Departmental Awards

- Duke Energy's Business Energy Excellence Award – This award celebrates a customer's significant impacts earned through strategic measures within Duke Energy's business energy efficiency programs. A core value of the utility is to be a steward of the environment while also lowering operational costs to maximize ratepayer funding. The utility received a $96,000 rebate from Duke Energy based on estimated energy saving upon completion of the Wastewater Treatment Facility Ultraviolet (UV) Disinfection project. The new UV equipment will reduce the utility's carbon footprint and lower future electric costs.

Devin Owen, Utilities Engineer, and Caitlyn Gendusa, City Sustainability Manager, receive the 2025 Business Energy Excellence Award at the March 6, 2025 City Council Meeting

- Ferguson Metering System of the Year - The utility received this award due to its water system's and metering system's resilience. The utility utilized the tools and technologies of its state-of-the-art metering system to overcome challenges experienced during the immediate aftermath of Hurricane Helene to quickly and efficiently restore water service to its customers.

Katie Bandurraga, Meter Services Supervisor, and Darren Allman, Inventory & Purchasing Coordinator, receive the Ferguson NC Metering System of the Year Award.

- NCGIS G. Herbert Stout Local Government Award – GIS Division. The award recognizes a city, town or county for a GIS application that benefits the organization by improving efficiency, reducing costs, and increasing productivity. The team received this award for its Water System Alert Status online application following Hurricane Helene that allowed water customers to enter their address for a concise determination of the water status at their homes. The online application received over 32,000 views over the first few days following the storm.

Members of the City's GIS Team and Water and Sewer Department receive the 2025 Herb Stout Local Government Award.
