RE: RFP #2024_003 DISASTER DEBRIS REMOVAL AND DISPOSAL SERVICES

Dear Sir or Madam:

Southern Disaster Recovery (SDR) is a national disaster debris removal company founded to deliver world class disaster response and recovery services. Our core principles of Safety, Quality, Production and Customer Service are reinforced in our culture and guide how we perform disaster response and recovery debris removal.

SDR's experience benefits Levy County in recovery from major disaster. SDR personnel have over 180 years combined experience in disaster recovery and debris management. Two of our leadership team are former Florida County Emergency Management Directors with direct responsibility for their community's success in disaster recovery including management and administration of the FEMA Public Assistance Grant program. With our management staff and safety officers, equipment assets of over $20 million, and annual sales exceeding $40 million, we are large enough to manage multiple contracts simultaneously, without sacrificing the hands-on attention required by your community's unique situations. In the past twelve years, SDR has safely and successfully completed over 135 disaster debris contracts. Our Experience and Past Performance section illustrates our past success and capacity to perform large projects.

Disaster debris removal for counties requires a number of subject matter experts to address all the disaster impacts to communities. SDR's subject matter experts are organized to provide the professional service that Levy County would need in a time of disaster. We are (former) Public Works Directors, Solid Waste Managers, Emergency Management Directors as well as Professional Engineers, Arborists, Accountants and Data Managers. We apply all our expertise to your benefit in disaster debris removal. Our experience in rapid response, managing hundreds of pieces of equipment (and personnel) and adhering to contractual and federal funding requirements are standards in our service delivery. The Organization and Personnel section of this proposal provides greater detail on our technical diversity. References and Letters of Recommendation identify the quality of our work.

Levy County will benefit from SDR's use of Incident Command System (ICS) principles to organize and accomplish our post disaster work. Features of this system include proper staffing (and equipment) for the work with a manageable span of control; daily action planning to enhances coordination and public information and a focus on quality and adherence to contractual and FEMA Public Assistance Grant requirements. Our Proposed Solutions section of this proposal organizes our approach to serve Levy County in disaster debris removal.

We are very competitive in our pricing and cost conscious as we go about our work. We are registered to do business in the State of Florida. Our responsiveness, competitive pricing, industry expertise and experience, along with our community minded approach provide best value to Levy County's disaster readiness, response and recovery.

General-

Pride Contracting is a certified woman owned North Carolina based General Contractor. As you consider working with our firm, we would like to have the opportunity to give you some ideas as to how our services will be of benefit to you.

Pride's strength lies in its personnel's and subcontractor's experience gained over the course of two decades of full-time service to private, local, state, and federal agencies. The firm has positioned itself to become a valued partner to Southern Disaster Recovery. As the nation has become more dependent on private contractors to supply its need for tangible goods and services, Pride is poised to meet those needs with a hands-on approach.

Pride does not sell products; rather it sells its services to clients with a need for those services. What we provide is a value-added range of Rail Line, Natural/Manmade Disaster and Tree Care services at a fair price.

Pride epitomizes the American success story. The struggle to succeed never ends, nor does its rewards. From humble beginnings, the Byrd family began its journey executing debris management projects following natural disasters. In the aftermath of Hurricane Fran in 1996, the Byrd's traveled to North Carolina to learn the debris management business from their father. And learn they did. Debris management projects encompass virtually all aspects of the construction business; Site work, operating of heavy equipment, planning, scheduling, material purchasing and control, accounting, contract law, quality control, personnel management, budgeting and finance, safety, and trucking are examples of the operations that must be mastered to properly execute debris management projects. Using the same methodology, Pride has evolved to compete on every level.

As you will observe below, our Past Performance Listing demonstrates the valuable diversity that our firm can bring to the table. The following is a profile of what we do, how we do it, and what we offer to you.

To accommodate its own assets, Pride has established relationships with the nation's largest equipment leasing suppliers. Depending upon the project specifications, Pride has the ability to begin each project on time using the equipment required to execute each phase of the job(s).

