INTRODUCTION

Located in the Sierra Nevada mountains just west of the Nevada state line, the Town of Truckee is currently home to an estimated 16,942 residents. Established in 1863 and incorporated in 1993, the Town of Truckee's team of full- and part-time employees provides a full suite of municipal services including administrative services, community development, public works and engineering, and police services. In addition to being a residential and economic hub for the region, Truckee is a popular vacation destination drawing visitors, tourists, and second homeowners to the area for its scenic beauty and recreational opportunities.

As part of its commitment to provide high quality services and responsive local governance, the Town of Truckee engages its residents on a daily basis and receives regular feedback on issue, policy, and performance matters. Although these informal feedback mechanisms are a valuable source of information for the Town in that they provide timely and accurate information about the opinions of specific residents, it is important to recognize that they do not necessarily provide an accurate picture of the community as a whole. For the most part, informal feedback mechanisms rely on the resident to initiate feedback, which creates a self-selection bias—the Town receives feedback only from those residents who are motivated enough to initiate the feedback process. Because these residents tend to be either very pleased or very displeased with the service they have received, their collective opinions are not necessarily representative of the Town's resident population as a whole.

PURPOSE OF STUDY The motivation for the current study was to design and employ a methodology that would avoid the self-selection bias noted above and thereby provide the Town with a statistically reliable understanding of its residents' satisfaction, priorities, and concerns as they relate to services, facilities, and policies provided by the Town. Ultimately, the survey results and analyses presented in this report provide Town Council and staff with information that can be used to make sound, strategic decisions in a variety of areas, including service and program improvements/enhancements, measuring and tracking internal performance, planning, budgeting, policymaking, and community engagement.

To assist in this effort, the Town selected True North Research to design the research plan and conduct the study. Broadly defined, the study was designed to:

- · Identify key issues of importance for residents, as well as their perceptions of the quality of life in Truckee;
- Measure residents' satisfaction with the Town's efforts to provide municipal services overall and in a variety of specific service areas;
- Profile satisfaction with the Town's communication efforts, residents' preferred methods of communication, and support for various community engagement strategies, and
- Collect additional background and demographic data that are relevant to understanding residents' perceptions, needs, and interests.

OVERVIEW OF METHODOLOGY A full description of the methodology used for this study is included later in this report (see Methodology on page 32). In brief, the survey was administered to a random sample of 600 adults who reside within the Town of Truckee. The survey followed a mixed-method design that employed multiple recruiting methods (email, text, and telephone) and multiple data collection methods (telephone and online). Administered in English and Spanish between April 1 and April 7, 2025, the average interview lasted 18 minutes.

ORGANIZATION OF REPORT This report is designed to meet the needs of readers who prefer a summary of the findings as well as those who are interested in the details of the results. For those who seek an overview of the findings, the section titled Key Findings is for you. It provides a summary of the most important factual findings of the survey in a Question & Answer format. For the interested reader, this section is followed by a more detailed question-by-question discussion of the results from the survey by topic area (see Table of Contents), as well as a description of the methodology employed for collecting and analyzing the data. And, for the truly ambitious reader, the questionnaire used for the interviews is contained at the back of this report (see Questionnaire & Toplines on page 35), and a complete set of crosstabulations for the survey results is contained in Appendix A.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS True North thanks the Town of Truckee for the opportunity to conduct the study and for contributing valuable input during the design stage of this study. The collective experience, insight, and local knowledge provided by town staff improved the overall quality of the research presented here.

DISCLAIMER The statements and conclusions in this report are those of the authors (Dr. Timothy McLarney and Richard Sarles) at True North Research, Inc. and not necessarily those of the Town of Truckee. Any errors and omissions are the responsibility of the authors.

KEY FINDINGS

As noted in the Introduction, this study was designed to provide the Town of Truckee with a statistically reliable understanding of the opinions, priorities, and concerns of its residents. Operating from the philosophy that you can't manage what you don't measure, the Town intends to use this baseline survey (and future tracking surveys) as a community needs assessment and performance measure tool. In short, the survey presents an opportunity to profile residents' needs and priorities, measure how well the Town is performing in meeting these needs through existing services and facilities, and gauge residents' opinions on a variety of quality-of-life, issue, and policy-related matters. More than just a data-gathering exercise, the information gained from the surveys will help the Town adjust and improve its services—all toward the goal of building and sustaining a high level of community satisfaction.

