Greetings! Thank you for your interest in The Weld Trust's 2022 Annual Report. What an exciting and impactful year we had! Our organization awarded over $12.8 million in grants toward health and education programs to 82 nonprofits and schools to support Weld County residents.

The Weld Trust has been providing community grants since its inception in 1984, previously known as NCMC, Inc. Following the sale of North Colorado Medical Center and related assets in 2019, we became a health conversion foundation and the name was changed to The Weld Trust.

As The Weld Trust, we adopted a mission statement, "To promote excellence in health and education in Weld County." Grants are awarded to nonprofit organizations, schools, and government entities located in Weld County or programs exclusively for Weld County residents.

Guided by our mission statement and the strategic plan established in 2021, the Board of Directors identified seven key initiatives within health and education as the funding priorities. In 2022, we developed a more detailed framework (which we refer to as logic models) for each of the seven initiatives to better articulate the program areas we aim to support. Each of these logic models are available for review on our website. There are three funding cycles per year for each of the seven funding initiatives.

In addition to the key funding initiatives, The Weld Trust offers Flagship grants which are usually larger grants focused on capital needs. There are currently several ideas being discussed for projects across Weld County.

Since inception nearly forty years ago, our organization has awarded over $45 million in grants. In this next year, The Weld Trust's grantmaking will surpass $50 million. We look forward to sharing this milestone with you.

Finally, thank you to all the nonprofits and schools who provide the programs and projects we support. Our goals could not be accomplished without their dedication and hard work. Together, we are working to create a healthier and more educated Weld County.

Kind regards,

Jeff Carlson
Chief Executive Officer

In 2023, The Weld Trust's all-time grantmaking will surpass $50 million.

The Weld Trust

Total Giving in 2022

$12,801,695

Grants:

$12,287,495

$6,777,570 for Seven Key Funding Initiatives

The Weld Trust has seven Key Funding Initiatives (KFI) as their areas of focus for the health and education grants.

In 2022, there were 89 KFI grants awarded across Weld County totaling $6,777,750.

$5,000,000 for uninsured and underinsured healthcare

The Weld Trust granted $5,000,000 to Banner Health's North Colorado Medical Center for the care of uninsured and underinsured consumers.

$509,925 for Sponsorships, Rapid Response, and Discretionary Grants

In addition to the Key Funding Initiatives grants, The Weld Trust also awards grants for event sponsorships and rapid response needs, as well as periodic discretionary grants.

In-Kind Donation:

$514,200

$514,200 in-kind donation

The Weld Trust owns a portion of the land and building that Sunrise Community Health occupies in Evans. Each year, The Weld Trust donates the use of this 60,000 square foot facility to Sunrise Community Health to provide affordable access to high-quality healthcare for Weld County residents.

THE WELD TRUST Flagship Grant

The Weld Trust recognizes that there are community projects which require higher levels of funding, but will have wide-reaching impact on Weld County communities. To accommodate this need, the Flagship Grant program was implemented. These grants are typically larger, often but not always capital in nature, and target long-term and significant community impact.

The first ever Flagship Grant was awarded to the Boys & Girls Club of Weld County. This grant will support the renovation of the former Warnoco Roller Skating Rink in Greeley into a new Teen Center. The total cost of the project is estimated to be $6.5 million. The Weld Trust provided a $1.5 million award comprised of an $800,000 grant plus a $700,000 forgivable loan over four years.

The Boys & Girls Club had already raised over 30% of the total capital outlay in donations prior to applying for the Flagship Grant.

The new Teen Center is scheduled to be completed in late spring 2024 and expects to serve approximately 100 teens per day. The organization will provide after-school programming during the school year and will be open all day in the summertime.

At the Teen Center, they will provide advancement programs to better prepare youth directly for the workforce after high school or continuing their education. It will also provide life skills programs as well as space for recreation.

The Boys & Girls Club has approximately $2.95 million left to raise for the Teen Center. To donate to this project, or learn more, use the QR code.

Access to Resources Grants: $1,400,000

Why Access to Resources?

- In 2020, a Colorado Department of Education study found that 7,136 students in the Colorado North Central Region, including Weld County, lack a Wi-Fi enabled device and 4,547 students lack access to internet at home.<sup>1</sup>
- In 2022, Colorado students received the lowest scores in over a decade on the National Assessment of Educational Progress "the nation's report card" with Hispanic students experiencing the most significant decline.<sup>2</sup>

Helping young people improve their access to high-quality programs and activities provides opportunities for them to reach their full potential.

