those making less than median and lower income). Is this change actually going to abate the rent burden? I have my doubts.	2/16/2021 8:35 AM
90	There are already numbers of people living in homes. Just drove around town and see cars at ms y houses. Why increase the number when the current ordinance is not enforced?	2/15/2021 6:15 PM
91	I believe that we are about to have a housing glut. There are so many apartment being built now that I don't see a need for more than You plus 1! I am extremely concerned about the units planned for north of Ashton Estates. This is HR zoned. It is my understanding that this was approved more than 20 years ago. It is time to rethink this high traffic area with a new hospital and two sub-divisions built since the zoning assignment.	2/13/2021 12:18 PM
92	We need more housing, especially more affordable housing.	2/10/2021 8:45 PM
93	It's surprising that the city cares how many unrelated people live together. Who does it harm? The information shared by the city doesn't seem to offer any justification for this policy.	2/7/2021 8:45 AM
94	A lot of income can be gained from renting properties to college students, so it would make sense to allow them to live together for the cities economy	1/31/2021 2:44 PM
95	With today's situations as you stated, I recommend "You plus 2". Beyond that, parking gets cumbersome.	1/29/2021 3:32 PM
96	Yes! As a college student I have really benefited from staying with multiple roommates. It is the only way I would have been able to afford to live outside of the dorms. Given some of the lower end demographic that lives in Greeley, I don't see why a rule like this should be forcing more people into homelessness or causing people to be "house poor". I think the standard should be at least U + 3.	1/28/2021 9:15 AM
97	I know many people who live in Greeley attend the University of Northern Colorado. They need to be able to love with unrelated friends in order to have a comrodery and afford to live in Greeley	1/27/2021 6:28 PM
99	I purchased my home to have the peaceful neighborhood and less congestion. If I wanted to live in a trailer court or apartment where there are far more people, cars, noise, etc., I would live there. Too many people in an area effects the infrastructure and I worry about crime. This is already a problem with Greeley.	1/27/2021 3:31 PM
100	High cost of housing. Very limited affordable housing. U+1 encourages homelessness in the community. Occupancy should be governed by number of bedrooms in structure as a minimum	1/26/2021 5:43 PM
101	Rent is expensive	1/25/2021 3:20 PM
102	The standard is an old limitation that does not reflect the current housing needs in our community.	1/22/2021 1:53 PM
103	Due to economic conditions it may become necessary to help out a family of 3-4 on a temporary basis.	1/22/2021 3:57 AM
104	The cost of housing , for young adults specifically, is near impossible to live in an actual house without the financial burden being shared amongst roommates. The ordinance should be modified to allow 1 person per legal bedroom to reside in the home. The ordinance is very specific about unrelated persons living together, but it allows legal/blood families of ANY SIZE	1/21/2021 10:30 PM to reside in any size space, regardless of any health or safety concerns....why should a family of 8 be allowed to live in a 3 bedroom house of 2-3 people/bedroom, when 4 unrelated individuals cannot live in a 4 bedroom house of 1 person/bedroom? As people get married later in life or go through different times of transition, the U+1 is incredibly limiting and inhibiting of living accommodations that are beneficial to all involved. Parking rules and property appearance standards will still apply, but dwellings and inhabitation can comfortably allow for more.

105	We live in America people can make choices about how many people live with them. As long as each person has two to three hundred square feet and there is enough parking to cover so if you have a really big house and four people unrelated to living there then there should be at least two off street parking spots and two on Street	1/21/2021 4:47 PM
106	I don't think it should matter whether or not you're related. the number of people in your house should be Determined by the Number of people that can safely live there.	1/21/2021 3:58 PM
107	I don't think there should be a limit. These days people need to do whatever is necessary to find affordable housing and if they find it by more than 2 unrelated adults living in a space, that is really none of the city's business.	1/21/2021 3:42 AM
108	As many as it takes to pay the bills. Having a couple more people would raise the amount of money each person has to spend on things other than Rent. And if it prevents someone from being homeless even better.	1/19/2021 1:24 AM
109	More people equals more vehicles. Vehicles in driveways with one behind the other and extends out over the sidewalk which leads to kids playing and riding bikes in the street. Also cars parked on the street and blocking driveways.	1/18/2021 10:49 AM
110	No cut and dry answer. Should depend on size of house, situation of people living there. I have a 3 bedroom house and am single. I have a roommate to make ends meet and if I want to rent out my other room I should be able to. What if it's to a couple? Previously I also had a roommate with a baby for a total of 4 of us. I'm curious as to why limits were set to begin with.	1/17/2021 12:05 PM
111	Understanding the economic considerations of families currently I believe it is ok to allow 2 plus you family members. The concern I have in our neighborhood in Mountain Shadows is #1 the number of cars on the street. When I see 6 pickup trucks surround one house hold it is a concern. #2 out of state license plates or expired plates that go u checked. #3 pedestrian safety with so many vehicles in the street. #4 concern for upkeep of the house, junk in yard or sidewalk, walks not shoveled etc. I understand some home care requires finances but trash, junk and snow require movement not money.	1/17/2021 10:16 AM
112	Residential homes were created for single families. Increasing the number will lead to parking congestion and people will take advantage of moving others in and make the neighborhood less safe. It's bad enough in Greeley let's not make it worse.	1/17/2021 9:46 AM
113	There should be no limit on how many unrelated adults can live in a house. If there are enough bedrooms, it shouldn't be an issue.	1/16/2021 6:43 PM
114	Creates congested parking, more occupants using the yard, garage for repairs, etc. Makes getting around these areas in emergency vehicles harder because of the increased vehicles and parking. There are already zoned properties that allow for this so it makes no sense to me to alter single family dwellings. If for no other reason than the fact that people buy and own in single residential areas with the understanding we live next to the same single family dwelling. It doesn't seem fair to me and certainly does nothing to increase property values. Mutli-family zoned in multi-family structures and areas and single -family zoned in single family structures and areas, period! Thank you for the opportunity to comment.	1/16/2021 5:00 PM
115	Rent costs are unaffordable especially for low income persons	1/16/2021 2:49 PM
116	I have lived in my nice quiet neighborhood for 46 years and don't think that my neighbors should be running a boarding house. It increases traffic and tends to degrade the neighborhood.	1/16/2021 2:06 PM
117	Yes, because the government has no business telling people what to do or who they can have in their home. There should be no limit.	1/16/2021 1:50 PM
118	It just is another reason for people to not get married. Also the parking is a nightmare already with some families. You just would add to this problem. If they all have cars they intrude on	1/16/2021 1:08 PM neighbors. This has been a huge problem in the Farr Park area for years, because of those who abuse the current law.