Whereas subsequent sections of this report are devoted to conveying the detailed results of the survey, in this section we attempt to 'see the forest through the trees' and note how the survey results answer key questions that motivated the research. The following conclusions are based on True North's interpretations of the results, as well as the firm's experience conducting similar studies for government agencies throughout the State.

value about Truckee that town government should seek to preserve?

What do residents most A clear theme of the survey results is that residents are focused on maintaining-rather than changing-the character of Truckee. The vast majority of residents shared positive assessments for Truckee as a place to recreate (93% excellent or good), for the overall quality of life in Truckee (88%), and as a place to raise a family (71%). The natural features of Truckee, local recreational opportunities, and community character are prized by residents and top the list of things they most like about living in Truckee. Specifically, when asked what town government should seek to preserve in the future, the natural beauty, mountains, and open space in and surrounding Truckee (21%), limited growth and development in the area (17%), small town feel (13%), network of trails (13%), access to nature/open spaces (10%) and recreation (8%), and bike paths/ trails (6%) were the most frequent mentions. For more on this topic, see Quality of Life on page 7 and What do you Like Most About Living in Truckee? on page 8).

What changes do residents seek to improve the quality of life in Truckee?

Consistent with the aforementioned theme of maintaining the town's character, many of the changes that residents desire could more appropriately be described as efforts to preserve, restore, or enhance existing qualities of Truckee. When asked what they would most like to change about Truckee to make it a better place to live, approximately one-in-ten respondents could not think of a desired change (8%) or reported that no changes are needed (3%), both of which are indicative of a respondent who does not perceive any pressing issues or problems in Truckee. Among the specific changes desired, the most common were providing more affordable housing/workforce housing (20%), reducing the cost of living (14%), reducing traffic congestion (9%), limiting growth and development (7%), and improving/repairing local roads and infrastructure (6%). For more on this topic, see What Should be Changed? on page 9.

How well is the Town performing in meeting the needs of Truckee residents?

Truckee residents are generally quite satisfied with the Town's efforts to provide municipal services. Nearly eight-in-ten Truckee residents (79%) indicated they were either very (23%) or somewhat (56%) satisfied with the Town's efforts to provide municipal services, 16% were very or somewhat dissatisfied, whereas 5% were unsure or unwilling to share their opinion. Moreover, the high level of satisfaction exhibited by respondents as a whole was generally echoed across resident subgroups, with satisfaction ranging from a low of 71% to a high of 90% across all identified subgroups (see Overall Satisfaction on page 11).

The high level of satisfaction expressed with the Town's performance in general was also mirrored in residents' assessments of the Town's performance in providing many specific services, with the highest satisfaction scores assigned to the Town's efforts to provide trails for walking, hiking, and biking (97% very or somewhat satisfied), provide snow removal on trails and sidewalks (95%), keep public areas, buildings, and facilities clean and attractive (92%), provide snow removal on Town streets (92%), maintain a low crime rate (91%), and provide police services (90%). Town staff were also a bright spot in the survey, with more than nine-in-ten residents who had interacted with staff during the 12 months preceding the interview describing staff as professional (95%), responsive (91%), and helpful (91%). For more on these topics, see Specific Services on page 12 and Town Staff on page 16.

Where should the Town focus its efforts in the future?

In addition to measuring the Town's current performance, a primary goal of this study is to look forward and identify opportunities to adjust services, improve facilities, and/or refine communications strategies to best meet the community's evolving needs and expectations. Although residents are generally satisfied with the Town's performance, there is always room for improvement. Below we note some of the areas that present the best opportunities in this regard.

Considering respondents' verbatim answers regarding what they most want to preserve about Truckee in the future (see What do you Like Most About Living in Truckee? on page 8), what town government could do to make Truckee a better place to live (see What Should be Changed? on page 9), and resident satisfaction across 19 specific service areas (see Specific Services on page 12), facilitating the creation of more affordable housing/workforce housing, managing traffic congestion, limiting/managing growth and development, and promoting economic development to attract new businesses and good-paying jobs to the community stood out as key areas of opportunity and interest for Truckee residents.

With the recommendation that the Town focus on these areas, it is equally important to stress that when it comes to improving satisfaction in service areas, the appropriate strategy is often a combination of better communication and actual service improvements. It may be, for example, that many residents are simply not aware of the Town's ongoing infrastructure improvement efforts, or the limits of what a Town can do to address traffic congestion. Choosing the appropriate balance of actual service improvements and efforts to raise awareness on these matters will be a key to maintaining and improving the community's overall satisfaction in the short- and long-term.

