Events

The building was closed due to illness Oct 30-Nov 6 we were able to offer curbside services during this time.

The building was closed Nov.11-13 due to Holiday.

The building was closed Nov. 25-26 due to Holiday.

Starting November 1, the Library went fine free. We have had lots of positive feedback from patrons, and a few that had not been using the library came back. We also saw a increase in books returned that had been overdue.

Projects ongoing

We have weeded the paperback collection. We are testing shelving the paperbacks that are part of a series with the rest of the series that is in hardback.

We are weeding the Kid's non-fiction collection and ordering more up to date materials.

We are testing creating a Large Print section by first moving the Large Print Non-Fiction materials to shelving where the paperbacks were. The lower height shelves and easier access to the shelves should be good for patrons that typically use large Print materials.

We continue to add more new materials to all collections. Currently, our fastest growing collection is the TV series on DVD.

New Library update

Megan attended the Library Journal's Design Institute. The one day event focused on new library designs and remodeling of older spaces.
