Title:

Introduction and first reading of an ordinance amending portions of the Greeley Municipal Code, Title 22, Chapter 11 (Electrical Code) as it relates to adopting the 2020 edition of the National Electrical Code, one- and two-family dwellings, Type NM cable, central heating equipment, and auxiliary grounding of photovoltaic systems

Summary:

The National Electrical Code (NEC) is published, and the City adopts the NEC, on a three-year cycle. This cycle the adoption is quite direct, with three deletions of former deletions that were part of past amendments to the NEC. More simply, these three deletions reinstate the existing published NEC language in those Articles. The fourth amendment merely adds eight words to an existing amendment, to coincide with a new Article in the NEC.