What are residents' views on growth and development in Truckee?

The broad topic of land use/managing growth and development is a particularly salient and multi-faceted topic with Truckee residents. It surfaces in various ways when asked what they like most about Truckee, what they'd like to change, and when asked to rate the Town's performance. That said, it's important to recognize that although a significant proportion of residents have concerns about growth and development, their concerns are nuanced, different, and to some extent opposing. At the risk of overgeneralizing, for some residents the concern is that development is occurring too aggressively, that approved projects aren't consistent with the Town's character, and both trends pose a long-term threat to what they value most about Truckee. For others, the planning and permitting process is perceived as too difficult (too many regulations, codes, and red tape), expensive, and/or time-consuming to navigate, which makes it unnecessarily challenging to move forward with new construction projects (see Why Dissatisfied with Regulation of New Construction? on page 14). Cutting across this broad dimension of growth and development in general is a widespread recognition that there is not enough affordable housing in Truckee, and there is a need for economic development to attract new businesses and good-paying jobs to the community.

How well is the Town communicating with Truckee residents?

Keeping up with the challenge of communicating with residents has been difficult for many public agencies in recent years. As the number of information sources and channels available to the public have dramatically increased, so too has the diversity in where residents regularly turn for their information. Not only have entirely new channels arisen to become mainstream and nearly ubiquitous (e.g., social media), within these channels there exists a proliferation of alternative services. To add to the challenge, residents' preferences for information sources are also dynamic, subject to change as new services are made available while others may fade in popularity, making thorough, effective communication a moving target for public agencies.

With this context in mind, the Town of Truckee appears to be doing a solid job communicating with residents. Overall, 72% of respondents indicated they were satisfied with the Town's efforts to communicate with residents through newsletters, the Internet, social media, and other means, with the remaining respondents either dissatisfied (21%) or unsure or unwilling to share their opinion (8%). Additionally, more than two-thirds of residents described themselves as very (18%) or somewhat attentive (53%) to matters of town government.

Looking forward, the survey does provide some guidance as to the most effective ways that the Town can communicate with residents, as well as how preferred methods of communication may vary based on factors such as age, ethnicity, and satisfaction with the Town's performance. Overall, email was the most preferred method for Town communications (35%), followed by electronic newsletters and news briefs (19%), and social media like Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter/X (11%). Other methods preferred by at least 5% of residents included text messages (8%), the Town's website (7%), direct mail (6%), and local news media (6%). For more on this topic, see Communication on page 21.

Are residents supportive of the I.D.E.A. program?

The Town of Truckee is dedicated to ensuring that the services, programs, and information it provides are accessible to all community members—residents, staff, and visitors alike. The I.D.E.A program (Inclusion, Diversity, Equity & Accessibility) is designed to create an inclusive, welcoming, and supportive environment where everyone feels valued and respected. Through its commitment to these principles, Truckee seeks to build a stronger, more cohesive community.

The final substantive section of the survey was designed to gauge residents' support for 15 actions the Town government could take to improve community outreach, engagement, and involvement on important issues, as well as access to services. Across the board, Truckee residents were strongly supportive of the Town's proposed actions, with all but one action being supported by at least eight-in-ten respondents (see Community Engagement I.D.E.A. on page 26).

At the top of the list, more than nine-in-ten respondents indicated they support the Town engaging with residents with disabilities to identify how the Town can better serve their needs (94%), having Town staff and representatives participate in community meetings like advisory committees, community celebrations, and school events to increase engagement (93%), ensuring a broad reach by distributing outreach materials through Community Based Organizations such as Sierra Senior Services (93%), organizing community workshops, focus groups, events, and listening sessions to engage with a wide variety of community and resident subgroups on Town projects, programs, and services (92%), creating a Youth Commission to review and advise on plans, programs, and policies that impact Truckee's youth (92%), and collaborating with local veterans to share their stories and recognize their military service and contributions to the community (90%).

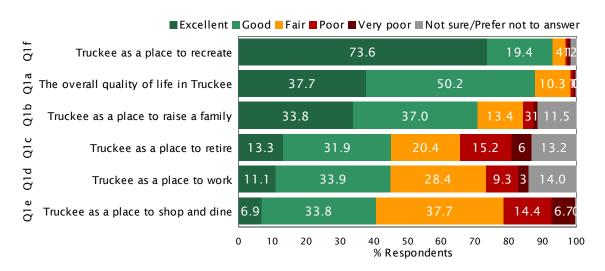

QUALITY OF LIFE

The opening series of questions in the survey was designed to assess residents' top of mind perceptions about the quality of life in Truckee, what they would most like to preserve about the Town, as well as ways to improve the quality of life in Truckee.

