Juneau Commission On Aging

Part of a national, state and municipal system

- National Council on Aging
- Alaska Commission on Aging

Our mandate is to advise the Juneau City and Borough Assembly on actions and policies to improve the quality of life for seniors (aging residents).

JCOA is CBJ specific but many benefits in Juneau frequently extend to the entire region.

Priority: Creating Age Friendly Community

Develop an action plan specific to Juneau using the well- established AARP model of Age Friendly Community Planning emphasizing the benefits of keeping seniors in the community

- Examples from what we heard from surveys – seniors want:
 - Age Friendly housing options - congregate housing is last resort
 - Accessible housing that allows aging with minimal assistance
 - Housing that is minimalistic yet functional (Tiny Houses, congregate communities)
 - NOTE: Seniors will move from bigger homes if options are available opening up housing
 - More recreational and social activities emphasizing health
 - Recognition that seniors are healthier and living longer than in the past and need access to age friendly activities (pickleball, walking, hiking, skiing added to survey this year!)
 - Development of a Senior Center that is comprehensive: shared meals (Italian/ Mexican/ Asian food “nights”), learning and training opportunities, affordable social activities and recreation. “Zach Gordon Center for Seniors”

PROGRAMS AND SERVICES

Question 22: Which Services Do You Need NOW but Are Not Able to Get in Juneau? (Select All That Apply)

This is a new question for the 2020 survey. Overall, 76 percent of respondents did not now need any of the services listed, and another 10 percent reported they get all the services they need in Juneau. Although all service options received low percentages, specialty medical was the most often selected service to be needed now but unavailable in Juneau. When separated by age group, there was a decreasing percentage of respondents who did not need any of these services, from 83 percent to 61 percent, with increasing age cohort. In other words, the percentage of respondents who got all the services they need in Juneau decreased as age increased.