119	More adults equates to more parked vehicles. Our streets are already clogged with parked cars.	1/16/2021 8:37 AM
120	Job opportunities are out there! Go get one. Can you even qualify to rent or own a house on unemployment? If we allow for an increase of occupancy of non related adults, all neighborhoods become a frat or sorority house but to a different degree and far away from campus. You will see our lovely neighborhoods changed overnight and property values drop quickly and the Greeley housing market will follow trend.	1/15/2021 8:47 PM
121	Short term, I would have said yes, but the strain of another person is probably another family - multiple people, multiple vehicles, more congestion is not typically a good thing. That said, if you allowed for 6 months, 9 months, even up to 1 year - I would have said yes. Indefinitely - no!	1/15/2021 4:47 PM
122	Number of unrelated adults in a house should be limited to the number of official bedrooms are in the house (per county assessor documents).	1/15/2021 3:55 PM
123	In creasing the number of unrelated adults from 2 to 3 would be fine. The issue is not the number but the impact to the neighborhood from the supposed 8+ "relatives" living together. The city has no teeth in requiring people to show how they are related. Second is the number of commercial vehicles and trailers brought into the single family home neighborhoods. I understand hard economic times, I lived in a home with over 20 other refugees, in Panama in 1961. However, we were cognizant of not disturbing the neighbors with our presence. I know you can legislate the be nice requirement. But, how about all the trash cans in front of the house? I've called it in. gets cleaned, but then again in a few weeks.	1/15/2021 1:14 PM
124	Due to COVID, unemployment, the economy, many need to rent out a room(s) to help pay the bills. Others help family members during these trying times. Some cultures live with several generations of family in a house.	1/15/2021 12:42 PM
125	I'm not convinced it is necessary.	1/15/2021 11:44 AM
126	Once you keep adding people it turns into a party house. Too many cars on the street.	1/15/2021 11:12 AM
127	Being a landlord, more than two would create to many problems.	1/15/2021 10:26 AM
128	Contributes to lower property values Effectively makes single family homes multi family or like rental apartments .	1/15/2021 9:58 AM
129	You plus one is plenty of people to live in a home.	1/15/2021 9:40 AM
130	The City does not inforce any excisting regulations, rental houses in my area have multiple residents of different familys living in a single house. More pickups and cars parked in driveways and street limiting parking for legal residents. City needs to get a clue...	1/15/2021 9:36 AM
131	This housing issue has been occurring in our neighborhood for several years. It has been reported to the city (and also to our HOA). The city prefers not to deal with it— nothing has been done. Why worry about changing the rules when the city will not enforce the existing rules	1/15/2021 9:13 AM
132	Limiting the # of unrelated people living at a dwelling helps with reducing the # of vehicles at that dwelling so that traffic and parking don't become more of an issue in the neighborhood. Maybe you should look at how expensive rent is and address that so multiple people aren't forced to live together. Greeley used to be an affordable place to live but not anymore! Greed as taken over!	1/15/2021 9:13 AM
133	You plus two is more appropriate. If owners need to rent a room to make the mortgage payment, I think that should be allowed.	1/14/2021 10:04 AM
134	Yes, I think there should be very few or no restrictions on where people can live. The associated nuisances can be dealt with accordingly and working to "protect" certain neighborhoods inherently discriminates against others.	1/14/2021 9:08 AM
135	I believe most cities allow more than 2 unrelated adults per household. I think Greeley needs to allow at least 3.	1/13/2021 9:32 PM
136	I feel the current rule is adequate and "safe". If we Don't stay at this standard then our city/neighborhoods will be under stress with increased #'s which may lead to problems with	1/13/2021 8:57 PM

overcrowding of schools, streets (with too many parked cars) etc. the quality of our lifestyles will deteriorate and people will begin leaving Greeley.

137	debt to income ratio used systemically by real estate bankers financial institutions have and keep those in poverty and others in poor living condition by not allowing home ownership. Minimum wage also does not suffice to obtain a larger rental with more room and others. If the system debt to income or 2-3 times monthly income is used to approve a loan then such should also be considered in homes with adults and children in a way to obtain more room. thank you there is more to the policy that should be sent to congress for reduced poverty and allow impoverished society to own property and obtain financial freedom by owning something as oppose to investors charging every one	1/13/2021 8:01 PM
138	This is a free country.	1/13/2021 6:59 PM
139	Why should there be a limit placed by local govt? Increase by 4-5 unrelated adults. It changes depending on if it is all adults vs a family with children and several adults.	1/13/2021 6:55 PM
140	Yes, and I believe there shouldn't be a limit. The existing ordinance and zoning discrepantly affects lower-income individuals, as many people need roommates to afford rent. As BIPOC, LGBTQIA+ individuals, disabled individuals, and other individuals with minoritized identities are disproportionately lower income, this ordinance contributes to an increasingly segregated city. Furthermore, the definition of family employed by Greeley's municipal code is archaic and doesn't account for a diversity of ways "family" can be defined. Family should not have to be proven through legal contract or blood relationship, and to do so continues to disproportionately affect individuals with marginalized identities.	1/13/2021 6:19 PM
141	I think it should be "you plus any other consenting adults". I know of places where a house is shared among 18 unrelated people and this doesn't bother them because they all know of the risks living together.	1/13/2021 6:13 PM
142	I think this is a ridiculous standard and I'm glad you are looking at this since its been around for 40 years. In a college town, you can expect unrelated students are going to live in one home. Also, with the large agricultural and meat packing plants employees and their low wages, employees might have to live together to afford their housing. Please make this standard more flexible and inclusive for the needs of the community.	1/13/2021 6:09 PM
143	Freedom of association. Also, college students need it to be much higher in order to afford to live off-campus.	1/13/2021 6:07 PM
144	I think the only limits would be based on the size of the home (bedrooms etc). There is definitely a need for housing regardless of relation.	1/13/2021 5:14 PM
145	The number of occupants should be tied to the safe / healthy capacity of the building. If modifications have been made to SFHs, then the max occupancy should reflect this.	1/13/2021 4:09 PM
146	I believe a reasonable number would be 4-6.	1/13/2021 3:06 PM
147	The is so little affordable housing more people would be homeless if authorities knew how many people were co-habiting in many homes.	1/13/2021 3:01 PM
148	This will continue to crowd the existing neighborhoods with more vehicles on the neighborhood streets. In addition, extra move ins have already impacted our neighborhood with noticeably poorer responsibility and attention to existing properties by property owners.	1/13/2021 2:19 PM
149	I find that number low considering we are a college town but on the other hand it should not be any higher than the bedrooms available.	1/13/2021 2:16 PM
150	I've lived in Greeley over 50 years. It was once a beautiful city where people took care of their homes and yards. Now, it seems that is no longer the case. I see countless homes in many different neighborhoods where many trucks and/or cars are lined up in the driveways and on the street. It is obvious that there are multiple unrelated adults living in the house, probably renting, who don't care about the property. These properties are full of weeds and trash, and the lawns are dead. I think if you increase the number of unrelated adults who may live in a house, you are certainly not going to enhance the beauty of the neighborhoods in Greeley. You are only going to add to this current problem. I have many friends, who probably won't get this survey, who feel the same way.	1/13/2021 2:06 PM
151	Due to current financial issues for many folks I think 2 more unrelated adults should be permitted	1/13/2021 1:21 PM

152	Definition of "family" should be expanded to include some non-traditional family relationships. Total numbers of persons permitted to reside in a home should be gauged by numbers of rooms, total area, approved off-site parking, etc. in addition to expanded definition of family. Traffic, parking congestion, noise, and other public safety concerns should guide the formula.	1/13/2021 12:56 PM
153	I have already seen some houses that have more than two unrelated adults, and they are a mess. There are more cars, more noise and too many people in what is suppose to be a single family household.	1/13/2021 12:35 PM
154	Given the exceptional rise in housing costs throughout the State, coupled with the fact that we are a college town, I believe the ordinance is and has been way too restrictive.	1/13/2021 12:32 PM
155	Rent is too high, and multiple unrelated roommates should be allowed in order to afford it.	1/13/2021 12:21 PM
156	While there are very real consequences to this limit, the economy and world today is simply not fit for the parameters that the limit creates. Frankly, it's one of the least useful laws Greeley has kept and probably the least adhered to.	1/13/2021 12:07 PM
157	As it becomes more and expensive to live here, I think it should be increased to U plus 3 to allow for people to have roommates but keep it from getting crazy, with more people there could be a parking problem. Could it somehow depend on the size of the home or apartment?	1/13/2021 12:06 PM
158	Greek Housing is the best thing that has ever happened to me. I don't understand why there is a standard in the first place. This is the ████████ united states, if 11 grown men decide they want to live in a house together that should be allowed.	1/13/2021 11:50 AM
159	I'm hesitant to say Yes but I do understand the "why" behind this. I'd like to start the transition by increasing to U+1+1 only. Why such a small change? Because I live on a street with a split of own/rent and the street is already quite full of parked cars; day and night. Even now the assortment of occupants can leave one wondering if they are in alignment with the existing formula. Thanks for asking in this regard.	1/12/2021 3:17 PM
160	3.	1/12/2021 2:22 AM
161	I answered because I think there should be no limit.	1/11/2021 6:05 PM
162	I don't understand what the rule's function really is, so I think it makes sense to do away with it entirely unless there is a reason that I am missing.	1/11/2021 5:58 PM
163	Considering that Greeley is primarily a college town, it is safe to assume there will be at least 2 unrelated people living with eachother. Even more so if they live off campus or in a dorm that houses multiple people per room.	1/11/2021 5:14 PM
164	As an university student finding affordable housing is a big deal to me. The number of roommates I am able to find greatly increases my standard of living.	1/11/2021 4:58 PM
165	you plus 5	1/11/2021 4:57 PM
166	As a college town, there's always been several people to one household. Now, people can't afford to live alone, so having roommates becomes a means to an end.	1/11/2021 1:34 PM
167	There is plenty of places to rent that allow multiple people to live together. Increasing the occupancy rate to more than 1 other unrelated person will devalue single family homes. Tenants are extremely hard on properties and this would make that situation even worse.	1/11/2021 11:45 AM
168	This code has been this way since around 1980. With the change in housing prices and changes listed to address this concern, I think it absolutely HAS to be changed. People cannot afford housing, people are even having trouble paying rent. Things have changed and the Counsel needs to address this instead of standing on a "oh there are no issues here, we don't want to make chances if there aren't problems" There are problems! My concern is that I happened to stumble upon this web site/voting just browsing the web. I don't think enough people in Greeley know about this voting/solicitation of public opinion. How many people need to vote to make a difference? This needs to be marketed and pushed to the public way more because I'm sure 8 out of 10 people would agree that this code needs to be updated.	1/11/2021 10:39 AM
169	Parking is a problem and trashed outside areas. You can spot these homes all over your neighborhood.	1/11/2021 10:38 AM
170	To answer that, you must tell me how much you are increasing it. Maybe increase by 1, so U+2 would be ok, but no more.	1/11/2021 10:03 AM