OVERALL QUALITY OF LIFE At the outset of the interview, respondents were asked to rate the Town of Truckee on a number of key dimensions—including overall quality of life, as a place to raise a family, and as a place to work—using a five-point scale of excellent, good, fair, poor, or very poor. As shown in Figure 1 below, residents shared the most positive opinions for Truckee as a place to recreate (93% excellent or good), for the overall quality of life in Truckee (88%), and as a place to raise a family (71%). Although still generally positive, residents provided more mixed ratings for Truckee as a place to retire (45%), as a place to work (45%), and as a place to shop and dine (41%).

Question 1 How would you rate: ____? Would you say it is excellent, good, fair, poor or very poor?

For the interested reader, tables 1-4 show how the ratings for each dimension tested in Question 1 varied according to length of residence, home ownership, age, gender, employment status, overall satisfaction with the Town's efforts to provide municipal services, ethnicity, and presence of a child in the home.

WHAT DO YOU LIKE MOST ABOUT LIVING IN TRUCKEE? The next question in this series asked residents to identify what they like most about living in Truckee that the Town government should make sure to preserve in the future. Question 2 was posed in an open-ended manner, thereby allowing residents to mention any aspect or attribute that came to mind without being prompted by—or restricted to—a particular list of options. True North later reviewed the verbatim responses and grouped them into the categories shown in Figure 2 on the next page.

Truckee residents were most apt to cite natural features of Truckee, recreational opportunities, and community character as what they like most about Truckee and would like to preserve in the future. Specifically, respondents placed the natural beauty, mountains, and open space at the top of the list of things they like most about living in Truckee (21%), followed by limited growth and development in the area (17%), the small town feel of Truckee (13%), network of trails (13%), access to nature/open spaces (10%) and recreation (8%), and bike paths/trails (6%). Approximately 8% of residents could not think of anything specific when asked what they like most about Truckee that should be preserved in the future.

Question 2 What do you like most about Truckee that the town government should make sure to preserve in the future?

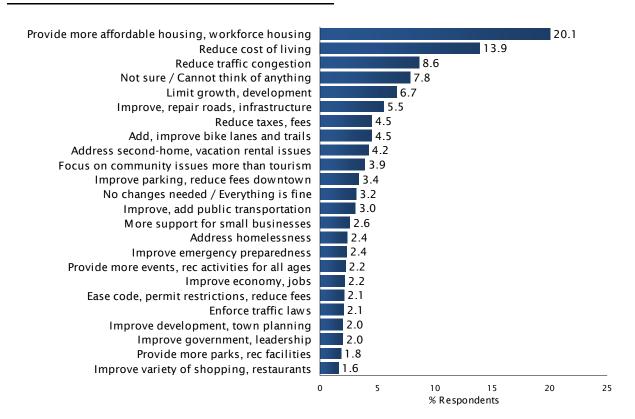

WHAT SHOULD BE CHANGED? In an open-ended manner similar to that described above for Question 2, all respondents were also asked to indicate the one thing that the Town government could change to make Truckee a better place to live. True North reviewed the verbatim responses to Question 4 and grouped them into the categories shown in Figure 3 on the next page.

Approximately one-in-ten respondents could not think of a desired change (8%) or reported that no changes are needed (3%), both of which are indicative of a respondent who does not perceive any pressing issues or problems in Truckee. Among the specific changes desired, the most common were providing more affordable housing/workforce housing (20%), reducing the cost of living (14%), reducing traffic congestion (9%), limiting growth and development (7%), and improving/repairing local roads and infrastructure (6%).

Question 3 If the town government could change one thing to make Truckee a better place to live, what change would you like to see?

TOWN SERVICES

After measuring respondents' perceptions of the quality of life in Truckee, the survey next turned to assessing their opinions about the Town's performance in providing various municipal services.

OVERALL SATISFACTION The first question in this series asked respondents to indicate if, overall, they were satisfied or dissatisfied with the job the Town of Truckee is doing to provide town services. Because this question does not reference a specific program, facility, or service and requested that the respondent consider the Town's performance in general, the findings of this question may be regarded as an overall performance rating for the Town.

