The purpose of these provisions is to promote harmonious, functional relationships among the various elements within any development such as the location of activities, vehicular and pedestrian circulation systems, and visual form to insure physical, social, and economic compatibility with neighboring developments and conditions, as well as with the community at large and to prevent detrimental impacts to the natural environment on and off the site by providing for review and evaluation of site plans for all developments of the types listed in this section and elsewhere in this chapter. Although certain minimum standards are prescribed by specific provisions of this section, site plan review will permit maximum flexibility in evaluating each plan on its merits and encourage variety and innovation within the intent and purpose specified for each zoning district while insuring privacy and safety on all levels.

- (b) Applicability. The procedures and standards established in this section for site plan review shall be applicable to the following:
- (1) The uses identified in article V as requiring site plan review.
  - (2) All uses within the site plan review overlay district as identified on the official zoning map, which are not otherwise subject to review by the city commission or the board of adjustment.

- Failure to take action within the sixty (60) day period shall constitute approval of an application.
- (d) Site plan review standards. Site plans shall be reviewed using the following qualitative development standards.
- (1) Harmonious and efficient organization. All elements of a plan shall be organized harmoniously and efficiently in relation to topography, the size and type of the property affected, the character of adjoining property, and the type and size of buildings. The site shall be developed in a manner that will not impede the normal and orderly development or improvement of surrounding property for uses permitted in this chapter.
  - (2) Preservation of natural conditions. The landscape shall be preserved in its natural state, to the degree practical, by minimizing tree and soil removal and by other appropriate site planning techniques. Terrain and vegetation shall not be disturbed in a manner likely to increase significantly either wind or water erosion within or adjacent to a development site.
  - (3) Screening and buffering. Fences, walls, or vegetative screening shall be provided where needed to protect residents and users from undesirable views, lighting, noise or other adverse off-site effects and to protect residents and users of off-site development from on-site adverse effects.
  - (4) Enhancement of residential privacy. The site plan shall provide reasonable visual and auditory privacy for all dwelling units located within and adjacent to the site. Fences, walks, barriers and vegetation shall be arranged to protect and enhance the property and to enhance the privacy of occupants.

- (5) Emergency access. Structures and other site features shall be arranged to permit access by emergency vehicles to all buildings.

Traffic improvements shall be provided where they will significantly improve safety for vehicles and pedestrians.
- (9) Coordination of on-site circulation with off-site circulation. The arrangement of public or common ways for vehicular and pedestrian circulation shall be coordinated with the pattern of existing or planned streets and pedestrian or bicycle pathways in the area.
- (10) Design of public rights-of-way. Public streets and rights-of-way within a site shall be designed for maximum efficiency. They shall occupy no more land than is required to provide access, nor shall they unnecessarily fragment development into small blocks. Large developments containing extensive public rights-of-way shall provide a road network with local streets which provide direct access to individual parcels and other streets which provide no or limited direct access to individual parcels.
- (11) Exterior lighting. Exterior lighting shall not interfere with the quiet enjoyment of adjacent properties or the safety of public rights-of-way.
- (12) Protection of property values. All elements of a site plan shall be arranged to have a minimal negative impact on the property values of adjoining property.

- (g) Procedures for submitting and processing applications. The director of community development shall receive, review and process applications for site plan review in accordance with the following:
  - (1) Optional pre-application conference. A pre-application conference is suggested to all applicants to avoid unnecessary delays or confusion in the application and review processes. If requested, an informal meeting will be arranged among the applicant, community development department staff and other appropriate city staff to discuss the proposal and to review any preliminary plans the applicant may wish to present.

- (2) Application deadlines. The planning board shall approve a schedule of site plan review meetings and their corresponding application deadlines.
- (3) Application fee. Applications shall include all appropriate processing fees as approved by the city commission.