171	You plu the number of spare bedrooms is reasonable and seems to happen in our neighborhood anyways. Existing standard can't and isn't enforced at all.	1/10/2021 9:00 PM
172	I have lived in the same house for 40+ years. In that time I have watched our once nice quiet neighborhood start to show some wear and tear. The neighbors have changed many times and through the changes I have witnessed multiple families occupy the same home even though we are zoned a single residential neighborhood. The problems I have noticed is multiple the residents end up looking like a car lot, they have allowed the property to run down affecting the value of my property, trash build up, letting the sun remove the snow instead of clearing their walks, cars that have expired tags permanently parked on the street. I don't think we need to increase the number of non family members living in the same household in a single family zoned neighborhood.	1/10/2021 4:13 PM
173	My reason is a simple one. In almost 100% of Residential Neighborhoods in Greeley ther is not sufficient parking. If you would like to see first hand , go to [REDACTED] (Greeley). Every morning you will see 5-6 cars in the driveway and 4-5 in front of just not there house, but in front of others as well. (No Respect) If you would like I could elaborate in more detail. Please contact me at [REDACTED] . Thank-you	1/10/2021 12:49 PM
174	Rentals in single family residential areas tend to not maintain or take care of the property and there is a large increase of traffic to these homes. We have experienced this in our older quiet subdivision as no one really enforces this regulation except possibly in the neighborhoods close to the university. We had multifamily rentals for many years and we did follow the guidelines for related parties.	1/10/2021 12:26 PM
175	As an example, college students living in a residence is appropriate and saves each of them funds for their education. Anymore than six persons generates parking problems on the street.	1/10/2021 9:47 AM
176	You plus 2 max. Otherwise you get too many vehicles on street also.	1/10/2021 8:21 AM
177	I think that the number of unrelated adults allowed should be increase because of the reason given. The number allowed in a single family home should depend on the number of bedrooms the house has. I think two adults per bedroom would be acceptable in some homes.	1/10/2021 12:24 AM
178	As a property manager, people take advantage of not letting managers know who is living there, how many.	1/9/2021 10:44 PM
179	Why should there be any limit at all? America is a free country. People should be allowed to live as they see fit, within reason, without an over abundance of restrictions.	1/9/2021 7:52 PM
180	With exceptions for housing rented to students.	1/9/2021 3:56 PM
181	There are a lot of variables, but I think the policy needs to consider the number of bedrooms, parking needed, and perhaps square footage.	1/9/2021 3:44 PM
182	How does the city consider civil unions? I believe it should be increased as there are more civil unions now than ever before. In many cases the house holds combine children. However, I do believe there should be a limit to how many unrelated persons with not bond should be allowed to share a home.	1/9/2021 1:40 PM
183	For all the reasons previously stated. I knew it was limited, I didn't know it was only U+1., tho. I could see allowing it to a max of one per bedroom of the house (a 4 BR house would be U+3). This would allow single homeowners the ability to decide if that is what they would like to do with their homes. These are tough times.	1/9/2021 1:24 PM
184	we have to many houses that have more than 1 family in them and don't keep the yards or fence and have to many cars so you have no parking in front of your house to many smells and to much noise	1/9/2021 12:46 PM
185	Should be based on the square footage and the number of bedrooms It should max out at 4	1/9/2021 9:52 AM
186	No - three doors down, is a drug house that the police raided a while back. There still are a lot of people there coming and going, usually through the alley. Next door to me the owner is renting out rooms and when they can't park in his driveway they park in mine. Two days ago someone there decided to start fixing their car in MY driveway. I could not get my car out and I was too scared to go out there and confront them all.	1/9/2021 8:52 AM
187	No increase. Current occupancy limits are not enforced now, this will only make it worse. As always, unscrupulous or absentee owners will take undue advantage of this. While I am	1/9/2021 8:51 AM sympathetic to the plight and needs of those seeking housing, opening the gates is not the answer. I do not support this in any way.

188	We live in an area of homes close together.more people in one home increases traffic and the number of cars parked on the street. We feel that would lower the price of our home as the character of the neighborhood changes.	1/9/2021 8:37 AM
189	So many times it degrades the neighborhood. No parking for extra cars and deterioration of the of the property.	1/9/2021 8:11 AM
190	not when said property does not and will not provide enough parking spaces and you have "neighbors" blocking your driveway, in your driveway or taking up street parking so your visitors have to park blocks away.	1/9/2021 6:58 AM
191	should be determined square footage.	1/8/2021 10:11 PM
192	It leads to parking issues ruins nice neighborhoods, leads to undesirables moving in causing problems.	1/8/2021 10:08 PM
193	The current limit protects neighborhoods from large numbers of young people cramming into a small apartment, thus protecting property values.	1/8/2021 10:06 PM
194	In the question it doesn't specify if this involves children. I don't believe that children should be living with other adults who are not related to them.	1/8/2021 9:19 PM
195	Most neighborhoods in Greeley do not have adequate parking available for households that contain multiple people thus multiple vehicles. i.e. A family with 2 parents and 2 teenagers typically has 4 vehicles. Most housing does not even have sufficient parking for 4 automobiles. If that same household had even 1 unrelated couple living there, an additional 2 vehicles would need parking spaces. This scenario will/does create tensions and disputes throughout neighborhoods. Now, add more unrelated people to that household and see what happens. This would be a major disaster for Greeley because of the many people who would take advantage of this and have 10/12 people living in a 2/3 bedroom home with 1 or 2 bathrooms. Imagine the amount of fights, domestic abuse and neighborhood complaints this household would burden the city with.	1/8/2021 8:53 PM
196	It depends on what part of the town. I live on 13th Ave and would like it kept here. Thank you.	1/8/2021 8:11 PM
197	In typical neighborhoods, there is only so much driveway space and street parking. Adding more adults, adds more drivers and vehicles in most cases. I think that there could be some variances in unique housing situations where perhaps a house has a a permitted apartment built into the basement or above the garage. I also believe that in most situations where there are multiple adults living in a home, that the individuals are somehow related (parents, grandparents, cousins, etc). There comes a point where having 3 or more unrelated individuals living together encourages more of an apartment type of living situation, and those of us choosing to live in single family homes are doing so because we want to be surrounded by other single families, not by people with no buy in to the neighborhood lifestyle. I think the city should look at permitting and building more diverse housing options that are affordable and cater to individuals who are not looking for single family neighborhoods rather than increasing the current U+1 standard.	1/8/2021 8:08 PM
198	There's enough issues with poor household management with current rules/regulations. Such as parking, trash, respect of neighbors privacy and noise.	1/8/2021 7:58 PM
199	As a landlord, the +1 policy seems to work well. It allows for unmarried couples to rent together, or allows for a roommate to help cover rent. We don't ever want to stress people financially to cover rent, and find that if a tenant needs more that 1 roommate in order to cover rent; they are stretching themselves too thin, which puts undo stress on life. Raising the limit of unrelated roommates will have the unintended consequence of higher turn-over and evictions; if 3,4,or5 people are splitting a lease and 1 or 2 move out for any reason, chances are high that the remaining tenants can no longer afford the rent, and may miss payments leading to evictions.	1/8/2021 7:22 PM
200	Freedom is a good thing. As long as other limits regarding parking, noise, etc. are followed, there is no reason to limit the number of people in a house. Even if the elites of town prefer to see their areas protected by limiting the number of unrelated in a home, that should not be allowed, as it is discriminatory to pass such regulations due to the economic prerogatives of the people of a particular area.	1/8/2021 7:12 PM