As shown in Figure 4 below, nearly eight-in-ten Truckee residents (79%) indicated they were either very (23%) or somewhat (56%) satisfied with the Town's efforts to provide municipal services. Approximately 16% were very or somewhat dissatisfied, whereas 5% were unsure or unwilling to share their opinion. Figures 5 and 6 on the next page demonstrate that the high level of satisfaction exhibited by respondents as a whole was generally echoed across resident subgroups, with satisfaction ranging from a low of 71% to a high of 90% across all identified subgroups.

Question 4 Next, I would like to ask a series of questions about services provided by the Town of Truckee. Generally speaking, are you satisfied or dissatisfied with the job the Town of Truckee is doing to provide town services?

SPECIFIC SERVICES Whereas Question 4 addressed the Town's overall performance, Question 5 asked respondents to rate their level of satisfaction with the Town's efforts to provide 19 specific services. Although the order of the items was randomized for each respondent to avoid a systematic position bias, Figure 7 on the next page sorts the list of services according to the percentage of respondents who indicated they were either very or somewhat satisfied with the Town's efforts to provide the service. For comparison purposes between the services, only respondents who provided an opinion (satisfied or dissatisfied) are included in the figure. Those who did not have an opinion were removed from this analysis. The percentage of respondents who provided an opinion (satisfied or dissatisfied) is presented in brackets beside the service label in the figure, while the bars represent the answers of those with an opinion.

At the top of the list, respondents were most satisfied with the Town's efforts to provide trails for walking, hiking, and biking (97% very or somewhat satisfied), followed by efforts to provide snow removal on trails and sidewalks (95%), keep public areas, buildings, and facilities clean and attractive (92%), provide snow removal on Town streets (92%), maintain a low crime rate (91%), and provide police services (90%).

At the other end of the spectrum, respondents were less satisfied with the Town's performance in facilitating the development of new affordable housing (29%), providing subsidies and programs to make existing housing more affordable for the local workforce (38%), managing traffic congestion (43%), and promoting economic development to attract new businesses and goodpaying jobs to the community (45%).

Question 5 For each of the services I read next, I'd like you to tell me how satisfied you are with the job the Town is doing to provide the service. Are you satisfied or dissatisfied with the Town's efforts to: _____, or do you not have an opinion?

DIFFERENTIATORS OF OPINION Table 5 on the next page displays how the level of satisfaction with each specific service tested in Question 5 varied according to residents' overall performance ratings for the Town (see Overall Satisfaction on page 11). The table divides residents who were satisfied with the Town's overall performance into one group and those dissatisfied into a second group. Also displayed is the difference between the two groups in terms of the percentage who indicated they were satisfied with the Town's efforts to provide each service tested in Question 5 (far right column). For convenience, the services are sorted by that difference, with the greatest differentiators of opinion near the top of the table.

When compared with their counterparts, residents satisfied with the Town's overall performance in providing municipal services were also more likely to express satisfaction with the Town's efforts to provide each of the services tested in Question 5. That said, the greatest specific differentiators of opinion between satisfied and dissatisfied residents were found with respect to the Town's efforts to promote economic development to attract new businesses and good-paying jobs to the community, regulate new construction projects to ensure they meet zoning, building, and safety requirements, manage land use and development, and manage traffic congestion.

At the other end of the spectrum, there was much less difference between the two resident groups regarding their satisfaction with the Town's efforts to provide trails for walking, hiking and biking, provide snow removal on Town streets, and provide snow removal on trails and sidewalks.

WHY DISSATISFIED WITH REGULATION OF NEW CONSTRUCTION? Approximately 40% of those who expressed an opinion (30% of all respondents) indicated in Question 5 they were dissatisfied with the Town's efforts to regulate new construction projects to ensure they meet zoning, building, and safety requirements. Respondents who fit this category were subsequently asked to describe the reason for their opinion. Question 6 was administered in an open-ended manner, thereby allowing respondents to mention any reasons that came to mind without being prompted by or constrained to a particular list of options. True North later reviewed the verbatim responses and grouped them into the categories shown in Figure 8 on the next page.

Approximately one-quarter (25%) of respondents reasoned that there are too many regulations, codes, and/or red tape, 22% cited the expense and fees associated with plan review and permitting, while 17% expressed frustration with the time it takes to work through the process. Others explained their dissatisfaction by noting there is too much growth/overbuilding in the area (9%) or that its simply too difficult to get through the process and build (9%).

Question 6 Is there a particular reason why you are dissatisfied with the Town's efforts to regulate new construction projects to ensure they meet zoning, building, and safety requirements?

