Please answer the following questions honestly and thoughtfully:

Why are you interested in participating in this youth leadership program? *

I'm interested because even though I live in a neighboring city I spend just as much time in Jonesboro as I do Riverdale, and while it is not my city it means just as much to me as my own city does.

What specific skills or qualities do you have that you believe make you a successful leader? *

I practice authentic dialogue which is good for conflict resolution and a good skill to have in general. Because I'm homeschooled I have worked with many different groups of youth.

What are your short and long - term goals? How do you see this program will help you reach these goals? *

My short term goals are to use this opportunity to help kids learn simple things that will help the youth be better. My long term goals are to use this program to learn about our local government so that when the time comes i'll be prepared too run for something that will help not only my city but surrounding cities as well.

What do you believe are the most pressing issues or challenges facing young people today? What do you plan to do about it? *

I believe that our generation is corrupted by the fact that too many kids are getting online rather than making friends in real life and they are getting put in dangerous situations online.

If we can have more activities for children specifically, I feel we can take control of the situation.

I also think that kids today don't know what to do because our parents are too busy working hard to provide, so I'd like to help by sharing my knowledge even if it's just a little bit.