201	I'm not sure why there is a need for a rule limiting the number of adults to live together. I do not think a limit should be set based on whether the individuals are related.	1/8/2021 7:07 PM
202	1+3	1/8/2021 7:03 PM
203	Property owners around them could lose privacy, gain spill over onto their property,..ie vehicles, etc.	1/8/2021 6:09 PM
204	A rental house next to our home in West Point had multiple unrelated adults living in it, all of which drove separate cars. Their three car garage was too full of stuff so no one could park in it. The driveway had 6 cars in it -3 cars across/two cars deep - so the overflow spilled out into our cul-de-sac and often times blocked our driveway. It was a nightmare to deal with.	1/8/2021 5:36 PM
205	Why does it really matter how many unrelated adults can live in a house dumbest thing I ever heard	1/8/2021 5:36 PM
206	Not to exceed three unrelated individuals.	1/8/2021 5:33 PM
207	Where our economy is today many adult children may need to return home for help bringing along a boyfriend or girlfriend. I don't have a problem with helping out our young people as long as the street isn't lined with cars and parties all night abusing their arrangement.	1/8/2021 5:15 PM
208	This would cause additional vehicles being parked on city streets. These streets were not built in a way to handle so many extra vehicles and would cause moving vehicles to not be able to maneuver in crowded areas.	1/8/2021 4:57 PM
209	I'm a resident in a townhome complex. We've had too many problems with multiple unrelated residents in a unit. I would rather see a requirement to apply for a variance if economic hardship necessitates a temporary permit to share the residence.	1/8/2021 4:57 PM
210	Perhaps a mother and father and one offspring provided the unrelated individuals are related	1/8/2021 4:33 PM
211	4. That would allow for 2 couples to share a house. That's a manageable number and a popular sharing arrangement.	1/8/2021 4:31 PM
212	U+1 works great for the privileged. It is implicitly biased against poorer people.	1/8/2021 4:26 PM
213	I the city's current standard is exclusionary and discriminatory and violates the rights of property owners, and should be scrapped.	1/8/2021 4:25 PM
214	We have two houses in very populated areas of Greeley and are single family homes with lots of multi family units around us. It already doesn't work for parking, noise, privacy. Our one home was built in 1898 so it's not that we knew what we were getting as much as the city of Greeley not having and not enforcing code.	1/8/2021 4:21 PM
215	I think you should allow for at least 4 people. I understand why the rules are the way they are (kind of) but there are several reasons I think it should be increased. 1. This is a college town. College kids need to be able to share housing and friendships when they agree on it without. 2. The economy is not going to get better. We have a problem with homeless or near homeless people. A shared dwelling could solve some of those problems, since some homeless work but can't make enough to pay rent by themselves. 3. It make sense to allow people to share housing as long as they agree among themselves, both for financial and emotional reasons.	1/8/2021 4:21 PM
216	In order for some individuals to keep their homes they have resorted to renting & sharing spaces with others. As long as all are respectful of others in neighboring homes & spaces should not be limited & risking the loss of home ownership or penalty.	1/8/2021 3:20 PM
217	Yes, I would like to see a slight increase (you plus 2 or 3) to allow another roommate type situation (you own the home and have 2-3 roommates) or similar.	1/8/2021 3:07 PM
218	We had a house next to us with 13 people living in it, they claimed they were cousins, it was terrible noisy, no parking	1/8/2021 2:41 PM
219	This is incredibly outdated and unfairly targets people who must live with roommates for financial reasons. The cost of living in Northern Colorado is only going to continue to increase.	1/8/2021 1:47 PM
220	It seems a silly restriction. occupancy should be based on sq. footage or bedrooms or bathrooms or something.	1/8/2021 1:39 PM
221	If owner of property pays utilities rent will have to be increased to cover additional costs thus creating a vicious circle. Also, more than 2 creates more legal problems because as a former	1/8/2021 1:28 PM landlord I can say room mate situations almost always result in court. Also as a citizen, the number of multifamily houses does not make for friendly neighborhoods as most renters could care less about neighborhood. I have just finished 3 years of terrible neighbors across street who had probably 6 people in a 2 bedroom apartment. NOT GOOD. Almost sold my house and moved from Greeley because of it!

222	I think that, for the most part, the current model works well. I know there have been violations in the campus area downtown, but if it becomes a bigger issue maybe their can be a permitting process for rentals that house unrelated adults.	1/8/2021 1:10 PM
223	Yes because there are college students seeking housing and cant afford one house for two adults? This is the most unwarranted thing I have read yet.	1/8/2021 12:59 PM
224	Housing costs alone is astronomical	1/8/2021 12:46 PM
225	I would need to know what the proposed change would be. Would it be increased to three, five, or infinite?	1/8/2021 12:04 PM
226	The fact that Greeley has stricter rules on this than Boulder, Loveland, and Fort Collins is ridiculous. As a college town that is encouraging people to move to town demanding that houses are occupied by single families only is insane and will cause people to either ignore the rules or move away. There should be no limit on how many unrelated people can live together as long as they are not breaking fire codes and other safety factors.	1/8/2021 11:54 AM
227	Exactly as mentioned above...Weld County is still experiencing a housing cost boom and purchasing or renting a home isn't affordable for many without sharing the cost with other individuals.	1/8/2021 11:54 AM
228	I don't think there should be a limit. When I was in college, I would have loved to share rent with more than 1 person, because we had more than enough room for that in our house.	1/8/2021 11:41 AM
229	I don't think the City has an interest in who lives where. The City interest lies in responding to nuisance complaints. Codifying the nature of relationships among residents falls beyond City purview. In the narrative provided in the Household Occupancy Standards, the City adopted standards because it was a popular notion at one time. If the City intends to provide a standard of living imagined by residents, the City has inserted an opinion that may not be shared by all or even a majority of residents, curtailing the liberties of some to benefit unspecified others.	1/8/2021 11:37 AM
230	Depending on number of bedrooms. Honestly, I think it should be up to landlords or homeowners to decide. I realize that sometimes more adults also means that there are more vehicles to park, but that is true even when people are related. I just wonder about why there is this policy? Is it due to outdated social norms? Unmarried people and gay people being targeted? Maybe the city should revisit it?	1/8/2021 11:08 AM
231	We are in a [REDACTED] pandemic and it's cheaper to live with a a few people ... [REDACTED] you for trying to put people on the streets for gentrification's sake [REDACTED] your law	1/8/2021 10:39 AM
232	We live in Crawford which is already a mishmash of mixed occupancy. Allowing more occupants than is why currently permitted will make an already crowded, confused zoning situation worse. The current regulation at least gives the city some regulatory power; without some regulatory power the city is helpless to handle problem properties.	1/8/2021 9:56 AM
233	No! As if the city enforces this anyways. There are decent tax paying citizens forced to live next to degenerative "households". We should not be made to suffer.	1/8/2021 9:55 AM
234	There are a variety of reasons, including the housing crunch and economic uncertainty. Sometimes people form "families of choice" that are not formed by blood or marriage. I believe a reasonable restriction can be in effect based on square footage, etc. Overall, I support the change. Thank you.	1/8/2021 9:44 AM
235	It causes a lot of problems win a bunch of unrelated people live together parking problems noise problems Etc	1/8/2021 9:41 AM
236	U+2 seems to be more common	1/8/2021 9:34 AM
237	The standard should be based on the size of the house not an arbitrary number. For example, 2x the number of bedrooms minus the number of bathrooms. A 3 bed, 2 bath home could occupy 4 unrelated adults easily.	1/8/2021 6:31 AM
238	Because of stagnant wages and increasing home prices to prevent Greeley from having an	1/8/2021 3:29 AM even higher population of unhoused people efforts need to be taken to reduce restrictions on housing. In my opinion the number of unrelated people living in a single family home should only be dictated by the amount of space in the house.

