A. Age-Friendly Community Action Plan – Matt Manley, AICP – Long-Range Planning Manager & Susan Enwright Hicks – MPA Western Carolina University

Matt Manley introduced Susan Enwright Hicks who is a recent graduate of the Public Affairs Program at Western Carolina University. She reached out to us to identify her Capstone Project to see what we might need help with. The morning that she called, I had just been on the phone with to AARP about putting together our action plan for our age-friendly community. Susan was very interested in helping us put that plan together so she is going to walk through a high-level presentation on how we've structured that plan and then we can talk about bringing it forward for final adoption.

Susan Enwright Hicks then gave the following PowerPoint presentation.

HENDERSONVILLE PARKS AND GREENSPACE MASTER PLAN

VISION STATEMENT:
"Hendersonville will have a park and greenspace system we love—with high-quality neighborhood parks accessible to all; connectivity between parks, open space and where people live and work; leadership in sustainable practices and preservation of the natural environment; destination parks and placemaking that promote local character, community vibrancy, safety and sense of place."

For More Information about Parks and Recreation see <https://www.hendersonvillenc.gov/parks>

People need public places to gather — indoors and out. Green spaces, seating and accessible buildings (elevators, zero-step entrances, staircases with railings) can be used and enjoyed by people of all ages. – AARP[®]

Hendersonville and Henderson County are home to many excellent park facilities that encourage recreation and socialization. Hendersonville has more than 99 acres dedicated to city-maintained parks. Additionally, Hendersonville has greenways such as the Oklawaha Greenway Trail[®] which begins near the Henderson County Parks & Recreation building in Jackson Park, and travels three and a quarter miles to Berkley Mills Park with

Matt thanked Susan for all of her work on the action plan and suggested to Council that we convene a group of stakeholders to go over what we have compiled, get their feedback and then bring back a final action plan to potentially be adopted by City Council sometime later this summer.

City Manager John Connet added that some of this can be inserted into the discussion as we look at the Whitmire Center and Patton Park area with the consultants as we look at bringing those two facilities back to life. Just make sure that the stakeholder group is plugged in to that process.

B. Historic Preservation Commission Awards & Annual Report – Sam Hayes, Planner II

Sam Hayes explained that some members of the Historic Preservation Commission (James Welter, Cheryl Jones and Ralph Hammond-Green) are here to give the awards this evening.

James Welter presented this award and explained that Homeowners Shawn and Evie Fuller received the residential award for their exceptional stewardship of the Fullbright House, also known as the Fuller House. Since moving into the home in 2016, the Fullers have beautifully preserved the outside and improved the landscaping while doing interior renovations to the bathroom and living space in 2022 and following Hurricane Helene. Beyond their preservation efforts, the Fullers have contributed significantly to the Hyman Heights neighborhood. Evie created a neighborhood chat used to coordinate support for neighbors and organizes a weekend brunch gathering for the neighborhood every 6-8 weeks which draws 30-40 people to build neighborhood connections. Shawn was instrumental in raising money to help restore trees on the greenway after storm damage. Their contributions exemplify the spirit of preservation and community building.

Residential Award – Fullbright House (Fuller House)

James Welter presented this award and explained that Andrew Riddle and Riddle Development were honored for the restoration of the King and Allen Building. The project demonstrated a deep respect for the buildings' historical features and contributed significantly to the vibrancy of downtown Hendersonville. Restoration efforts included opening the original windows facing Allen Street and refurbishing the terrazzo floors in the two retail spaces facing Allen. The team utilized exposed brick on interior walls, and the original staircase was retained with its original finish and handrail. The former boiler room was creatively reclaimed and transformed into office space, while a space known as 'History Hall' was created to celebrate the building's past. A new exterior mural was installed to add to the cultural vitality of downtown. In recognition of these efforts, the King and Allen Building received the BOMA (Building Owners and Managers Association) Award for Historical Adaptive Reuse in the Southeast in 2022.