CUSTOMER SERVICE & LOCAL GOVERNANCE

Although much of the survey focused on quality of life and residents' satisfaction with the Town's efforts to provide specific services, Truckee also recognizes there is more to good local governance than simply providing satisfactory services. Do residents perceive that the Town is accessible and responsive to residents' needs? Do residents feel that staff serves their needs in a professional manner? How well do residents trust the Town, and do they view the Town as fiscally responsible? Answers to questions like these are as important as service or policy-related questions in measuring the Town performance in meeting residents' needs. Accordingly, they were the focus of the next section of the survey.

TOWN STAFF Residents were first asked if they had been in contact with Town of Truckee staff in the preceding 12 months. Figure 9 provides the findings of this question and shows that nearly half (45%) of respondents indicated they had contact with town staff during the 12 months prior to the interview. Recent contact with Town of Truckee staff varied somewhat across resident subgroups, with those who have lived in Truckee 10-14 years, respondents between 45 and 54 years of age, part-time employees, those residing with children, and individuals who were generally dissatisfied with the Town's overall performance in providing municipal services being the most likely to report interacting with Town staff (see figures 10-12).

Question 7 In the past 12 months, have you been in contact with Town of Truckee staff?

Respondents who reported contact with town staff during the 12 months preceding the interview were subsequently asked to rate staff on three dimensions: professionalism, responsiveness, and helpfulness. As shown in Figure 13 below, staff were given high marks on all three dimensions tested, with more than nine-in-ten rating staff as professional (95%), responsive (91%), and helpful (91%).

Question 8 In your opinion, is the staff at the Town very ____, somewhat ____, or not at all ____.

PERCEPTIONS OF TOWN GOVERNMENT The final question in this series was designed to profile respondents' perceptions of town government on a variety of dimensions, including fiscal responsibility and responsiveness. For each of the six statements shown on the left of Figure 14, respondents were asked if they agreed or disagreed with the statement, or if they had no opinion. The percentages shown are among those who provided an opinion.

More than two-thirds of residents with an opinion agreed that the Town of Truckee welcomes people with diverse backgrounds and perspectives (73%) and indicated they trust the Town of Truckee (67%). More than half of respondents agreed with the remaining statements, including that the Town is responsive to residents' needs (63%), manages its finances well (58%), listens to residents when making important decisions (58%), and is transparent in how it operates (56%).

Tables 6-9 display the level of agreement with each statement (among those with an opinion) across subgroups of Truckee residents. Although the pattern of responses varies by statement, it is noteworthy that long-time residents (15+ years) and home owners were less likely than their counterparts to agree with five of the six statements.

Question 9 Next, I'm going to read you a series of statements about the Town of Truckee. For each, I'd like you to tell me whether you agree or disagree with the statement. Here is the (first/next) one: _____. Do you agree or disagree, or do you not have an opinion?

COMMUNICATION

The importance of town communication with residents cannot be over-stated. Much of a town's success is shaped by the quality of information that is exchanged in both directions, from the Town to the community and from the community to the Town. This study is just one example of Truckee's efforts to enhance the information flow to the Town to better understand the community's concerns, perceptions, and needs. Some of Truckee's many efforts to communicate with its residents include its timely press releases, social media accounts, periodic newsletters, and website. In this section, we present the results of several communication-related questions.

SATISFACTION WITH COMMUNICATION Question 10 asked Truckee residents to report their satisfaction with town-resident communication. Overall, 72% of respondents indicated they were satisfied with the Town's efforts to communicate with residents through newsletters, the Internet, social media, and other means (Figure 15). The remaining respondents were either dissatisfied with the Town's efforts in this respect (21%) or unsure or unwilling to share their opinion (8%).

Question 10 Overall, are you satisfied or dissatisfied with the Town's efforts to communicate with residents through newsletters, the Internet, social media, and other means?

The next three figures (figures 16-18) display how satisfaction with the Town's efforts to communicate with residents varied across a number of demographic subgroups. Satisfaction with the Town's communication efforts was widespread, with the vast majority of nearly all subgroups indicating they were satisfied. As one might expect, residents dissatisfied with the Town's overall performance in providing municipal services also tended to be less satisfied with the Town's communication efforts when compared with those generally satisfied with the Town's overall performance (45% vs. 79%).

PREFERRED COMMUNICATION METHOD Truckee residents were next asked to identify their preferred way of receiving Town of Truckee information. As shown in Figure 19 below, email (35%) was the most preferred method, followed by electronic newsletters and news briefs (19%), and social media like Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter/X (11%). Other methods preferred by at least 5% of residents included text messages (8%), the Town's website (7%), direct mail (6%), and local news media (6%).