239	It will bring down housing values and increase neighborhood traffic.	1/7/2021 10:07 PM
240	Up to 8	1/7/2021 9:39 PM
241	Should be increased to any amount per house hold. But max total people should still be limited based on the size of the house.	1/7/2021 8:27 PM
242	Cost of housing is too high for folks to afford a single dwelling on their own, especially young adults starting out.	1/7/2021 7:53 PM
243	+4	1/7/2021 7:21 PM
244	Obviously, no one wants to see this City become one that encompasses homes packed with people, for the sole purpose of financial convenience, but I fail to see how increasing this number to, say, U+3 could create any major concern to neighborhoods, either as a concern for disturbance, parking, home values, etc, great enough to out-weigh the expanding need for housing, given the increasingly difficult task of further affordable new home construction.	1/7/2021 7:14 PM
245	Ever been in a student occupied rental house?	1/7/2021 6:46 PM
246	I do not think the current standards are reflective of the current economic and cultural climate. I'd much rather see a change to this standard and better access to housing for members of our community who may not be able to afford the increasing cost of housing.	1/7/2021 4:53 PM
247	I think it shouldn't matter if multiple unrelated people live in the same household. Occupancy should be based on the number of bedrooms in the residence.	1/7/2021 4:27 PM
248	Allowed if housing unit has separate bedrooms for all unrelated adults and no more then two minors in a bedroom. Off street parking for all vehicles. One owner must also reside full time in home.	1/7/2021 4:14 PM
249	There are more family styles than the "nuclear family" that may include several unrelated people. By increasing the limit it will make more chosen family units find homes.	1/7/2021 3:51 PM
250	I have no problem increasing the number a small amount. I currently live in an area of Greeley where it definitely appears that many people are living in a single houses. This really adds to the number of automobiles on the property or on the street in front of the property. Not sure I like that. Short term OK, Long term a problem!	1/7/2021 3:40 PM
251	I do not have a problem with # of unrelated people depending on the situation, the size of home is a factor and the # of bedrooms and bathrooms, and cars on a street! This can be a touchy issue. I think there circumstances and variables that are a factor. I believe housing costs and economic trends are a huge factor. I would like to to see some type of variance with guidelines. There is not a perfect mold for living or family circumstances!	1/7/2021 3:29 PM
252	Because this could change the density of neighborhoods beyond the low density, single family homes that we purchased our home in 2007. This ordinance has been in affect since 1980, what is the problem? Maybe you make this increase possible in new developments where people are alerted to this possibility. Also, with only 44 complaints in 2020 and four violations found, what's the problem you are trying to fix?	1/7/2021 3:13 PM
253	Have you seen how many cars are parked outside RL homes now? Do you want to live next door to possibly 6 Or 7 adults with the constant coming and going? There's a reason the college area allows for more. It should NEVER be allowed in RL neighborhoods. This is your answer to the housing problem?	1/7/2021 2:47 PM
254	I feel it is important to keep the rules as is because I am not wanting to live in a high density neighborhood.!	1/7/2021 2:45 PM
255	For many neighborhoods, allowing multiple unrelated parties to reside in a home will likely decrease the values of the surrounding properties. In a purely rental situation, this could cause larger homes to have many unrelated inhabitants who would likely not have a point-person assigned for maintenance, and parking could become a nightmare. If this is handled through the normal zoning process, then neighbors move into a neighborhood knowing the likelihood that a property will have multiple unrelated parties (medium or high density neighborhoods). If	1/7/2021 2:45 PM

this is a standard allowance in all neighborhoods, there is no redress for neighbors to address concerns if issues arise. Thank you for asking for input!

257	Unlimited.	1/7/2021 2:33 PM
258	I am an active real estate broker in Greeley and have watched neighborhoods erode in value due to this increase in unrelated adults. Covenants are being abused and citizens are watching their neighborhoods erode and values diminish. I feel adamant that an across the board change to the occupancy parameters is not the best approach. Specific neighborhoods may benefit but many others will suffer. I would be more than happy to get back involved but this will not take off the pressure on our housing needs and future requirements. The excessive apartment and multifamily projects the past 6 plus years is disappointing and makes Greeley another bedroom community. We are losing every day residents to surrounding communities. I would be more than happy to get involved again in these discussions if something constructive would come from them. Multi family, apartments and increasing occupancy leniency is not the answer. Let's sit down with the Mayor, planning and our economic development individuals and have a hard discussion about what is really happening in our residential markets.	1/7/2021 2:31 PM
259	Home sharing in an area with high rent can make it necessary to have more than 2 unrelated persons. Other jurisdictions allow up to 5 (5 is the max) unrelated persons, providing that they meet the codes relative to space per occupant (living and sleeping).	1/7/2021 2:29 PM
260	To make the cost of living more affordable but no more than 4 unrelated adults.	1/7/2021 2:19 PM
261	Residential neighborhoods are not equipped for parking that is required for multiple people	1/7/2021 1:38 PM
262	I think it should be increased to U+3. Housing costs are extremely high.	1/7/2021 1:24 PM
263	I think that given high housing costs and lack of affordable housing that 4 is a reasonable number and the ability to seek permission for more if needed	1/7/2021 1:19 PM
264	Clearly limits are needed but perhaps 3 adults of 3 different families sounds reasonable.	1/7/2021 1:10 PM
265	It seems like up to 4 unrelated adults could share housing; thinking particularly of senior citizens but could apply to any age.	1/7/2021 12:32 PM
266	It is imperative that more people not be able to share. Houses with bunches of unrelated folks are already ruining our neighborhoods. They don't care for property—exceed reasonable parking on the street and while they are fine folks they need to be in rentals designed for multi family occupancy.	1/7/2021 12:18 PM
267	You plus 2 is enough	1/7/2021 12:12 PM

269	U plus 2 max.	1/7/2021 11:22 AM
270	Yes, 2 per room. If the the house has 2 bedrooms. 4 people should be able to live there.	1/7/2021 11:13 AM
271	All around the University you have houses that are rented out to more than 2 students. Right now high prices, low paying jobs, people out of jobs due to Covid. Do we want them on the street because they can't pay their rent or is it better for them to become a roommate and have a roof over their heads?	1/7/2021 11:12 AM
272	It seems strict to limit only one other unrelated adult to live in the same household. I am not sure what the number should be- possibly 2-4 unrelated individuals.	1/7/2021 11:11 AM

