Subject: Trooper Jared Coyle #417 Flooded Patrol Car

Lt. Guill,

Tonight Manchester experienced heavy rains and severe flash flooding. Trooper Jared Coyle's patrol vehicle was parked on his street in front of his house. He was not home at the time of the weather which just moved through Manchester. Water rose very quickly on the side streets. His patrol vehicle sustained water all the way into his vehicle into the top of the floor boards. I stopped over to examine his patrol vehicle and water was pouring out into his garage floor. I placed my hand on the floor boards/mats front and back and the entire interior floor boards were water logged.

I would strongly recommend against this due to the amount of water that went into the vehicle. Over the next couple months you are likely going to start having random issues with this vehicle due to the electrical components that were submerged in the water will start to oxidize. Because the radar was taken out by water that means you likely had airbag components (connections that are not waterproof) that were submerged in water as well and are likely compromised. Service master would likely be able to remediate most of the smell and mold growth but would not be able to fix the electrical components nor can any of us predict when failure will occur.
