This meeting was held in the Council Chambers.

At 4:00 p.m., Mayor Rick Scholl opened the Joint Planning Commission and City Council Meeting. The purpose, rules, and goals of this meeting were explained. The mayor is the presiding officer, the group must have respect for others' time, and no decisions are to be made at these meetings.

DISCUSSION OF PSILOCYBIN PROHIBITION

City Planner Jacob Graichen explained there was a two-year moratorium on the facilitation of psilocybin. He said that moratorium ends at the end of 2024. He mentioned this is the time of year the Planning Department is more able to work on code amendments, and they wanted to use this meeting to discuss the level of concern and their ideas on how to manage this. He said they had done some research in to what other cities have done to implement these guidelines.

Associate Planner Jenny Dimsho shared a presentation on psilocybin facilities in Oregon. She explained Oregon passed a ballot measure that directs the Oregon Health Authority to license and regulate the manufacturing, transportation, delivery, sale, and purchase of psilocybin products and the provision of psilocybin services.

She explained the different licenses including manufacturers, service centers, and facilitators.

She shared some of the experiences other communities have had who have already implemented psilocybin service centers. She said some of the centers were in Portland and only about five were open currently. The others were still in the process of getting approval.

She mentioned that most of the customers who utilize these facilities have been reported as out of state customers. She said the cost of the sessions can range from $1,000 to $3,000 and that they are not covered by healthcare. She also said there is a long waitlist for being able to utilize these services and that the service centers she researched offer a long list of tourism activities and places to stay while you wait. She said it seemed to be advertised as medical tourism. She also said they look like medical offices and sometimes share space with other medical facilities.

There was a small discussion on how these service centers were regulated.

There was a small discussion on the education required to be a psilocybin facilitator.

She discussed some of the next steps that would need to take place to help implement development code around these service centers. She said there could be rules that are adopted, or they could use existing rules.

There was a discussion on what zoning districts they see these centers allowed in or where they do not want to see them.

Vice Chair Jennifer Shoemaker said she considered this alternative medicine but was concerned about the number of them opening in our community.

Council President Jessica Chilton said she wanted to be sure we listen to the people in our community and create guidelines that fit those needs.

Commissioner Ginny Carlson said this is a new form of medicine for those who are beyond the reach of pharmaceuticals, and she felt that even though we may not understand it if it can help someone, she is glad it is available to them.

There was a small discussion about how psilocybin is administered.

Councilor Mark Gunderson expressed concern that there were not more qualifications needed to be a facilitator.

Dimsho shared different options to use the zoning to help keep the locations in specific areas.

Mayor Rick Scholl said he had not heard many individuals discussing the psilocybin service or the measure so he did not see the service centers as being something that would be in high demand to move to this community.

There was a discussion on where service centers and manufacturers of the psilocybin could be located and what an appropriate number of restrictions for them would be.

DISCUSSION OF VACANT STOREFRONTS

Vice Chair Shoemaker opened the discussion by sharing that the Planning Commission has a Proactive Items list and they felt like they had been choosing items to work on that were more on their personal agenda versus what the Community would like to see.

She said there was a consistent group of citizens coming and asking the Planning Commission to address the vacant storefronts. She shared some research done on other communities and how they handle vacant buildings.

There was a small discussion about the different storefronts in St. Helens that were vacant.

There was a discussion on ways to incentivize business owners to keep their storefronts from being vacant.

Councilor Russ Hubbard said the financial burden maintaining a business in specific districts can be overwhelming for some. It can also be a discouragement to new developers coming in who do not receive the grandfathered in rules for the building they might be looking at.