1	There are other city ordinances to mitigate partying, and trash etc. that many people are concerned about. It is time Greeley makes a change on this matter.	3/10/2021 10:40 AM
2	We are glad the city is finally addressing this. Housing is out of control in Colorado.	3/10/2021 10:17 AM
3	I believe it's appropriate that how ever many bedrooms should be how many Unrelated people can live in a home. This is due to the housing situation in Colorado and all the changing demographics.	3/10/2021 6:35 AM
4	Don't change the standard single family allowance. It would not be fair to current homeowners who bought with the U+1 standard in place.	3/8/2021 10:12 PM
5	Areas of town are already adjusted for this. We do not need to blanket the entire city.	3/7/2021 2:23 PM
6	I am glad to see more low income housing is coming to Greeley. Related issue--I hope the City of Greeley can find a way to deal with absentee landlords better. There are so many trashed rental properties near the UNC campus and old hospital.	3/7/2021 8:57 AM
7	there is no code enforcement in Greeley, trashy properties abound even within blocks of city hall	3/7/2021 7:54 AM
8	If everyone has a seperate room why not allow it	3/6/2021 6:40 AM
9	Glad that the city sees a need here and is addressing the concerns. They care about making things affordable for people.	3/5/2021 4:26 PM
10	Limit the number of people based on fire safety regulations, on number of bedrooms or square footage, not on whether or not they're 'related'.	3/5/2021 4:11 PM
11	Where are these other adults suppose to park their cars? Houses around Greeley have very limited parking for what they were built for, single families. Code enforcement does not enforce current housing codes, if you get rid of any codes, the neighborhood will become slums and trashed. If this gets passed will this be allowed in gated neighborhoods or is this just for the poor parts of town, where city leaders don't care about.	3/5/2021 2:56 PM
12	the more people that share the house and expenses the better. Times are even tougher now.	3/5/2021 2:44 PM
13	I would like to invest in property in Greeley, but it's made difficult by such restrictions. Surrounding communities don't have such strict guidelines. Greeley's are old and outdated, especially since there are many young professionals looking for housing they cannot find. Rules need to change!	3/5/2021 9:33 AM
14	I think the city is smart in finally addressing current changes in demographics and housing. Good for the city to finally make some changes.	3/5/2021 9:08 AM
15	There needs to be adequate parking to support the increase in the number of tenants so that there isn't an issue for the other people in the neighborhood.	3/5/2021 9:03 AM
16	Why are we putting limits. It makes no sense.	3/5/2021 7:19 AM
17	It's ridiculous that any city should govern who gets to live together based on DNA. Housing crisis aside, I am an individual who seeks out living situations with others to enrich my life, deepen my connection to community, and share life's responsibilities. I have previously owned a home in Denver where 6 of us lived as chosen family and it was an enriching and life-changing experience. Zoning around # of adults based on bedrooms for health and fire safety is more than enough to ensure housing is not dangerously overpopulated. There's no reason to bring blood into the picture. I don't even understand the reasoning for why 4 cousins can live together but 4 friends can not.	3/4/2021 9:44 PM
18	Citizens who own their homes should have the right to occupy them the way they want.	3/4/2021 8:41 PM

23	Renting out rooms to unrelated people encourages transient populations and will create legal issues. Many people bought a single family home over living in other types to live in a less congested area with more stable residents. Perhaps expand current multi family areas where majority of residents express the desire.	3/4/2021 5:05 PM
24	Neighborhoods can quickly deteriorate when you start allowing a number of unrelated people to live together. They allow it in Tempe, AZ where my son goes to school. I went to a family weekend fraternity party in a nice middle class neighborhood because a number of unrelated young men were allowed to live together. The number of cars cluttering the streets increases and rifts between neighbors start. It all sounds great until it happens next door. Trust me, I'm a landlord, I suspect I could get more rent renting my houses by the room, but I'm sure the neighbors would hate it.	3/4/2021 5:01 PM
25	No changes welcome as they effect property values!	3/4/2021 4:22 PM
26	We need affordable housing.	3/4/2021 4:19 PM
27	We had a house on our street where Virginia Hills bordered Virginia Hills South that was inhabited by numerous adult Men, none of them related, they all had construction trucks that they parked on the streets as well as their own vehicle and the yard was full of construction waste and never mowed since for them the house was just a cheap place to sleep with no pride of ownership. That alone was enough to make me move. I realize that this will happen in secret no matter what rules you pass but please don't make it easier for them to ruin a neighborhood.	3/4/2021 1:39 PM
28	Adamantly disagree with the proposal based on number of bedrooms. You are penalizing single family homeowners and yes, home values in Greeley will go down, some will move, and their goes your tax base. You do not have the ability to solve the problems you will be create such as enforcement and parking. Leave the number where it is.	3/4/2021 10:47 AM
29	This shouldn't be an issue legislated by the City.	3/4/2021 9:27 AM
30	We should stop trying to limit people per home and rather focus on educating people on code requirements	3/4/2021 9:23 AM
31	It is becoming harder and harder for families to find a starter home. Although it seems like a good idea to have a place for more unrelated adults, it will become harder and harder for a family to find a home within their price range. A family with children takes more care with a home, rental or not, from what I've observed. The people who will benefit the most will be the investors/landlords in buying up housing which could be available for starter homes, and who will be able to charge more for more unrelated adults. We live near UNC and would like to maintain family presence in our neighborhood.	3/3/2021 9:34 PM
32	In a college town, more adults should be able to live together	3/3/2021 9:29 PM
33	The only way I've been able to afford a place to live is with roommates. I would have been homeless if not. Rent is astronomical. Often I had to choose between eating and paying rent. Having additional roommates helps lessen the cost of living.	3/3/2021 9:19 PM
34	I don't believe that any more than 4 unrelated adults should be able to live in one home. You are just asking for trouble with more. It could cause a massive amount of other issues. Noise complaints, no room for vehicles on the street (a problem we currently have in our neighborhood along with a few parking on the grass in the front yards. A total eye sore!). How do you police criminal records for that many people in one home? There would have to possibly be exceptions in case of elderly parents or disabled citizens living together.	3/3/2021 9:14 PM
35	Less government, more freedom	3/3/2021 8:22 PM
36	If the house is in a multi-family neighborhood the occupancy should increase based on the number of bedrooms.	3/3/2021 7:48 PM
37	The state has no business telling couples they can or cannot cohabitate with each other and other similarly-situated acquaintances. If four young couples want to share a large 4-bedroom house, they absolutely should be able to. Also, UNC students need affordable off-campus housing which means unrelated people living together. It's not the state's business.	3/3/2021 7:37 PM correct, but not necessarily.

40	Adults should be allowed to have housemates. Many prefer this in order to save money.	3/3/2021 5:48 PM
41	I believe that homeowners should be making the decisions on who can live in their own home, not the city. U+1 is very limiting, especially in the time of this pandemic when many people are desperate for a place to live.	3/3/2021 5:19 PM
42	I don't think there should be any restriction on this kind of thing.	3/3/2021 4:57 PM
43	The government should stay out of my business in my house	3/3/2021 4:45 PM
44	If I'm paying the house payment or rent, it should only be my decision to have as many people live in my house. Landlords do have a right to deem how many.	3/3/2021 9:20 AM
45	Based on the zoom meeting last night. My opinion is that things need to change to accommodate citizens that cannot afford housing. How every many bedrooms should be how many can live in the home.	3/2/2021 2:49 PM
46	I think this for College students, But only College Students, not whole families living in a room in the single dwelling, Example, 3 bedroom, 3 single unrelated persons, not the whole family of that person included loving in that room together related or not!!	3/2/2021 1:40 PM
47	PARKING WOULD BE A PARKING PROBLEM. AS IT IS NOW WE HAVE A NEIGHBOR WITH GROWN CHILDREN LIVING WITH THEM AND ARE BLOCKING THE SIDEWALK DO TO LACK OF PARKING AREAS ON STREET.	3/2/2021 11:12 AM
48	City refuses to apply current standards in enforcement. Any change in code should be inclusive of strict enforcement by Code Enforcement. We've had a single family home in our neighborhood house as many as seven unrelated adults (out of nine) and it has severe impact on the quality of life in our neighborhood and impacts surrounding home values.	3/2/2021 6:30 AM
49	If the City Council wants to make changes to the current zoning, they need to be fair and make it mandatory for all neighborhoods superseding all neighborhood covenants and homeowners associations.	3/1/2021 5:53 PM
50	I live in an area that is already highly impacted by non-related tenants and there are always problems. In theory it sounds altruistic to open up these housing options, but it opens the door for so many violations and I doubt that the city has the funding to handle the complaints.	3/1/2021 4:57 PM
51	Unless rooms are being rented out seperately, there should only be 3 unrelated people per house, especially in "party areas."	3/1/2021 3:37 PM
52	You aren't taking into account the number children. Three adults might be ok in a home if there weren't any children. Two adults might be too much if both adults have three children. I think a combination of the total number of people is needed.	3/1/2021 11:14 AM
53	DO NOT INCREASE THE NUMBER ALLOWED. WE HAVE HAD HORRIFIC PROBLEMS WITH A NEIGHBOR BRINGING IN MORE PEOPLE. A DISASTER FOR OUR COMMUNITY.	3/1/2021 7:53 AM
54	I think If someone owns a four bedroom or three bedroom home they shouldn't be restricted to only allowing two unrelated individuals.	2/27/2021 3:26 PM
55	Many cultures live with extended family. It is none of the government's business how many people live together. If it is an issue in a neighborhood, what is the real issue? Is there a real issue or are people just uncomfortable living around people that are "different"? Communities and neighborhoods thrive with diversity: old and young; poor and rich; ethnic and cultural differences. Let's spend our time finding how we can all get along instead of making rules about how people should live.	2/26/2021 1:36 PM
56	Regulating based on bedrooms will be complicated. I don't believe there should be a limit, however if one is chosen, perhaps 6 or 7 would be effective in providing housing opportunities while also simplifying the process for administration.	2/26/2021 12:49 PM
57	If a couple is sharing the room and utilities per each room, two people should be allowed per room with same price	2/25/2021 5:55 PM
58	Loosening occupancy standards in single family houses is a relatively inexpensive and effective way to add capacity to our critical shortage of housing. Yes, there will be parking	2/25/2021 3:58 PM issues and potential over-crowding, but those issues can be dealt with pretty effectively through code enforcement and homeowner education.