Commercial Award – King and Allen Building

Cheryl Jones presented this award and said Crystal was passionate about what she did but was also so kind and generous of both her talents and her time, and we were honored to have her on the board for the period of time that we did. The Cultural Heritage Award honors exceptional individuals, organizations, and projects that celebrate the rich tapestry of Hendersonville history and cultural history. The award was established to posthumously honor Crystal Cauley, a Historic Preservation Commissioner and community leader who was passionate about telling the history of all communities in the City of Hendersonville. A few of Crystal Cauley’s friends were there to receive the award.

James Welter and Cheryl Jones gave the HPC Annual Report.

CITY OF HENDERSONVILLE STORMWATER MASTER PLAN UPDATE

City Council Meeting
May 28, 2025

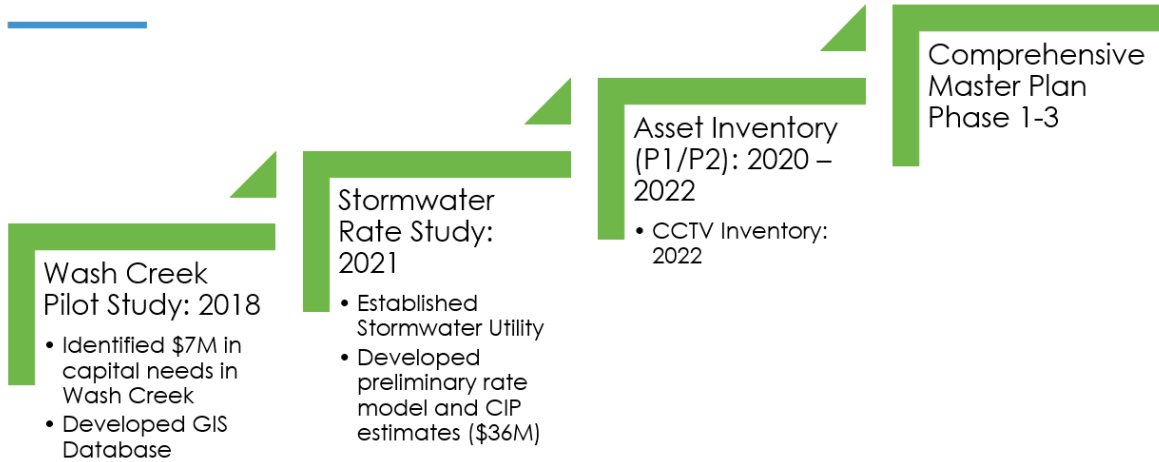

AGENDA

- Background
- Strategic Asset Management Plan
- Comprehensive Master Plan
- Project Examples
- Prioritization
- Next Steps

PROJECT BACKGROUND

STRATEGIC ASSET MANAGEMENT PLAN (SAMP)

Holistic evaluation of stormwater program

Identify development or enhancement needs along four primary dimensions

Infrastructure data management

Policy framework

Program planning and implementation

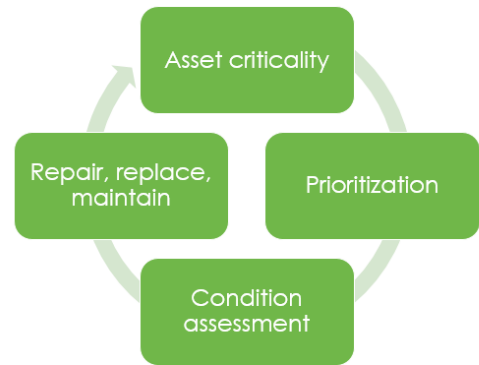

Asset criticality development

SAMP FINDINGS

Infrastructure data management	Policy framework
<ul style="list-style-type: none">•Robust database forms foundation of stormwater operations•Data maintenance including digital data submissions•Consistent and proactive condition assessment•Integrate with CityWorks	<ul style="list-style-type: none">•Develop and maintain databases to support Extent of Service (EOS) policies•Refine Level of Service (LOS) policies to provide further definition and develop key performance indicators (KPIs)•Typical industry standard LOS for infrastructure design is 10-year storm for closed pipe infrastructure and 25-year storm for most road culvert crossings

