

RFA Governance Issues and Options

Discussion Guide for April 25, 2022 Committee Meeting

A major task for the Annexation Advisory Committee is to recommend the proposed governance structure for the RFA if the annexation is successful

In the three step process we have presented to the City Councils, the first step was the review of the Statement of Value and Principles. The second step is to share a set (4-6 options) of potential governance approaches consistent with the Values and Principles. The discussion on April 25 is the first discussion on this second step.

The third step is to identify a recommended governance option and then share that with the City Councils. The work plan calls for that to will happen in late June.

Part 1: Some food for thought

From the statement of values and principles:

- Participatory Governance. Jurisdictions which are part of the RFA should have a meaningful voice in the operating decisions of the RFA. The RFA Board should seek to make decisions by consensus whenever possible.
- The RFA Board will be committed to the success of the RFA and will be engaged in actively learning and understanding the work of the agency.
- We will strive to operate nimbly, with the ability to make decisions and respond quickly when necessary.
- We seek to understand and address the unique needs of the communities we serve. We strive to address these needs equitably in all operating and financial decisions.

Calendar Notes

City Council elections, and RFA commissioner elections are held every 2 years, in odd years. In our schedule, the RFA will be created in August 2023.

Part 2: Basic Rules of Governance, revisited:

1. All board members must be elected officials from a member jurisdiction (RCW 52.20.080) or elected directly by the electorate of the RFA.
 - City Council members & Mayor (Tumwater) serve 4-year terms; elections are every 2 years.
 - Permanent appointed/designated positions by Cities would require the selected City elected officials to do double-duty—serve on both City Council and the Board of Commissioners
2. Initial board seats need to be appointed, since there won't be an election between the time the RFA is approved by voters and when it starts to meet.
 - The first election for elected officials after the RFA is created will be the August primary – less than a week after the RFA is created.
 - The next election is in 2025. This would be the first point at which Board members could be directly elected.
3. Board structure may change over time:
 - a. RFA Plans typically allow the governing board to change the governance structure in the future by majority vote of the board. The Plan can expressly limit this authority—supermajority vote requirement for change or require resubmittal to voters in order to change. But the risk is that if you retain too much control of the RFA governance, the member Cities could be held liable for its actions—which is why RFA plan give the RFA Board the right to determine its future composition.
4. There is no legal limit on number of members—but there is a practical limit. Typically, an odd-number of seats is preferred to reduce the likelihood of tie votes.
5. The Board can include non-voting members, appointed to the Board. Any non-voting members need to be elected officials.
6. RFA board members' terms may not exceed 6 years, and election terms must be staggered (RCW 52.26.080(3)(b)).
7. In an RFA with “districted” board positions, the candidates must reside in the district.
 - a. The primary vote is by district (to identify the top two candidates).
 - b. In the general election vote, all voters in the RFA vote on all positions.
8. As noted above, Board members may be a mix of “directly elected” and “appointed.” However, if the board is comprised of a majority of members who are elected, the elected positions are subject to the state constitutional one person, one vote principle.
 - a. “One-person, one vote” principle requires a relatively equal population base to be represented by each elected position.

b. How is an appointed position defined versus an elected position?

- (1) Appointed: Any situation where the Commissioners or Councils must select members from amongst the whole group of elected officials in their jurisdiction is considered an “appointed” position.
- (2) Elected: Any “automatic appointments” from the Cities or District to the RFA Board—e.g., “the Mayor” or “the Council President” or “Commission President”—or “all commissioners” are deemed to be “elected” positions, not appointed positions, because there is no discretion involved in the appointment process.

At the point at which a majority of members are elected, the elected members must be elected on a one-person, one-vote basis.

For example, “three elected officials from Olympia and three elected officials from Tumwater” would involve 6 appointed positions. No one-person, one-vote issue triggered.

Part 3: DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

1. What is important about the RFA Board and its role?
2. How about the initial start-up Board; what's most important in the starting time-period? What are the differences between the board's initial role and the role over time?
3. Over time, what are some of the mutually beneficial (RFA-Cities) efforts you can imagine taking place over time?

a. Can you foresee conflicts? What might they be?

4. Initial start-up board

The Initial board of appointed folks will need to serve about 2.5 years. With everyone doing double duty at the RFA and their City Council.

- a. What do you see as the largest workable initial board size? Why?
- b. Do you have some proposals for how this initial board might be structured? What do you see as the benefits of the proposal(s)?

5. Should the initial board transition to a different configuration? Why or why not?

- a. What are the pros and cons of transitioning from an initial board structure to something with at least some members of the RFA board being directly elected by voters, rather than all appointed by the Cities?

- b. What do you see as the pros and cons of having districted board members versus at-large members? What about having a mix of both?

- c. Do you have some proposals for how the longer-term board might be structured? What do you see as the benefits of the proposal(s)?

Next steps:

Based on initial feedback from the Committee members on the questions above, the Consultant team will develop options for consideration at the next meeting. The goal is to develop several potential options for consideration to share with the City Council's for their input.
