Port53 Technologies Software License Agreement

Renewal Term: all Software Subscription Term(s) shall automatically renew for an additional term equal to the Contract Length noted above, unless either party gives the other written notice of non-renewal at least 90 days before the end of the then-current Software Subscription Term. Notwithstanding properly noticed non-renewal, the Client acknowledges the Software Subscription Term(s) cannot be terminated because Port53 Technologies must advance all fees on behalf of Client for the Software that is subject to the Software Subscription(s). Upon renewal, software subscriptions are subject to inflation related price adjustments not to exceed 8% on any renewal term.

No Warranties: the Software Subscription offered in this Quote is provided without any warranty, express or implied, and is being offered "as is." The Client must assess the compatibility and suitability of the Software Subscription(s) for their specific needs and requirements before proceeding with this Quote.

Disputes: Any legal action arising from this Quote shall be administered by the American Arbitration Association and the prevailing party shall be entitled to recover their attorneys' fees and costs from the other party.
