

To whom it may concern,

La Fogada Meat Market is having controversial issues with the city of Manor involving Skill games located next to the church of God. I happen to be the Pastor at the Word of God Church, Pastor Orocio. Mr. Duc Lu, the owner of the store, has explained his situation and it is to my dismay that the city of Manor is having issues with the machines being in the convenience store. Mr. Duc Lu has been the neighbor to our church for over 16 years, during this time they have been a stellar person to this church. We have always been very cordial with each other, never any type of problems. After speaking with Mr. Lu, it is my belief that the skill games are keeping the store functioning. If they were to go out of business, many parishioners will lose their favorite spot to get any food and snacks before and after any church event. Their machines are not affecting the church in any negative way. At this time, I would like the city of Manor to approve Mr. Duc Lu the ability to operate his skill machines.

Thank you,
Pastor Orocio