Question 11 What is your preferred way to receive Town of Truckee information?

ATTENTION PAID TO LOCAL GOVERNMENT The next question in this section asked respondents to rate how attentive they are to the issues, decisions, and activities of the Truckee town government using a scale of very attentive, somewhat attentive, slightly attentive, or not at all attentive. Overall, 18% of respondents described themselves as very attentive to matters of town government, 53% somewhat attentive, and 25% slightly attentive. Approximately 2% of respondents confided that they do not pay any attention to the activities of their town government, and 1% declined to state (see Figure 20). When compared to their respective counterparts, those who have lived in Truckee at least 10 years, seniors, individuals working part-time, renters, those residing with children, individuals who were generally dissatisfied with the Town's overall performance and communications efforts, Caucasians, those who had contact with Town staff in the 12 months prior to the interview, and females were most apt to describe themselves as being at least somewhat attentive to the issues, decisions, and activities of the Truckee town government (see figures 21-23).

Question 12 How much attention do you pay to the issues, decisions and activities of the Truckee town government?

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT I.D.E.A.

The Town of Truckee is dedicated to ensuring that the services, programs, and information it provides are accessible to all community members—residents, staff, and visitors alike. The I.D.E.A program (Inclusion, Diversity, Equity & Accessibility) is designed to create an inclusive, welcoming, and supportive environment where everyone feels valued and respected. Through its commitment to these principles, Truckee seeks to build a stronger, more cohesive community.

The final substantive section of the survey was designed to gauge residents' support for various actions the Town government could take to improve community outreach, engagement, and involvement on important issues, as well as access to services. For each of the actions shown on the left of Figure 24, respondents were simply asked if they support or oppose the Town taking the action, or if they were unsure. To ease comparisons, only respondents who provided an opinion (support or oppose) are included in the figure. Those who did not have an opinion were removed from this analysis. The percentage of respondents who provided an opinion (support or oppose) is presented in brackets beside the item label in the figure, while the bars represent the answers of those with an opinion.

Question 13 The Town of Truckee is in the process of developing an action plan to improve community outreach, engagement, and involvement on important issues, as well as access to services. As I read the following actions, please tell me whether you would support or oppose the Town taking this action. Here is the (first/next) one: ____. Do you support or oppose the Town taking this action, or are you not sure?

As shown in the figure, a majority of Truckee residents supported the Town taking every action tested in Question 13, with all but one action being supported by at least eight-in-ten respondents. At the top of the list, more than nine-in-ten respondents indicated they support the Town engaging with residents with disabilities to identify how the Town can better serve their needs (94%), having Town staff and representatives participate in community meetings like advisory committees, community celebrations, and school events to increase engagement (93%), ensuring a broad reach by distributing outreach materials through Community Based Organizations such as Sierra Senior Services (93%), organizing community workshops, focus groups, events, and listening sessions to engage with a wide variety of community and resident subgroups on Town projects, programs, and services (92%), creating a Youth Commission to review and advise on plans, programs, and policies that impact Truckee's youth (92%), and collaborating with local veterans to share their stories and recognize their military service and contributions to the community (90%).

Tables 10-13 display the percentage who supported each action, with the top five supported actions within each subgroup highlighted in green to ease comparisons.

Table 14 presents the key demographic information collected during the survey. The primary motivation for collecting the background and demographic information was to provide a better insight into how the results of the substantive questions of the survey vary by demographic characteristics, and ensure that the resulting sample matched the profile of Truckee's adult population on key characteristics according to the latest Census (ACS) estimates (see Appendix A for more details).

METHODOLOGY

The following sections outline the methodology used in the study, as well as the motivation for using certain techniques.

QUESTIONNAIRE DEVELOPMENT Dr. McLarney of True North Research worked closely with the Town of Truckee to develop a questionnaire that covered the topics of interest and avoided the many possible sources of systematic measurement error, including position-order effects, wording effects, response-category effects, scaling effects, and priming. Several questions included multiple individual items. Because asking items in a set order can lead to a systematic position bias in responses, the items were asked in a random order for each respondent.

Some questions asked in this study were presented only to a subset of respondents. For example, only respondents who indicated they had contact with Town of Truckee staff during the 12 months preceding the interview (Question 7) were asked to common on staff's professionalism, helpfulness, and responsiveness (Question 8). The questionnaire included with this report (see Questionnaire & Toplines on page 35) identifies the skip patterns used during the interview to ensure that each respondent received the appropriate questions.