- Program planning
 - Comprehensive master planning with prioritized capital improvement plan
 - Supports internal and external funding requirements
- Asset criticality development
 - Leverages data from condition assessment and master planning
 - Evaluates likelihood and consequence of failure
 - Prioritizes short-term and long-term operations and maintenance strategies in a proactive manner

COMPREHENSIVE MASTER PLANNING

Consistently evaluate watersheds across City to support stormwater programs goals

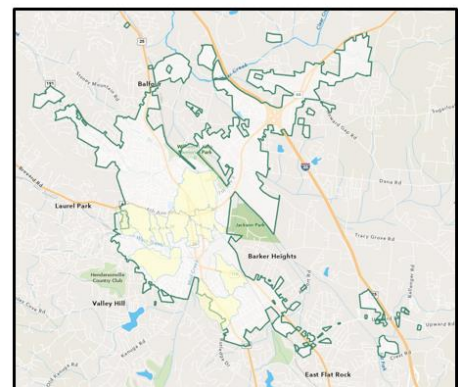

- Focus on infrastructure issues including lack of capacity and condition
- Reduce risk of localized flooding
- Enhance data to support future asset management and operations and maintenance

Develop processes that can be applied city wide

Prioritized capital improvement plan with cost estimates

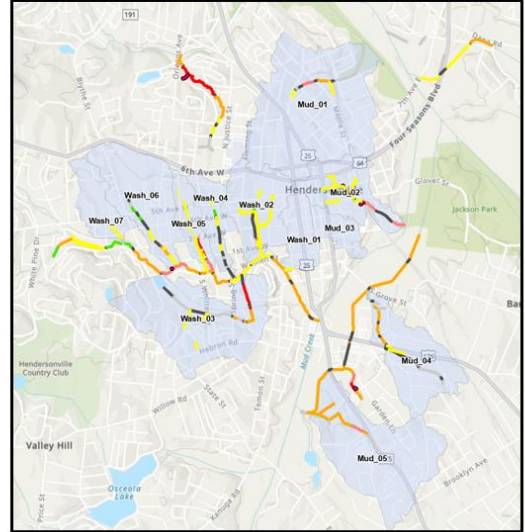

COMPREHENSIVE MASTER PLANNING

- Current phase funded by Local Assistance for Stormwater Infrastructure Investments (LASII)
- Focused on high criticality watersheds identified in SAMP and discussions with City Staff
 - Likelihood factors: known flooding problems, asset density, asset age, impervious area
 - Consequence factors: city roads, critical facilities, socioeconomic impacts, development density
- Target area is 1.6 square miles in developed areas of Mud Creek and Wash Creek watersheds

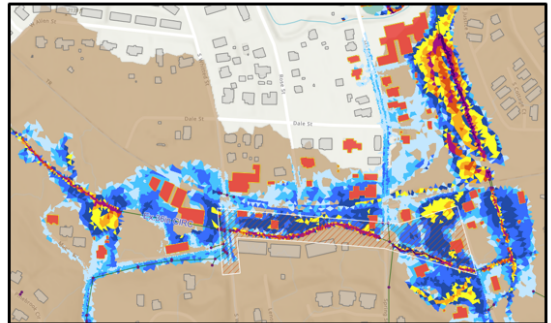

COMPREHENSIVE MASTER PLANNING

- Modeled 20 linear miles of drainage pipe and open system (streams, channels, etc.) to determine capacity of the system and property impacts from flood events
- Inundation areas mapped for each project area
- Stream assessments completed for approximately 9 miles of open channels to evaluate erosion potential and risk to structures, roadways, etc.