Pride has financial resources in place in order to secure any required equipment financing. We will never take on a project that we feel that we cannot handle, nor will we overstep the limits of our financial resources.

Pride maintains required adequate insurance including General Liability, Workers Comp, and Comprehensive Auto Liability.

SUBCONTRACTOR PROTOCOL

MBE | WBE | DBE | Local Participation

Southern Disaster Recovery (SDR) is committed to the localities we serve and pledge to further assist in their recovery by offering subcontracting opportunities to local contractors. To ensure we have the labor resources needed, we will reach out to other subcontractors who have previously worked for us if local resources are inadequate. Depending on the size of the project SDR may subcontract up to sixty percent of the debris operations.

Our highest priority is to provide the necessary resources for your entity's full physical and economic recovery.

SDR will enlist the services of subcontractors that have been carefully vetted. SDR subcontractors:

- ✓ Meet federal and contract standards of safety
- ✓ Are experience and highly skilled
- ✓ Have all necessary liability and workers compensation insurances
- ✓ Adhere to our strict safety and drug-free work zone policies

SDR contractors are our responsibility. All management, bonding, funding, safety compliance, and documentation of subcontractors are handled by SDR's administrative staff. We utilize a comprehensive subcontractor agreement, which must be signed and on file in our office before any subcontractor begins operations on a debris removal project. That mutual agreement subordinates the subcontractor to the entity's contract with SDR.

MBE | WBE | DBE | Local Participation

While we have a large fleet of debris removal equipment, we strive to use local, minority businesses, women's business enterprises, and labor surplus area firms are used when possible whenever possible. Upon award of a disaster debris removal contract, SDR will advertise locally announcing the opportunity for area contractors to join our efforts as a viable subcontractor. Respondents then begin SDR's vetting and training process.

SDR takes all necessary affirmative steps to assure that minority businesses, women's business enterprises, and labor surplus area firms are used when possible.

- 1) Placing qualified small and minority businesses and women's business enterprises on solicitation lists.
- 2) Assuring that small and minority businesses, and women's business enterprises are solicited whenever they are potential sources.
- 3) Dividing total requirements, when economically feasible, into smaller tasks or quantities to permit maximum participation by small and minority businesses, and women's business enterprises.
- 4) Establishing delivery schedules, where the requirement permits, which encourage participation by small and minority businesses, and women's business enterprises.

- 5) Using the services and assistance, as appropriate, of such organizations as the Small Business Administration and the Minority Business Development Agency of the Department of Commerce; and
- 6) Requiring the prime contractor, if subcontracts are to be let, to take the affirmative steps listed in paragraphs (1) through (5) of this section.

The involvement of the entire community is crucial to the full economic and social recovery from a disaster situation. To the that end, we encourage all subcontractors in our employ to patronize and support other local businesses to further strengthen and revitalize the area throughout recovery operations.

Your satisfaction with SDR depends largely upon our subcontractors' performance. To ensure efficient and seamless operations, SDR provides:

- ✓ Quality control
- ✓ Teaming efforts with the monitoring firm
- ✓ Clear and frequent communication to ensure satisfactory outcomes

To Whom It May Concern:

SDR's 2023 Reviewed Financial statements are available upon request.

During its twelve-year history, SDR has maintained all deposit accounts and loan obligations with no exceptions. SDR has established a strong relationship with HomeTrust Bank and has partnered with Disaster Relief Strategies to provide a high level of financing for project needs.

SDR has the financial strength to mobilize, manage, sustain, and finance multimillion-dollar projects without interference or a slow-down in the work. In fact, due to SDR's financial strength and strong banking relationships, in 2021 SDR funded a disaster debris removal project exceeding $18 million for over 275 days before any progress payments were received. During this time SDR's crews worked until the project was complete with no interruption to the debris removal efforts, and SDR paid all its financial obligations on time.

SDR has the financial capacity to respond to a disaster debris removal project of any size.

Sincerely,