In 2022, The Weld Trust provided nine grants in the Access to Resources initiative to nine organizations.

Access to Resources: $1,400,000

The Weld Trust grants were awarded to programs offering Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math (STEM) activities to promote 21st Century skills. They also provided grants to support academic, social and development skills, tutoring, mentoring, leadership, transportation, sports, and basic needs.

|                                     |           |
|-------------------------------------|-----------|
| Fees, Technology and Basic Supports | $202,750 |
| K-12 In-School Services             | $185,250 |

| Tutoring/Mentoring                  | $18,500  |

The grant from The Weld Trust contributed significantly to the Assistance League of Greeley's Warm Up Weld County Program. The program purchased a total of 3,089 bedding items for 14 schools/school districts across Weld County and 15 nonprofit partners. This program ensures that students and their families have new, clean bedding and blankets for their home or living situation.

Childhood Literacy Grants: $1,254,206

Why Childhood Literacy?

- In the 2021- 2022 school year, five school districts in Weld County had overall significant reading deficiencies (SRD) equal to or higher than the state average (21.3%).<sup>1</sup>
- Seven of the ten school districts in Weld County that reported information have higher SRD rates than the state in at least one grade level K-3.<sup>1</sup>

Learning to read is a critical component of future academic and life success. The longer children struggle with reading, the further they fall behind their peers.

Last year, The Weld Trust awarded 17 grants to 12 organizations in the Childhood Literacy initiative.

Childhood Literacy Grants: $1,254,206

The Weld Trust grants supported programs to increase kindergarten readiness, purchase curriculum, provide skills training for educators, as well as tutoring for children. The grants were also awarded for programs designed to support families with quality information about the importance of literacy.

|   |           |
|---|-----------|
| Skills Development/Training Programs/Professional Development | $230,210 |
| Parent Programs and Education on Literacy                     | $421,141 |
| Out of School Time (OST) Programs                             | $112,500 |
| Early Childhood Education (ECE) Programs                      | $339,355 |
| Curriculum Development  | $151,000 |

Success Foundation Serving Greeley-Evans Schools

The Weld Trust grant is supporting two Colorado Reading to Ensure Academic Development (READ) Act Specialists for two years. READ Act Specialists provide critical intervention services to ensure children are reading at grade level by the time they enter the fourth grade.

"Reach Out and Read books have helped our families bond and develop our patients communication and brain development. Our books have become the ultimate favorite part of the whole well care visit. Patient and parents are very thankful and excited when receiving a book. It makes their visit more enjoyable."

Workforce Development Grants: $992,359

Why Workforce Development?

- The average annual wage per employee in Weld County in 2022 was $60,586 versus $68,132 in the nation.<sup>1</sup>
- In 2020, nine industries in Weld County were identified as "expected to grow" by at least 10% or more over the next five years and will need a workforce with necessary skillsets to fill those jobs.<sup>2</sup>

A workforce which allows individuals to thrive both economically and personally is vitally important for a stable, prospering community.

In 2022, The Weld Trust awarded 17 Workforce Development grants to 16 organizations.

Sunrise Community Health

The Weld Trust grant will allow them to renovate an existing space into a room dedicated solely to training, professional development, and future workforce programs. This training space is expected to serve 20-25 Medical and Dental Assistants annually and will serve as a professional development site for other Sunrise staff members.

Behavioral Health Grants: $1,263,367

Why Behavioral Health?

- In 2020, 1 in 5 U.S. adults experienced a mental illness and 17% of youth (ages 6-17) experienced a mental health disorder.<sup>1,2</sup>
- Only one-half of Weld County residents in 2019 who reported a need for mental health services sought out treatment.<sup>3</sup>
- In 2019, the suicide rate for male residents in Weld County was four times higher compared to female residents.<sup>3</sup>

Promoting well-being, preventing substance abuse, and increasing access to care allow Weld County residents the opportunity to live to their fullest health potential.

In 2022, The Weld Trust awarded 19 grants in the Behavioral Health initiative to 16 organizations.

Aims Community College

The Weld Trust grant provided 250 sessions of tele-therapy for Aims students to manage issues including anxiety, depression, stress management, grief and loss, relationship difficulties, life transitions, and coping strategies.

North Range Behavioral Health (NRBH)

The grant awarded by The Weld Trust supported NRBH with expanding their behavioral health services for the community to ensure the best possible clinical experiences of their clientele.

Centennial Area Health Education Center

The Weld Trust grant will help CAHEC create an interactive display to help build empathy and understanding as well as remove the stigma around mental health.