HYDRAULIC MODELING

- Hydraulic modeling evaluates the capacity of existing infrastructure and the location and depth of flooding if the runoff exceeds system capacity for a range of rainfall events
 - Rainfall events evaluated include 2-, 10-, 25-, 50-, and 100-yr events
 - Rainfall amounts range from 3.97 inches to 8.22 inches over a 24 hours period
- Evaluates flood risk by calculating the depth, duration, and frequency of flooding at locations along the system corridor

STREAM ASSESSMENTS

- Evaluated for erosion potential, threats to existing structures and roadways, and failing infrastructure including other utility lines
- Streams in study area heavily impacted by development
- Focus on stability and integration with infrastructure projects

STREAM ASSESSMENTS

ASSET CRITICALITY

- Evaluates likelihood and consequence of failure
- Likelihood highly related to age and condition of infrastructure and may be less dependent on flood risk
- Consequence highly related to impact on public safety and daily operations of City

ASSET CRITICALITY

CAPITAL PROJECTS

Capital projects identified for areas that have elevated flood risk during the 10-year storm event

Conceptual plans developed to reduce risk of flooding, convey runoff to public right-of-way where feasible and stabilize eroding streams

Proposed improvements modeled to evaluate project benefits for prioritization

CAPITAL PROJECTS

- Typical projects include
 - Replacing existing pipes with larger pipes
 - Repairing failing infrastructure
 - Relocating failing private infrastructure to the public right-of-way
 - Stream stabilization
- Planning level construction costs developed for all project

CAPITAL PROJECTS

Existing Conditions

Proposed Conditions

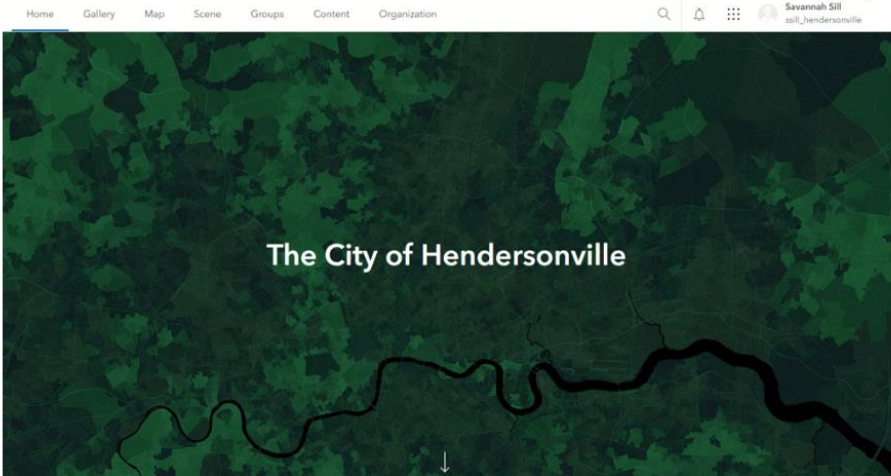

PROJECT PRIORITIZATION

- Public health and safety
- Severity of street flooding
- Cost-effectiveness
- Effect of improvements
- Implementation constraints
- Constructability
- Ownership

EXPERIENCE BUILDER SUMMARY

- Enhanced capabilities built in to allow for hands on access to the data analyzed
- Functionalities include ability to review data, analyze locations, filter on Level of service, review proposed projects

Leverage external funding if possible

Identify projects or portions of projects that City resources can complete

Identify priorities for stormwater bond

Condition assessment for high-criticality assets

Continue watershed planning process

Mike explained that although he has a priority list of projects,he cant say which ones are going to be funded yet as he has to get with the budget team and figure things out.

Mr. Connet explained that in prior years we increased the utility to where we’re trying to get to $9. This year we’ll increase it again which will be $8 so what we’ll do is come back to you and say do we sell revenue bonds on the revenue we’ve generated or do it as pay-as-you-go. So either we lump a bunch of projects together, sell revenue bonds, get a lump of cash and work on those projects and pay down the loan or just do one or two projects and pay cash. That will be policy decisions for Council.

Adam Murr added that in previous budget meetings we talked about a $7 million dollar revenue bond to fund Mike’s initial projects in his master plan. Next year, with these $32 million dollar projects identified, Mike will be going out for grants and funding opportunities that may be forgivable, may be zero interest and we’ll factor those into our models moving forward and if we need to adjust, we’ll bring rate recommendations and financial updates to Council on larger projects in the future.
