wcole@axley.com • 608.283.6766

Attorney William S. Cole is a partner managing the firm's municipal group, with over 30 years of experience in municipal law, real estate law and civil litigation.

Over the course of his career, Attorney Cole has worked in both the private and public sectors, handling all legal matters for various municipalities across Wisconsin. Currently, he represents over 30 municipal entities; serving as city attorney for the cities of Monona, Platteville and Waterloo; village attorney for the villages of Windsor, Black Earth, Maple Bluff, Mazomanie, Prairie du Sac, and Warrens; and legal counsel to numerous towns, fire districts, sewerage districts and redevelopment entities. Attorney Cole has particular expertise in the areas of tax incremental financing, condemnation, public bidding, and liquor licensing matters. Attorney Cole's recent municipal work includes:

- Successfully concluded numerous multi-million dollar municipal development projects through all stages; including land acquisition, condemnation, negotiation of development agreements, environmental remediation, relocation of displaced persons, financing, and construction.
- Drafting and implementation of what has been reported to be the first agreement in Wisconsin for the purchase of solar energy by a municipality from a private non-utility.
- Drafting and implementation of what has been reported to be one of the first anti-bullying ordinances in the nation.
- Advising a community regarding the abatement of a nuisance industry and successfully defending same through the Court of Appeals.
- Advising a community regarding the revocation of the liquor license of a nuisance entertainment venue and successfully defending same in court.
- Successfully defending on behalf of a community through the Court of Appeals the tax assessment of an urban property owner contending their parcel qualified for assessment as an agricultural use.
- Advising and litigating on behalf of a state-wide association regarding public bidding and prevailing wage requirements.

Robert Procter is a partner in the firm licensed to practice in the states of Wisconsin and Illinois. He primarily represents businesses in real estate and construction, distribution, and insurance agency law. Robert is invested in long-term client relations preferring to enter into flat fee and retainer arrangements that reflect the true value of his work rather than the length of a phone call or the number of emails he can send.

Real Estate Law: Robert represents developers and contractors in all aspects of real estate and construction law including land use approvals, tax increment financing, construction and permitting. Robert is the outside general counsel for the Wisconsin Builders Association and the Government Affairs Director for the Realtors® Association of South Central Wisconsin. Robert is a licensed lobbyist, and regularly advocates on behalf of his clients on land use, construction and real estate legislation.

Distribution: Robert represents businesses in all aspects of dealership/distribution law including distribution agreements and networks, dealer terminations, product recalls and regulatory compliance and litigation. Robert has significant experience representing businesses subject to the Wisconsin Fair Dealership Law.

Insurance Agency Law: Robert has literally grown up in an insurance agency. He comes from a family that has owned and operated an insurance agency located in South Milwaukee, Wisconsin since 1943. It is the Procter Insurance Agency, currently operated by his brother, Christopher Procter, formerly operated by his father, Robert C. Procter, Jr., and started by his grandfather Robert C. Procter, Sr. Robert's other brother Phillip J. Procter is currently an insurance agent at M3, and only his sister Alessandra has escaped the insurance industry. The Procter family has been involved in the business of insurance for many, many years; and Robert has a breadth of knowledge and experience including more than a decade of training with Attorney Tim Fenner, the "Godfather" of Insurance Agency Law.

Robert is married, a proud father of four spirited children, has a dry sense of humor that most find not funny, and prides himself on being able to manufacture an analogy to fit any circumstance.
