Hi, Sharon,

We are excited to share that the City of Marshall's application to the Empowering Small Minnesota Communities program has been selected to move forward to the next phase of the process. This means that our team is currently exploring University of Minnesota resources that are an appropriate match for the needs and opportunities you described in your application.

We are very hopeful to be able to work with every applicant who has reached this phase of the process. Please know that no projects are fully approved until after this step is complete, however, and it is possible that some projects may not be able to move forward.

Please watch for communication from me again in February about next steps. Nothing more is needed from you at this stage unless you hear from me (or another team member) with specific questions or requests.

Thanks once again for your leadership in your community. Please be in touch if you have questions in the meantime, and I look forward to reaching out again soon.

All the best,
Anne
