Heather,

I apparently missed this investigation being completed in late May. This is for the requested crosswalk on Lost Rapids:

Received results of pedestrian study.

700-900: 15 pedestrians crossing Lost Rapids, 8 of these were kids at 8:35 prior to bus arrival.

1100-100: 7 pedestrians crossing Lost Rapids

400-800: 10 pedestrians crossing Lost Rapids, extensive on street parking in the bike lane

There is moderate pedestrian usage but none close to the 20 in one hour range that we look for. There are plenty of gaps at this location and I do not see a huge factor that would lend to striping a crosswalk at this time. Recommend no action. JMH

While there is some observed pedestrian activity, this location does not meet the minimum threshold to be considered for marked crosswalk installation at this time. As land uses change, we can reconsider installation.

Approved. (JES)
