

The board reviewed the Excerpted May 1 letter regarding the Krueger Trust Estate letter and had concerns over the language binding the library/City to indemnification of trustees.

The worry is that this promise could read to bind the library/City to indemnification of the trustees even if, e.g., a different beneficiary or third-party raises a claim against the trustees that is entirely unrelated to the library's distribution, and impose liability on the library/City beyond the value of the distribution it received (particularly with the legal fee reimbursement obligation).

City Attorney Chesebro redrafted the problematic language for board review.
