

Meg Williams Jamison
Executive Director
Southeast Sustainability Directors Network

Meg Jamison is the Executive Director of the Southeast Sustainability Directors Network, where she has worked since 2015 to promote sustainability in local government across a 10 state region in the Southeast U.S. Prior to SSDN, she directed the northern Arizona office of Local First Arizona, the largest local business coalition in the country. She has also worked with the internationally recognized urban economics firm, Urban3, coordinated the City of Austin's first Urban Agriculture Program, and served as research director with SCALE, Inc., focusing on rural economic development.

Meg has an undergraduate degree in Urban and Environmental Planning from University of Virginia and a master's degree in Geography from Appalachian State University.