Housing Stability Grants: $1,061,330

Why Housing Stability?

- In 2019, almost 80% of Weld County residents at or below 100% of the federal poverty level reported being stressed about paying their rent or mortgage.<sup>1</sup>
- Throughout Weld County in 2019, one in six households temporarily housed family or friends who were unable to maintain their current housing.<sup>1</sup>

Supporting stable, adequate housing and increasing affordable housing yields a multitude of opportunities for children, youth, and adults.

Last year, The Weld Trust awarded 13 grants in the Housing Stability initiative to 12 organizations.

United Way of Weld County

The Weld Trust grant supports the Housing Navigation Center in a new location. Its November to April seasonal cold weather shelter provides up to 60 guests each night with a warm meal and a place to sleep. Throughout the year Navigators assist guests with holistic, person-centered support for helping those experiencing homelessness to regain and maintain housing.

Food Security Grants: $419,053

Why Food Security?

- Individuals who do not have consistent access to enough food are considered food insecure. In 2019, approximately 15% of Weld County residents reported being usually or always worried about having sufficient money to purchase nutritious foods.<sup>1</sup>
- In 2019, Weld County residents living at or below 100% of the federal poverty level report four times more often than residents living above the poverty level as not having enough money to buy nutritious meals.<sup>1</sup>

Ending food insecurity for all residents is essential for a healthier Weld County.

Last year, The Weld Trust awarded seven grants in the Food Security initiative to six organizations.

| Food Access and Distribution | $392,386 |

Our food pantry was open this morning and the line was out the door. I noticed a father and his young son who I had never seen before. I learned that the gentleman was a single father of 3 boys. He said he works full-time and had recently started a second part-time job. He's now caring for his elderly parents who are on a fixed income and are struggling with the increased costs of food and medications. As a result, he just doesn't have enough income to support both households. When he received the food he was so grateful and thanked me profusely. He said without this help he would have to make some tough choices between his children and his parents. Thank you for all the food you've given us so we can help folks like him!

Meals on Wheels

The Weld Trust grant supported 1,200 meals served to vulnerable populations due to age, disability and/or illness.

Healthy Habits Grants: $387,255

Why Healthy Habits?

- Nearly 70% of Weld County residents in 2019 reported being overweight or obese.<sup>1</sup>
- In 2019, only 27% of Weld County residents met the daily recommendation for fruit and vegetable consumption, while 73% did not.

Healthy habits are foundational toward protecting individuals from potential serious health problems in the future.

In 2022, The Weld Trust awarded seven grants in the Healthy Habits initiative to six organizations.

Genesis Project

The Weld Trust grant supported 25 single moms with:

- Healthy Relationship Education
- Holistic Health
- Economic Sustainability
- Life skills
- Use of Community Resources

| Healthy Behaviors | $78,282  |

University of Northern Colorado Cancer Rehabilitation Institute (UNCCRI) delivers clinical care rehabilitation services to cancer survivors in the region in a way that local health care providers tell us is critical to their successful treatment. One need only to look at the extensive list of oncologists and primary care physicians who regularly refer patients to see the broad support and confidence the institute receives from the medical community. Thank you for The Weld Trust grant to support the vital services of UNCCRI!

Allie Steg Haskett, University of Northern Colorado

Azteca Boxing Club

The Weld Trust grant provides 50-60 at-risk youth with safe after-school activity, positive role models, and mentorship.

Rapid Response Grants:

$84,710

The Weld Trust provides grants up to $25,000 for emergent health or safety issues to Weld County nonprofit organizations, schools, and government agencies. The grants in 2022 helped with critical facility needs for several nonprofits to ensure they could continue providing the services they offer to their clientele.

Event Sponsorships:

$216,303

In 2022, The Weld Trust sponsored 40 events to 31 Weld County nonprofits and schools. The organizations must provide services in health or education as part of The Weld Trust's mission. These fundraising events help the organizations raise essential monies to assist with their operational costs.

The event sponsorships were awarded to:

Values of The Weld Trust

Accountability | Integrity | Sustainability | Effectiveness |
Compassion | Humility | Responsibility

At The Weld Trust we aspire to embody our values inside the organization and out in the community. We strive to have integrity in every interaction. We have a responsibility to work hard and communicate clearly with our grant partners, our Board, and each other. We will aim to embrace compassion and humility in all that we do. We will measure effectiveness with our grant partners to ensure we are being good stewards of The Weld Trust's funds. We are accountable to the residents of Weld County to focus on improving their lives in the areas of health and education by funding long-lasting sustainable programs.