PROGRAMMING, PRE-TEST & TRANSLATION Prior to fielding the survey, the questionnaire was CATI (Computer Assisted Telephone Interviewing) programmed to assist interviewers when conducting the telephone interviews. The CATI program automatically navigates the skip patterns, randomizes the appropriate question items, and alerts interviewers to certain types of keypunching mistakes should they happen during the interview. The survey was also programmed into a passcode-protected online survey application to allow online participation for sampled residents. The integrity of the questionnaire was pre-tested internally by True North and by dialing into random homes in the Town prior to formally beginning the survey. The final questionnaire was also professionally translated into Spanish to allow for data collection in English and Spanish.

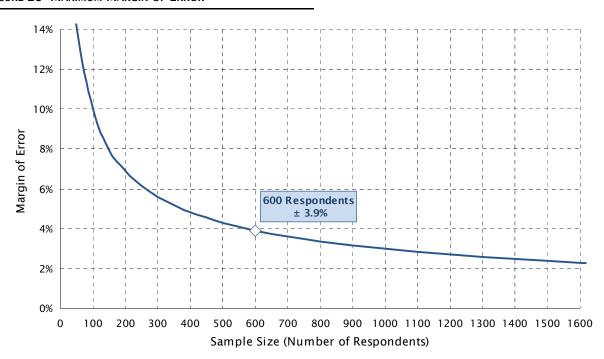

SAMPLE, RECRUITING & DATA COLLECTION A comprehensive database of Truckee households was utilized for this study, ensuring that all households in Truckee had the opportunity to be randomly selected for the survey. Once selected at random, contact information was appended to each record including email addresses and telephone numbers for adult residents. Individuals were subsequently recruited to participate in the survey through multiple recruiting methods. Using a combination of email and text invitations, sampled residents were initially invited to participate in the survey online at a secure, passcode-protected website designed and hosted by True North. Each individual was assigned a unique passcode to ensure that only Truckee residents who received an invitation could access the online survey site, and that the survey could be completed only one time per passcode. An email reminder notice was also sent to encourage participation among those who had yet to take the survey. Following a period of online data collection, True North began placing telephone calls to land lines and cell phone numbers of sampled residents that had yet to participate in the online survey or for whom only telephone contact information was available.

Telephone interviews averaged 18 minutes in length and were conducted during weekday evenings (5:30PM to 9PM) and on weekends (10AM to 5PM). It is standard practice not to call during the day on weekdays because most working adults are unavailable and thus calling during those hours would bias the sample. A total of 600 completed surveys were gathered online and by telephone between April 1 and April 7, 2025.

MARGIN OF ERROR DUE TO SAMPLING The results of the survey can be used to estimate the opinions of all adult residents of the Town. Because not every adult resident in Truckee participated in the survey, however, the results have what is known as a statistical margin of error due to sampling. The margin of error refers to the difference between what was found in the survey of 600 adult residents for a particular question and what would have been found if all of the estimated 13,200 adult residents² had been interviewed.

Figure 25 provides a plot of the maximum margin of error in this study. The maximum margin of error for a dichotomous percentage result occurs when the answers are evenly split such that 50% provide one response and 50% provide the alternative response. For this survey, the maximum margin of error is $\pm 3.9\%$ for questions answered by all 600 respondents.

Within this report, figures and tables show how responses to certain questions varied by demographic characteristics such as length of residence and age of the respondent. Figure 25 is thus useful for understanding how the maximum margin of error for a percentage estimate will grow as the number of individuals asked a question (or in a particular subgroup) shrinks. Because the margin of error grows exponentially as the sample size decreases, the reader should use caution when generalizing and interpreting the results for small subgroups.

DATA PROCESSING & WEIGHTING Data processing consisted of checking the data for errors or inconsistencies, coding and recoding responses, categorizing verbatim responses, and preparing frequency analyses and cross-tabulations. The final data were weighted to balance the sample by age and ethnicity according to Census estimates.

ROUNDING Numbers that end in 0.5 or higher are rounded up to the nearest whole number, whereas numbers that end in 0.4 or lower are rounded down to the nearest whole number. These same rounding rules are also applied, when needed, to arrive at numbers that include a decimal place in constructing figures and tables. Occasionally, these rounding rules lead to small discrepancies in the first decimal place when comparing tables and charts for a given question.