59	please keep the code as written	2/25/2021 2:52 PM
60	This is not a good idea. To maintain order and orderly neighborhoods this cant happen.	2/25/2021 2:01 PM
61	the way the code is written is what should be retained.	2/25/2021 1:43 PM
62	Bad idea overall.	2/25/2021 1:35 PM
63	U plus 3 is what Windsor is doing. We have similar demographics and the surrounding areas are increasing unrelated adults. Sounds like Greeley needs to update their policies.	2/25/2021 10:23 AM
64	Seems simple. Why is the city making this complicated? How every many bedrooms should be how many people can live in the house.	2/25/2021 8:28 AM
65	Not sure why its a law, i pay my share of taxes for this land, if i have 3 bedrooms why cant i have 3 couples living in my house	2/24/2021 9:44 PM
66	Depending on the setup, a room could have two beds (think siblings sharing a room). The related vs unrelated aspect shouldn't be the priority. I honestly didn't know this was a rule/law until this survey process started and I doubt others do either. Housing is a challenge and everyone is trying to do their best to find a home they can afford and these arbitrary rules aren't helping Greeley.	2/24/2021 8:19 PM
67	The problem with allowing more to a house no matter the amount of rooms is that it will increase the number of vehicles parked, which normally leads to people parking all over the place and not leaving room for others in front of their own homes. It also normally leads to more noise (speaking from experience) as there are too many people in the homes around me but Greeley never looks into it. If people want to have more unrelated adults living in the same house they need to move to the appropriate zoning areas.	2/24/2021 1:35 PM
68	Related, or unrelated, the adult occupants of a house have considerable impact on parking whether on street or off street. The parking capacity challenges of a neighborhood change quickly when extra adults occupy single residence.	2/24/2021 9:54 AM
69	What about the number of children in the household. That makes a difference in the number of bedrooms and adults.	2/24/2021 8:31 AM
70	Is there a problem with current code or just manufacturing a reason to change the code that works.	2/23/2021 8:17 PM
71	Even with current limitations, there are several "houses" on our block in the older part of Greeley which house 3-5 unrelated renters. These temporary residents don't give a [REDACTED] about the property, and each drives a vehicle. The properties and yards are not cared for, and our little street is cluttered with lots of cars. If this new policy goes into effect, I can support it only if it affects ALL houses within Greeley, regardless of HOA rules, etc. I suspect the older sections of town will become trashed out neighborhoods while the newer developments on the west side will keep themselves protected. Our property values will go down and neighborhood will become unlivable, while housing landlords will pocket the profits. You will not make this change, if you truly care about Greeley's welfare and future.	2/23/2021 7:41 PM
72	If you allow too many people in a residence, it will get out of control and people will pile in dozens of people into one house.	2/23/2021 7:24 PM
73	The city cannot fill the current apartment capacities let alone the ridiculous under construction boom in new units so why should "single family" houses be turned into "multi-family" units. We have an abundance of multi family units now.	2/23/2021 7:08 PM
74	Parking Why can't Greeley offer more affordable housing? If we are going to have rules then let's enforce them Like shoveling sidewalks after snow how can you expect people to do it if the city doesn't do theirs	2/23/2021 5:13 PM
75	Additional occupancy allowances will also bring additional cars and traffic which could increase the activity in our neighborhoods tremendously.	2/23/2021 4:45 PM
76	the real problems I see is not so much the number of people but is the congestion of cars and other traffic issues that we are already seeing in certain areas of town. I see increasing the numbers of people that can live in one house does nothing more than add to this problem.	2/23/2021 3:19 PM

77	Allowing multiple adults into a house will just clog up our already packed streets with more cars. My street already has a good park of street filled with cars such that we can't even have our family over due to the multiple cars being parked on the street. This would just further the problem to the point that no one will be allowed to have any family over for a few hours!!	2/23/2021 2:50 PM
78	The more unrelated adults living in one household - the more problems with upkeep, parking, drinking, partying, etc. I only see this as a decline in the standards in Greeley. Why do we need it?	2/23/2021 2:08 PM
79	This is so stupid! Excessive crime in multi family residence, traffic and parking problems, It turns home into rental property. How are you going to manage and administer that? How do you zone? Property values will drop, you will create gettos like LA and Denver and good people will move away. There goes your property tax base. Yes, costs of housing will drop. There are always lower in undesirable places to live like project houses. Greeley is a good place to live. Single family home means just that and that is why many of us bought them. Not wanting to live near apartments. Please reconsider your Plan. It sucks Who wants this anyway? Homeless? Apartment owners?	2/23/2021 1:33 PM
80	One of the biggest impacts for a neighborhood is whether there is sufficient parking to accommodate the potential increase in vehicles.	2/23/2021 11:31 AM
81	Extend the occupancy limits in neighborhoods that are currently being developed. Don't change the code in established single family neighborhoods!	2/23/2021 10:27 AM
82	There are a number of different reasons why unrelated people would live together and can do so in a safe and comfortable manner. I think each household should be able to make those decisions for what works best for them.	2/23/2021 9:57 AM
83	My concern is the infrastructure to accommodate the additional unrelated adults. They often come with children, multiple vehicles. Many neighborhoods have little room for more vehicles to park. Many have no parks / play areas nearby for children who become crammed into neighborhoods.	2/23/2021 8:55 AM
84	I would like to keep my current R-L U+1 residential area as it is. I fear that upping the number of unrelated adults per household would make things busier, noisier, and dirtier. One reason I moved into this area was for the peace and quiet. I appreciate how it is and would like it to remain as is.	2/23/2021 8:43 AM
85	This should not be changed, it will totally ruin our city!	2/23/2021 8:01 AM
86	None	2/23/2021 7:56 AM
87	I don't want to see property values drop because of more unrelated adults being allowed in single family houses.	2/23/2021 7:50 AM
88	I live in a nice neighborhood with many 4-5 bedroom houses... it would be disappointing to have it turn into a rental zone. If I wanted that I would live in an apartment complex or around UNC with frat houses packed full of people.	2/23/2021 7:49 AM
89	There are several homes in Highland Park/West area. Trashed yards, parking problems, pot growing in yard. Not good neighbors?	2/23/2021 7:35 AM
90	There are other city ordinances that are enforced for partying or other reasons people say they don't want more people living in a home. Times have changed since 1980 and housing is so expensive. There are reasons ALL the surrounding areas are increasing their housing occupancy standards.	2/23/2021 7:26 AM
91	Don't change the character of Greeley's residential neighborhoods. This change would lead to noice, nuisance, trash, and parking issues of all kinds. Renters do not care for their dwellings in the same way that owners do.	2/23/2021 7:21 AM
92	Children need to enter the equation at some point	2/23/2021 7:00 AM
93	The number of bathrooms holds impact. If the 2 bedroom home also had 2 full bathrooms, I would say 4 people would be comfortable living there over 3 people (2 per bathroom situation)	2/23/2021 6:53 AM
94	The larger issue is the number of vehicles that 3 and 4 adults would bring. If several of those adults have multiple vehicles, then the number of vehicles per house could easily be 6-8. If	2/23/2021 6:20 AM

this concept is going to be adopted, then the parking needs to be provided for. The city's streets were not designed to be parking lots

