- Fall Festival

Lansing's Fall Festival is on October 19th! Join the City (and library staff!) for crafts, games, costume contests, and more!

We learned in August that Lansing has tons of Olympic Readers! Over over 70 readers earned more than 80 bronze, silver, and gold medals during the Summer Reading Olympics! We'll host more reading programs later this year, so stay tuned.

Retired US Army Colonel Kevin C.M. Benson will be discussing his latest book. Benson will be here on Tuesday, September 10th at 6:00 PM to talk about "Expectation of Valor: Planning the Iraq War" and his experiences during this time. Register through our online calendar at lansingsks.org/library.

Have you heard of Talking Books, a service provided by the Kansas State Library for Kansans who have difficulty reading due to permanent or temporary visual impairment? Stop by the library on September 23rd from 1:00 PM - 3:00 PM to learn more from State Library staff about who is eligible and how to use the service.

Preschool Play is on September 7th! Kids ages 5 and under will dig their hands into sensory play with kinetic sand and enjoy a mini-Storytime with Ms. Cameron. Registration is required.
