

Scott Hicks is proposing to tear down an existing Quonset hut storage structure and replace it with a new pole barn structure. The existing building is in bad repair, including significant deterioration of supporting roof framing. An area variance is requested to allow new supporting poles to bear on undisturbed soil immediately outside of the existing structure.