95	single family means single family.	2/23/2021 6:15 AM
96	I think having an extra couple is fine instead of having an extra person. It doesn't change the current rule that much, and could allow couples more opportunities to rent together.	2/23/2021 6:11 AM
97	I can understand restricting occupancy in neighborhoods with current covenants. But in neighborhoods with expired or no covenants, one unrelated adult per bedroom should be acceptable, as long as the owner is currently residing in the house. Appropriate housing in Greeley is scarce and is unaffordable for the average single person.	2/23/2021 2:40 AM
98	3 or More unrelated people are allowed to live in R-M or R-H zoning	2/22/2021 9:00 PM
99	Increasing these limits will have a negative impact on property values. There is absolutely no justifiable reason to consider increasing these limits.	2/22/2021 7:12 PM
100	Changing occupancy zoning will have a negative effect on single family home values	2/22/2021 6:43 PM
101	I don't believe that current code is being enforced. To properly maintain property values i believe we should adhere to what's on the books now, and it should be enforced	2/22/2021 6:05 PM
102	I have several neighbors across the street, one home occupied by two adults that park a diesel in front of their home, another that has 4 adults and two children who have five cars and park a diesel on the street for a couple days at a time and I have a neighbor with five adults and a teenager who have six cars parked in front of their home. The problem with so many adults are the cars and when they have gatherings the street on both sides are full leaving little room for my or other neighbors friends or family members convient parking. The more unrelated people the larger the group of friends they have visiting. I hope this makes sense, I did not move to this neighborhood 40 years ago only to have it turned in to apartments. I hope the council members do not pick and choose areas where their properties are excluded. This is something that should be presented to the Greeley population and allowed to vote on this matter. This is an investment for me and many others who see their property devalued by allowing landlords the ability to prosper more from their investments. Thank you for your time	2/22/2021 5:32 PM
103	For being hands off, and small government, I'm not getting that vibe from this topic or the RV situation.	2/22/2021 5:28 PM
104	In addition to the number of people other considerations need to be made such as parking allocation. We see homes in our neighborhood with many people living in homes and additional cars parked on yards, in front of other's homes, etc.	2/22/2021 5:15 PM
105	There is more than enough multi family zoned housing in Greeley. Those who desire this should move to this housing. The over abundance of this muti family housing has already had negative impact.	2/22/2021 5:10 PM
106	They're called single family homes for a reason.	2/22/2021 5:06 PM
107	I think You plus 3 is very fair. With increasing housing prices, demographics changing, and nothing updated since 1980 its what makes sense. Otherwise how every many bedrooms are in the house should be how many unrelated people are allowed to live in the house.	2/22/2021 1:52 PM
108	Trying to make apts out of residential housing. Increased noise, increased parking issues and increased crime. There should be zoned area like you have for the colleges for additional amounts of people sharing a house. Sounds like you are taking lessons from Ca and the other liberal states changing residential areas of single family homes. I vote no	2/22/2021 1:18 PM
109	I am in the residential property management business. Rent prices are extremely high, and I believe expanding the current occupancy limits to U+2 across the board would be a good thing. It would create a true affordable housing, and an alternative to more multi-family apartment developments, with the hope that these tenants will be able to save for the purchase of a home.	2/22/2021 11:53 AM
110	If occupancy changes for "unrelated individuals", I think that if the home is zoned SFR, that one occupant must be the owner of record. I would hate to see 3 unrelated people living in a SFR home without one of those occupants being the owner. It will turn into a crowded rental situation...owner not onsite/tenants will run wild, with owner present, it will reduce some of the "tenant/rental" stigma.	2/22/2021 10:22 AM

111	With the population that resides in Greeley, you may have a couple of families living together to help pay the bills. Greeley is a hard working, many lower paying jobs and to survive in this economy, many need to help each other out with bills.	2/22/2021 9:12 AM
112	Any variance should be handled via zoning or USR. This is the only way that provides neighborhoods with predictability in what to expect and a method for addressing occupancy issues. Just because a house has extra bedrooms does not mean the surrounding environment is suitable for the things that come along with multiple unrelated adults, like extra cars, etc.	2/21/2021 4:34 PM
113	parking,back ground checks noise room rent for landlords. problems that the police will have no answers for , you are changing zoning from residential ti multifamily NOT A GOOD IDEA	2/21/2021 2:28 PM
114	Areas of concern parking, criminal records,noise, upkeep of homes. Residential should remain as is,	2/21/2021 1:25 PM
115	You will just lower housing values and make residential areas into " apartment " living with the noise, increased traffic and crime problems	2/21/2021 7:27 AM
116	Housing is expensive. I live with 3 other working adults and we don't throw crazy parties or park in front of our neighbor's houses. I don't see why more unrelated parties can't live together. It makes sense financially and doesn't have to be a pain to neighbors.	2/21/2021 12:43 AM
117	I would worry that parking could become an issue in neighborhoods if the city allowed more unrelated people to move into a single family home.	2/20/2021 4:00 PM
118	One adult per bedroom is the BEST solution! Thank you! Especially considering when there are larger families who are allowed to occupy lesser bedroom homes, but unrelated adults can't have one per bedroom per current ordinance. This helps a lot and does make sense :)	2/20/2021 11:48 AM
119	Instead of changing some dumb law that's never enforced until it fits your agenda, please be proactive and ask "why would so many unrelated adults need to live in a house" and then make progressive solutions based on that.	2/20/2021 9:54 AM
120	What will the determination of a "bedroom" be? How will this be monitored and enforced?	2/20/2021 9:21 AM
121	Are unmarried couples unrelated?? How about step children? This change may be unnecessary simply by clarifying who "unrelated" is.	2/20/2021 8:26 AM
122	With affordability being the primary driver of increasing population density, lowering restrictions on land use is probably the most effective way of lowering costs. Additionally, allowing auxiliary structures on existing properties (micro houses/garage conversions, etc.) Could be another useful mechanism. This potentially would increase values in distressed areas where lot sizes can accommodate secondary structures and additional parking needs. There are building codes in place to help the process be safe. It would be the city's job to keep the PROCESS simple and affordable.	2/20/2021 7:56 AM
123	Once you start adjusting sound policy to compensate a changing market you leave yourself vulnerable to the negativity when the market corrects itself. Someone one that chose to live in a neighborhood that is R-L should not have to deal with the extra traffic, parked cars, noise and the culture change. These policies seem to be a good idea at first but they never get policed. This will be the start of creating blighted neighborhoods. Bad idea.	2/20/2021 6:56 AM
124	One bedroom should be counted as a couple, married or not.	2/20/2021 5:49 AM
125	This would devastate the value of single family homes - just when Greeley is poised to grow and be in the spotlight for doing well, let's please not ruin everything.	2/19/2021 7:16 PM
126	Do not change the current zoning that is in place. If the single family residentially zoned neighborhoods gets changed it will erode all of our values. You cannot enforce the homes that are in violation and don't seem to care. Do not erode or neighborhoods. Do you now remember how bad Farr and Hillside neighborhoods were before the city reinforced the codes.	2/19/2021 7:02 PM
127	Many people are now forced into cohabitation because of the cost associated with local housing prices.	2/19/2021 6:44 PM
128	Greeley is a college town and an oil town. Plus we have several hospitals. Many people stay in Greeley for part of the year or for different times throughout the year as a secondary residence. With the cost of living being so high many would be house poor without the ability to rent out extra rooms while they're away/that are unoccupied.	2/19/2021 6:22 PM

Were you aware that the City of Greeley Municipal Code limits the number of unrelated adults allowed to live in a single-family house in most areas of Greeley?

Yes

Do you think that the number of unrelated adults allowed to share a home should be increased from the existing standard of "You plus 1" (U+1)?

Yes +3 in low density or single-family homes. It's entirely possible for many unrelated parties to live together in an orderly, peaceful, clean manner. Address density concerns, noise violations, etc. another way, please.

Yes, I think as long as each person has a bedroom that should suffice. Housing is so expensive and it is about time City of Greeley does something about the problems and helps out young professionals contributing to the Greeley Community.
