FW: Funding for community-based nonprofit organizations

Caution! This message was sent from outside your organization.

Here's a grant I'm hoping the city can and will apply for. I THINK that municipalities are eligible, although I don't see that explicitly stated. The minimum grant for a 3-year urban forestry project is $100,000. That would pay for a lot of trees, with the labor to plant them and get them established. With this ongoing heat wave—the thermometer here reached 106 degrees last week—I am more and more concerned about Lebanon's meager tree canopy.

ARBOR DAY FOUNDATION FUNDING OPPORTUNITY

Grow resilience in your community with Community Roots Program funding

Right now, Community Roots Program funding is available to community-based nonprofit organizations to help support urban forestry projects in underserved and often overlooked communities.

The Arbor Day Foundation's Community Roots Program is made possible through the USDA Forest Service and Community Forestry program with Inflation Reduction Act (IRA) funding. This allows the Arbor Day Foundation to connect approved nonprofit organizations to funding resources, a peer network that provides guidance and encouragement, and other learning opportunities.

To bring your urban forestry project to life, visit our Request for Application (RFA) page where you can start the application process, find valuable information, and receive support every step of the way.

Request for Application page is officially open

START APPLICATION

Application deadline is August 12

This is the moment for community-based nonprofit organizations to improve the health and resilience of their communities through projects like planting urban orchards that bring neighbors together to gather and tighten bonds. Shady spots that provide relief from the scorching sun. Education and hands-on experiences that engage communities and provide them with beneficial skills.

Applications are accepted today July 12 to August 12 on our Request for Application page. If you have additional questions, please email grants@arborday.org. Please forward this email to others who would benefit from this opportunity.

We're ready to help you grow impact for those who need it most.
