Re: Investigative Platform Service Provider Change Proposal

CID has been researching several investigative platform service providers that meet the broadest needs of our agency. We have found that the information provided by our current provider, LexisNexis/Accurint, is often dated and results in the duplication of investigative efforts. Though there are many services that could benefit our agency, we have determined that some are too cost prohibitive for an agency/city our size.

With cost and results in mind, we are submitting the current proposal, which would end our services with LexisNexis/Accurint and ERAD in favor of CLEAR for Law Enforcement. This will decrease our monthly outlay in 2026, as we currently pay at least $200.00 per month to LexisNexis for Accurint, and ERAD is $4,950.00 per year ($412.50 per month). We can end the Accurint agreement at any time and ERAD at year's end.

CLEAR for Law Enforcement provides the most current investigative data and lead generation technology by allowing access to real-time public and proprietary records. This technology facilitates the linking of relationships and assets among persons who are purportedly involved in criminal activity. Users can use this information to reduce risk and to mitigate fraud. With the addition of the Real-Time Incarceration & Arrest (RTIA) Records option, CID will have access to millions of booking and incarceration records nationwide including booking photos, updated hourly. This will allow for the creation of photo line-ups in minutes, as compared to the tedious manual searches we currently conduct.

LICENSE PLATE RECOGNITION/VIGILANT NATIONWIDE COMMERCIAL DATA INTEGRATION

- License Plate Recognition (LPR) Data—Thomson Reuters CLEAR combines comprehensive public and proprietary data with Motorola Solutions' Vigilant LEARN nationwide commercial license plate data to create a unique, powerful tool that allows you to take your vehicle-involved investigations to a more precise level.

  Seamlessly connect nationwide location information with ownership and vehicle details. Plus, radius search capabilities allow you to expand your search and access valuable commercial LPR data along with local person and business information to identify potential connections within one-quarter mile of the reported vehicle location.

- Why is it important that Vigilant LEARN contains "commercial" data? - Commercial data creates a force multiplier effect for agencies by complementing your own internal LPR data with access to a broader network of LPR data. Commercial vehicles, including tow trucks, asset recovery, and repossession, collect multiple records of vehicle license plate locations along main roadways as well as neighborhoods, high volume parking lots, and thoroughfares. This generates stronger trends and location history — making your job easier while searching for a single vehicle.

Transform license plate data into actionable insights or information

Equip your team with patented, powerful vehicle location analytics and access to billions of detections. Building a strong subject profile means you can spend less time chasing dead leads — and focus more on keeping communities safe.

How CLEAR LPR can help your investigation

Isolate license plate detections or tag reads to determine:

- Recorded plate
- Date and time of scan
- Location

Search license plates using either a full or partial plate:

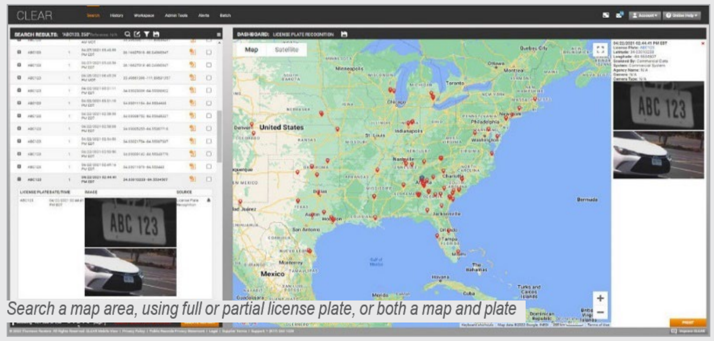
- Investigations where a witness provides a partial (or full) license plate
- Cold cases
- Amber Alerts

Search by landmark, business, or street to better focus your search:

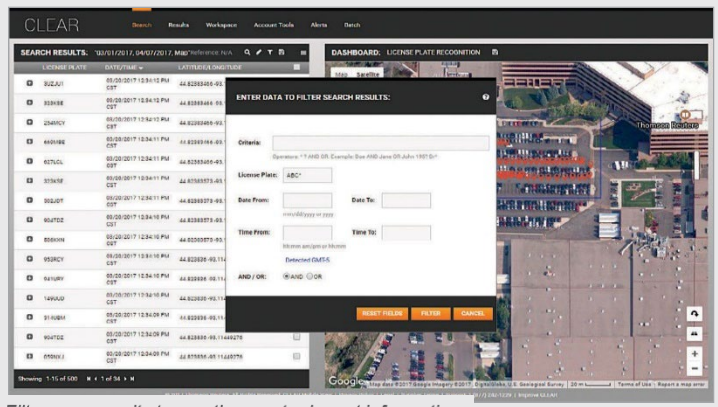
- When a specific area has been targeted for crime, such as break-ins or theft
- Pinpoint past vehicle locations
- Identify potential associations of vehicles in the same area at the same time

Better visualize vehicle location by combining full or partial plate search with Google Maps search

Filter results to better identify records of interest and quickly narrow hundreds of results.



Search a map area, using full or partial license plate, or both a map and plate



Filter your results to see the most relevant information

How CLEAR LPR can expand and accelerate your search

Deeper dive on a single record — click an icon or plate of interest to open more details.

Radius search within a quarter mile to identify people or businesses in the area to further your investigation.

Linked searching helps you discover deeper connections with access to numerous CLEAR public record data sets, including person, business, vehicle, and asset details.

Ordering reports is simple, including imagery, links, and the ability to include public records ownership details.

All results of a CLEAR LPR search can be saved to Workspace for later use.

Access to Motorola Solutions' Vigilant LEARN LPR platform for additional analytics

Right-click on any LPR result to review potential connections within a one-quarter mile radius
